

Chapter 182

At that moment, no one could see that William's eyes, which were fixed at the lunar eclipse, were sparkling with a trace of viciousness.

"Since you dared to covet after Felicity, then you should be ready to be attacked," William thought.

William was alone in the room when he began to study the Scripture of Tranquility once more.

As soon as he saw the Scripture of Tranquility, his grandfather's voice and smile flashed across his mind.

It had been more than two months.

And he only earned a little more than ten billion yuan.

It was simply impossible for ordinary people to earn ten billion yuan in two months.

As for William, the quantity and time used were far too little for him to reach his end goal!

He had to speed up.

William flipped through the Scripture of Tranquility without the help of acupuncture to strengthen his physique.

He stared blankly at the yellow paper that was attached to the last stack of papers.

Those were a pile of prescriptions.

They were ancient prescriptions to be precise.

They were all relics and information that were rarely seen or had been long forgotten by the world.

He reckoned that he could begin with these ancient prescriptions.

No one noticed it so long as he did it in secret.

William gave it some thoughts and an idea suddenly emerged in his mind.

Half an hour had passed before he got up and made a phone call. "Tigger, could you spare me a man?"

The one whom William had called was Tigger Liu from Qena City!

Tigger had a scar on his face that made him look like a mad tiger!

Tigger was stunned as soon as he received William's phone call. "Shouldn't you approach me through Old Master Li?" Tigger asked curiously.

William replied, smiling, "There is no need for that."

Tigger pondered for a moment and asked, "How many do you need?"

As he explained his need to Tigger, William realized that Tigger was of great capabilities after all.

William would inevitably need the help of such a person if he were to do big things in Qena City in the future.

It was time to have a discussion with Tigger.

William left his room and discovered that it was dark outside. Felicity must've already followed the Bai family to the feast.

At that moment, the Bai family was happily and harmoniously celebrating in the private room of Hilton Hotel.

Among them was Kaleb.

Rebecca's face blushed with redness as she was extremely happy.

One of the Bais had finally noticed something was wrong with Rebecca when she twirled before the crowd.

"Rebecca, where did you get this necklace? It's so beautiful!" a guest exclaimed.

Rebecca immediately picked up the necklace on her neck and waved it in front of the crowd. She proudly exclaimed, "This was a welcome gift that Darren has requested Kaleb to give to me."

The crowd surrounded the exquisite and translucent-looking pendant, their eyes shone brightly. "What is this? It's not really a stone; neither is it a pearl or jade. But it looks so beautiful," the crowd hollered.

"Xena, aren't you quite experienced in identifying pearls and jades? Do you know what it is?" a guest questioned.

Xena who was with Felicity glanced at the necklace, her face gloomy as she answered, "I don't know."

Well, in actual fact, the crowd couldn't be bothered if Xena could've identified it. They all went and asked Rebecca, "Rebecca, what the hell is this?"

Rebecca proudly said, "This is a Fortune Necklace and the pendant is called the Fortune Necklace. This necklace will be sold for more than fifty thousand yuan outside."

Everyone's eyes widened as they drooled at the pendant enviously.

"More than fifty thousand yuan! It was such a valuable and expensive item!" a guest exclaimed.

"Darren is really good to you, just like how a son-in-law should treat his mother-in-law," said another guest.

"Sigh, I wonder when I can only receive such a valuable gift," said another guest.

Rebecca eventually became dizzy as she was drowned in the flattering praises of the crowd.

Nonetheless, she shook her head, overjoyed. "Hahaha, all of you should be envious. Oh right, Kaleb, where's Darren? Hasn't he arrived yet?"

Kaleb responded, "He said he was going to make some preparations and should be here soon."

Rebecca glimpsed at Felicity from the corners of her eyes; of course, she understood what Kaleb meant by preparations.

It was an auspicious day; everything happened as per her plan.

Since that useless guy, William, was not here, she wondered who else could've influenced Felicity in finding her true happiness, Darren.

At this moment, Darren was in the underground parking lot.

He was dressed charmingly as he held a bouquet of flowers in his hand, whistling while he locked the car.

