

Chapter 188

Darren burst out into laughter as Martin signed the notice.

"It's done!" he thought.

The matter had been settled!

He pointed at William as he ferociously said, "Hey brat, did you see that? You've been fired! Let's see what else you have to say now! Mr. Zhang is a wise man and he knows who's useful to the company and who's not! Get lost, you hear me?"

William sneered as he looked at Martin. "Mr. Zhang, is that so?"

Martin's facial muscles twitched as they contorted his features into a tense smile.

Darren continued cockily, "Who asked you to be so arrogant? Being all pompous and haughty! In my eyes, you are just an ant! An ant that thought he could find support from Mr. Zhang! You are being delusional!"

Martin's blood was boiling upon hearing this!

It seemed that Darren really did not know William's identity after all.

Hence, it was understandable that Darren did not tell him that William was present before.

But Darren was still the root to all these problems!

How dared he use such harsh words with William and degrade him to such a lowly position?

Moreover, he had dragged Martin down along with him into this chaos!

"Stop talking!" Martin yelled angrily as he lost control of his temper.

But Darren, who had been beaten up the previous night, had been holding a huge grudge.

Now, all he wanted to do was vent his anger. How could he pass this chance up?

"Mr. Zhang, he's just a security guard, what are you afraid of? I know you must have been tricked by him since you didn't bring me here this morning. It doesn't matter. I know you can sometimes be quite kind-hearted," Darren quickly buttered up Martin.

"Mr. Zhang, as long as we remove this cancerous personnel, I will serve you well in the future. By the way, Mr. Zhang, how were the negotiations earlier? Didn't you say that you have a plan to subjugate our useless director? I can't wait to see our director beg for your mercy..."

A loud and clear slap once again resounded in the open.

Martin's anger gushed forth!

Darren did not know how to read the situation at all!

How dared he expose Martin's plans right in front of William!

"He will be the death of me!" Martin thought furiously.

He slapped Darren again, causing the latter's gums to bleed.

Darren clutched at his face, dumbfounded.

He had no idea what he did wrong.

This slap had roused Martin's anger beyond the point of no return.

Both his eyes were colored with a layer of hatred.

This was all that b*stard, Darren's fault!

He made Martin incur a loss of five million yuan.

He even spilled the beans in front of William shamelessly!

"I have tolerated you for long enough! Why do you always have to drag me down with you?! Get lost! Get out of here! I don't want to see you in the company any more!" Martin roared hysterically.

Darren was shocked.

What did Martin mean by that?

Was he trying to leave Darren in the lurch?

Darren continued foolishly, "Mr. Zhang, what do you mean? It's he who should get lost! I am your loyal aide. Why are you doing this to me? Besides, didn't you just sign the dismissal notice just now?" Martin snatched the notice from Darren's hand, shoved it in his face, and scolded angrily, "Open your d*mn eyes and see who is fired!"

Darren picked up the notice and looked at it. Suddenly, he felt lightheaded.

On the note, William's name had been crossed out.

In its place was the name, Darren Liu!

That meant, when Martin signed the notice earlier, Darren was the one who was being fired.

Darren was dumbfounded at the sudden turn of events.

"Don't you dare show your face before me again! Go!" Martin kicked Darren again angrily.

Darren came to his senses and cried out hoarsely, "Mr. Zhang, why did you fire me? Did he say something to you? Can't you see he's an ingrate?"

Martin no longer felt like talking to Darren; he punched Darren hard in the face, making the latter stumble and fall onto the ground.

"Fine! Mr. Zhang, you win this time! I will remember this forever! I won't show any mercy and respect to you too now that things have turned this way. This deal was only made possible because of me! The position and rewards you promised me are worth millions! As long as you reimburse me accordingly, I will resign on the spot!" Darren said, planning to cut all ties with Martin.

However, Darren's mere mention of money reminded Martin that he had just lost five million yuan.

Martin shuddered in anger. Grabbing a broom nearby, he proceeded to whack Darren on the head with it. "What f*cking money! How dare you to ask me for money!"

William shook his head. Human nature was evil, and he had seen too much of it.

He had watched enough of this boring farce.

He turned around and walked outside.

He saw a text message on his phone.

Frank told William that Martin had spent five million yuan to buy him over.

Frank did not dare to accept the bribe and had transferred the money directly to William's bank account.

As Darren watched William walk away, he summoned up all his strength to run after William as he scolded indignantly, "Stop! What on earth did you do to confuse Mr. Zhang? Come clean with me!"

William turned around and looked at Darren, whose eyes were clouded in fury.

Seeing William's cold and composed demeanor, Darren instinctively shrank back.

William sneered and replied, "You want to know the truth? Fine, I'll tell you a secret."

William moved closer and whispered in Darren's ear, "I am the director of Lunanica Media."

After that, he patted Darren on the shoulder and slowly strode away.

William's words hit Darren like a shockwave as his vision started tunneling.

The director of Lunanica Media?!

How could William be the president of Lunanica Media!