He was in a wonderful mood now.

He fumbled about in his pocket.

In his pocket was a bottle that could completely change a man. It possessed the 'power' to bring infinite pleasure and wonders.

This very evening, he knew his greatest desire was within his grasps.

Suddenly, he noticed the sounds of footsteps approaching him in the darkness while he was walking towards the entrance.

He paused his pace and was about to ask who the incoming men were before the footsteps suddenly sped up towards him.

All of a sudden, several people rushed out and placed a sack over Darren's head without a single word.

Before Darren could even shout, he was struck by countless wooden sticks violently.

He cried out in pain as though he was a pig on the slaughter board!

"Who the f*ck is this?" Darren yelled in pain.

They continued to hit him without saying a single word!

This didn't make sense!

It took them ten minutes to stop before the sack was removed from Darren's head.

Darren's entire body was bruised; he was beaten into a pulp.

He looked at the burly men in front of him and hissed aggressively, "Hey bro, I have never offended you. Why did you hit me? I can give you all the money you want! Please let me go!"

As soon as he finished talking, he immediately handed over his wallet, phone, and other valuable items.

"Do you think I'm here to rob you? I'm not interested in that little wealth of yours," an indifferent voice rang out from the darkness.

A figure slowly emerged from the shadows.

As soon as Darren saw that person, he burst with anger. He stood up and furiously yelled, "It's you! Do you want to die?! How dare you hit me! You must be crazy!"

That person was William.

William looked at Darren and shook his head.

Darren charged at William but was immediately halted by two men, and he was once again harshly beaten.

After another round of beating, Darren sobbed, "Alright, alright, I know I'm wrong. Stop hitting me!"

William walked towards him as Darren added, his eyes filled with anger, "William, what kind of man are you? How dare you plot against me behind my back! If you're a man, come and fight with me one-on-one!"

"A one-on-one fight?" William suddenly guffawed. "I called them over so I didn't get my hands dirty."

Darren immediately looked at these strong men and replied, "You all must've been hired by William! He's a loser and he doesn't have much money! How much money did he use to hire you all? I'll pay double! No! Triple the amount! Help me beat him up this instant!"

The strong men silently looked at each other.

However, Darren never noticed the fear and respect in those brawny men while they were looking at William.

These were the few men who had participated in the previous massacre of the Lin family!

They saw it with their own eyes how William could be as cruel as a devil summoned from hell! Wielding the long saber of death, William slaughtered whoever that was on his way mercilessly!

His strength was strong, and he was decisive in his killing!

The terror that William had brought to these people had far exceeded their boss, Tigger.

And now, someone actually wanted to pay them to deal with William. What a joke!

They snickered.

"Five times! Are five times enough?! I can transfer the money to you right away! I have money in all the banks you want!" Darren begged, firmly believing that money could do anything.

The head of the group suddenly had a burst of maniacal laughter.

"Any bank, is it? Alright then." A cauldron-looking fist was raised.

"Well, the bank that I am registered with cannot be paid with money, but punches!" he exclaimed.

Chapter 183

Darren was badly beaten until his face was covered with bruises. He didn't even have the strength to cry at the very end.

Where did this group of outlaws come from?!

What if they killed him in the process of this beating? Were they really not afraid of the law?!

He couldn't even persuade them with money!

Darren cursed them ferociously within his heart!

It wasn't until he was thrown to the ground that he began to breathe with ease again.

William towered above him, his eyes flashed a hint of unyieldingness. "Don't you dare think about Felicity ever again! Otherwise, the consequences won't be worse than today," William warned with a gruesome tone.

Darren promptly nodded, "Okay! I won't!"

Would William believe him?

He gently lifted his chin.

Another man came and rummaged through Darren's pocket.

He found a colorless and odorless liquid bottle.

As soon as Darren saw it, his face immediately turned pale. "No, no, William, please listen to my explanation. This is just an ordinary potion. I have some sickness; it's the medicine that I take regularly."

William evilly smiled and asked, "Is that so? Feed him some then."

Without hesitation, the brawny man directly poured the bottle of liquid into Darren's mouth.

Darren grappled with the men desperately as if he had gone mad!

A wave of fear suddenly consumed Darren's entire being as he watched William, struggling.

William did not even bat an eye when he made this order!

What was he trying to do?!

As soon as Darren was fed with the medicine, the bottle away was thrown away. The brawny man then placed a Tiger Head Token into Darren's pocket. "If you want to seek revenge, you are welcome to find us."

William's heart was delighted as he witnessed the scene.

Although Tigger seemed to be a person that always acted indifferently, he was actually very wise in his thoughts.

He was obviously trying to build a good relationship with William.

Tigger was indeed smart.

William looked at his watch and closed his eyes. As soon as he opened his eyes once more, Darren was lying on the ground, his bruised face swollen. Even his veins could be clearly seen.

It seemed that he was on the verge of death.

William took out his phone and called Felicity.

Felicity was gloomy ever since she had stepped into this private room. She smiled as soon as she received William's call. "William!"

"Which room are you in?" William asked.

"The Rose Hall," Felicity answered.

"I'm at the entrance of the hotel. Are you hungry?" William asked gently.

"Yes!" Felicity answered without hesitation.

"Come down then. Let's go look for food. By the way, bring Xena along with you," William said.

Felicity instantly grabbed her bag as well as Xena and dashed out of the room, ignoring the opposition from the Bai family.

At that moment, she was determined like never before.

She didn't want to disappoint William.

She didn't want to do so for even a single moment.

William was going to bring her for a meal and she would definitely go.

She wouldn't stop until she had met William.

Xena had a confused look as she asked, "Felicity, what are you doing?"

"Your brother-in-law is treating us to a meal," Felicity said faintly.

Xena immediately spirited and quickly shook off Felicity's grip. "That's great!" Xena exclaimed.

A hint of resentment flashed across Felicity's eyes as she thought, "Is she even my sister?!"

As soon as William hung up, he approached the door of the hotel and gave a command.

"Throw him at the entrance of the Rose Hall."

The group of people nodded in unison and greeted, "Goodbye, Mr. Lu."

Both Felicity and Xena's eyes shone as they saw William patiently standing by the door of the hotel.

William giggled and tapped on Xena's forehead, "You don't have to look so infatuated!"

Without his knowledge, he had offended the two of them just with a simple sentence.

Felicity blushed with anger and jealousy as she mumbled, "You're the one being infatuated here!"

The three of them happily left the hotel.

At that moment, the ruby-red moonlight rumbled across the land through the hazy clouds while the stars in the sky twinkled in the distance, bringing a touch of peace and warmth to the world.

However, nobody could know the storm that was about to unfold behind this seemingly calm evening.

As soon as the Bai family saw that Felicity had run away, they stomped their feet furiously with fury!

Rebecca's mouth was twisted in rage as she cursed at Felicity, "F*ck! That little b*tch! I'm going to teach her a lesson as soon as I get back! She's so stubborn that she doesn't even respect me as a mother!"

"It's all that good-for-nothing's fault, Mom! If we don't teach that useless guy a lesson, the entire Bai family's reputation will be completely ruined by him!" exclaimed Rebecca.

Yasmine's face turned ugly as everyone cursed in unison.

"Everyone, please sit down! I will personally deal with this matter later. Kaleb, can you give Darren a call? I have to apologize to him for the meal tonight. We'll definitely repay your kindness in the future," Yasmine said to Kaleb.

Kaleb nodded and was prepared to make the phone call.

At that moment, a banging sound was heard by the door!

It was as if something had smashed against the door.

Rebecca frowned with displeasure. "What's wrong with this hotel?!"

She walked towards the door as she mumbled towards herself.

As soon as she opened the door, a person leaning on the door fell onto her body.

She instantly let out a cry of alarm. However, she became even more frightened as soon as she saw the man.

The person who fell on her body turned out to be Darren! His face was completely swollen; bruises could be seen on his every bare skin!

At that moment, Darren's streaked eyes were gleaming with a hint of bloodlust as if he was ready to devour a person alive. He looked terrifyingly scary!

"Darren, what's wrong with you?" Rebecca cried out in surprise.

At that moment, Darren was completely delirious and was not in the state of his right mind.

Only a single thought had flashed before his mind.

Woman.

He instinctively threw his arms around Rebecca and smashed his lips to kiss her.

This scene had immediately stunned everyone into a daze!

Rebecca was bitten by Darren. A strong sense of anger welled up in her heart. She immediately slapped Darren in the face and stepped back to get out of his way.

"Hey, don't run! Don't run!" mumbled Darren incoherently. Darren's eyes were sparkling with an unexpected tint of lust and evil as he chased after Rebecca.

All of a sudden, the private room was turned into a great commotion.

Everyone was confused as Darren had always behaved like a gentleman.

At this point, he was such an ill-mannered person who even dared to flirt with Rebecca!

He was completely insane!

Rebecca obviously could not outrun Darren, especially now that Darren was out of his mind. Darren hugged her tightly as he nibbled her.

"Kaleb, save me! Save me!" Rebecca burst into tears as she shouted for help.

The scene had completely frightened everyone.

Kaleb was exceptionally disgusted at the scene as well!

He had chased after Rebecca for a while now!

And now this son of a b*tch actually wanted to take advantage of Rebecca!

How dared he! Darren was Kaleb's son; surely, Darren's actions were intolerable!

Kaleb urgently rushed over and gave Darren a few tight slaps in the face. "Let go of her, you beast!" exclaimed Kaleb.

Kaleb attempted to drag Darren away from Rebecca. However, Darren, at this moment, was filled with an enormous amount of strength. He kicked Kaleb to the ground, making him unable to get on his feet again.

Rebecca's heart was on the verge of collapse as Darren turned around and chased after Rebecca once more.

Darren was worse than a beast!

She hid behind Yasmine, intending to use Yasmine's temperament to stop Darren's harassment.

However, Darren suddenly stared at Yasmine and let out a burst of wild laughter.

"Darren! What do you think you're doing?! Are you crazy?!" Yasmine felt a chill run down her spine as Darren stared at her body intensely. Yasmine wanted to hit Darren with her crutch.

All of a sudden, Darren rushed to Yasmine and threw her to the ground before everyone's eyes.

Chapter 184

Everyone on scene was shocked!

To think that Darren was desperate enough to prey on any woman!

Even an old lady like Yasmine!

Yasmine lay on the ground, wailing desperately in shame and anger!

She had maintained a haughty appearance for decades. Never had she been in such a deplorable position all her life!

This was unforgivable!

The crowd finally came to their senses when they heard her cries. Rushing forward, they frantically held Darren back.

The security guards from the hotel joined in the effort as they tackled the madman Darren had become.

"Take him to the hospital!" Kaleb shouted, seeing the frenzied look in Darren's eyes.

The Bai family heaved a sigh of relief when the duo left.

Deep down, however, they were furious.

Particularly Yasmine and Rebecca who had bite marks all over their skin. Their entire beings were smoldering with fury.

"I won't let Darren off the hook!" Yasmine slammed her fist on the table angrily, her body trembled in rage.

Everyone remained silent, not daring to say a single word.

The impression that Darren gave off to them was that he was a cultured and well-mannered man. However, apparently, appearances could be deceiving, as everyone saw previously.

Steven said in a condescending tone, "Luckily, Felicity and Xena managed to escape from this mess!"

Everyone came to the same revelation as him, as they realized Felicity and Xena had left the private room before the incident.

Otherwise, the two of them would have become the victims instead.

"It's my unlucky day! Rebecca, if you don't give me a reasonable explanation, I won't let it end well for you!" Yasmine glared at Rebecca and strode away.

Rebecca stood rooted to the spot, not knowing whether she should cry or to shout.

She felt hurt and wronged!

After all, she was also a victim.

What the hell was wrong with Darren?!

Rebecca was so depressed as she couldn't comprehend what went wrong.

When Darren woke up in the hospital the following morning, he quivered with fear as he saw the numerous calls he missed on his phone.

They were all from Martin.

He returned the call and heard Martin shouting over the phone, "Are you dead? How dare you not answer my phone?!"

"Mr. Zhang, I'm sorry. I..." Darren tried to explain.

"I don't want to hear it! Come to the office right away! The director had sent me a message last night and arranged to negotiate with Henderson Media at ten this morning. It's your loss if you miss it!" Martin hung up.

Darren was dumbfounded. Ten in the morning?

He looked at the time. It was already nine!

Looking down at his feet, he was instantly swallowed by a vortex of anguish.

He was wrapped in bandages from head to toe and there was an IV going into his vein.

Even the slightest movement sent throes of pain throughout his body!

As he recalled the despicable things William did to him the night before, rage welled within him.

"B*stard, I gave you a job out of sympathy. How can you return my kindness in this way?!"

Fine!

"I'll make it impossible for you to stay in Lunanica!"

At the thought, Darren ripped the IV out despite the pain. Gritting through the pain, he got himself dressed and left the hospital.

Of course, he had long forgotten what he had done in the Rose Hall the previous night.

It was half- past- nine when he reached the company. Thinking that he still had time, he wanted to fire William from the company first.

He headed to the security room, intending to use his position to make demands of the head of security.

However, the head of security said, "Although I can take in new security guards without my superior's approval, dismissing employees would require the approval of the upper management. I dare not break the rules."

In addition, the head of security had no recollection of this man named William at all.

Darren gnashed his teeth in anger after hearing this!

The upper management consisted only of three people, namely the new director, Janet, and Martin.

Only the three of them had the power to sign the dismissal notice.

He promptly took a copy of the expulsion notice and added William's name onto it. Then, he went to look for Martin.

He thought Martin would do him a favor by dismissing William. After all, William was just an insignificant security guard.

Besides, Darren had made great contributions the previous day. He was confident that Martin would help this out.

At this moment, Martin was waiting for orders in William's office.

William glanced at Martin and said, "It's about time now. Let's go."

Martin was stunned and replied, "I have a man who hasn't arrived yet. Should I just inform him to go straight to the office..."

William smirked as he interjected, "Darren?"

Martin's heart skipped a beat as he asked, "How did you know it was him?"

"Let's go without him," William said as he headed outside.

Martin followed closely behind with visible confusion on his face.

He didn't know why William wouldn't let him bring Darren along.

There was only one reason he could think of.

This incapable director was afraid of making a fool of himself in front of his employee, hence he wanted to only have a few staff members to follow him to the meeting.

Hence, he immediately called Darren.

At that moment, Darren was looking for Martin. As soon as he answered the phone, he responded with the utmost respect, "Mr. Zhang, I'm already here. I'm heading to your office now and I have a favor to ask..."

"You don't have to come. The director requested only for me to tag along. We'll talk about it later." Martin hung up right after.

Darren was dumbstruck and at a loss for words!

They were not bringing him along!

But he was the one who made the negotiations a success!

How could they not bring him along?!

Besides, the new director hadn't even seen him before! How could he not bring him along?

"It must be Martin, that son of a b*tch! He must want to take all the credit for himself!"

The more Darren thought about it, the more convinced he was. He was so furious that he could not hold back his rage!

"Fine, you're going to take all the merits that I have worked so hard for, huh?" Darren thought bitterly.

How dared Martin! "I was the one who did all the hard work!"

The fact was that Frank had only agreed to the terms because of Darren!

"Without me, all would have been for naught!"

"God keeps a watchful eye out. Martin, since you're being ruthless, don't blame me for being unkind!" Darren thought.

He made up his mind. He would seek Martin out regardless, and it would be even better if he bumped into the new director on the way.

Even if he had to opt for the most despicable way, he should get back what he deserved!

It was a bonus that would be worth millions of yuan after all!

However, Martin was nowhere to be seen.

Looking outside the first floor window, Darren let out a cry of surprise!

A car was waiting in front of the company, and Martin was sitting in the passenger seat.

There was another passenger in the car with Martin.

Darren gritted his teeth and clenched his fists in rage.

It was actually his enemy!

William Lu!