This must be a prank!

How could such a pathetic person be the director of Lunanica Media?

How preposterous!

"If he was the director, then I must be president of the country!" he thought.

Darren was about to fill the air with profanities, but Martin caught up with him and gave him another swift kick in the shin.

Martin followed behind William with reverence and carefully explained, "Director Lu, don't take that boy's words to heart. I am your subordinate. How would I dare to fool around with you?"

William smiled a little. "Of course, I believe in you."
His words put Martin at ease.

It was so close!

Martin had managed to escape unscathed.

The duo walked away, paying no heed to Darren on the ground behind them.

Darren's eyes were red with contempt for William, his hatred for Lunanica Media grew like a tumor inside him!

Since they dared to abandon him, he swore to destroy their business!

He would definitely make William pay!

He took out his phone and made a call. "Ben, didn't you have a few friends who were in the underworld? Call them out for me. There is a business that I need their help with."

Chapter 189

As he finished the call, his mind started racing again.

"F*ck, I was fired for no reason. I need to take that b*stard's wife down quickly before people hear of my dismissal!"

"The Bai family still owed me a favor, didn't they?" Darren chuckled.

"William, William, I will carry out my revenge on your wife!"

Darren stared at William's back and hissed, "Don't think you can relax now that you have Martin's support!"

He swore to make William cower in fear before him!

Since he had nothing to lose, he would make William have a taste of his own medicine!

William, who was on the road, suddenly received a call from Felicity.

Felicity was choking with sobs over the phone as she cried, "William, my mother has been vomiting since earlier, and now she's even fainted after spewing blood. What should I do?"

William furrowed his brows and sighed.

The inevitable had come to pass.

William comforted Felicity, "Don't cry, wait for me. I'm on my way back."

He put away his phone and resumed his journey, double time.

At the present moment, in the Bai family's house.

Rebecca's face was a horrendous sight.

There were many people by her side.

Kaleb shook Rebecca anxiously as he said, "Rebecca, wake up. This isn't funny."

The Bai family members were like cats on hot bricks.

Yasmine was puzzled. "She was fine before. Why did she spit blood and faint all of a sudden? Was she sick before?"

Felicity shook her head, her eyes red as she said, "Mom had always been in good health. I never heard of any sickness from her."

"She must have eaten something wrong," Steven said in a hushed tone.

Felicity was extremely anxious as she pondered why William had not arrived yet.

Although Rebecca was mean, she was still Felicity's mother.

Felicity couldn't bear to see Rebecca die like this.

She realized that every time something happened, she would always pin her hopes on William.

Kaleb suddenly asked, "Isn't Henry He the divine doctor of the Genuine Care Medical Center? Can't we send Rebecca to him? Word has it that he has exceptionally good medical skills!"

Felicity was stunned. "The Genuine Care Medical Center?"

The Bai family were also dumbfounded.

They had been harboring hatred in their hearts towards the Genuine Care Medical Center although they had never mentioned it out loud.

And now, the mere thought of going to the Genuine Care Medical Center...

"We can just take her to the hospital, can't we?" Yasmine frowned.

But Kaleb replied, "You saw what happened with Rebecca, didn't you? She was initially healthy but was suddenly ravaged by some strange disease. What can the doctors in the hospital even do? Her treatment would only be needlessly delayed. What if something were to happen to her during then? Besides, Divine Doctor He is famous in Qena City, and his patients come from all over the country. There's no reason for us to doubt his medical skills!"

Everyone shifted on their seats uncomfortably.

Ever since the Heption Herb incident at Genuine Care Medical Center, Henry's reputation had soared. He had become the top doctor in Qena

City.

Yasmine continued frowning and stated, "But as you said, there are countless people who seek him out for his help. How do you know that he will agree with our request?"

Kaleb's face stiffened.

Steve sneered, "Even if we got Henry to treat her, the treatment fee would come up to millions. I've heard that a rich man recently paid two million yuan for Henry's treatment."

Everyone's faces paled at the statement.

"Two million! They must be crazy! That's daylight robbery!" someone exclaimed.

"I think we'd better take her to the hospital. At least it's cheaper," said another.

"This is obviously a setup. We won't fall for their ploy!"

"Enough!" Felicity suddenly raised her voice.

She looked around with teary eyes. "It's not a matter of money anymore! As long as I can save my mother, I'm willing to pay any price! Mr. Liu, thank you for your help."

The crowd went silent, but their eyes were obviously sparkling with anger.

Steven whispered to Yasmine, "She will definitely take from the company money. Isn't it inappropriate for the director to use her power for personal reasons?"

Yasmine turned to Felicity with an enigmatic gaze but remained silent.

Felicity suppressed her anger. She pondered for a moment and gave William a call.

When everyone heard her call William, they burst into laughter. "What's the use of calling that piece of trash? He's just a watchdog of the Genuine Care Medical Center. Do you expect him to bring Divine Doctor He?"

"Felicity, what's wrong?" William was still on the way.

"William..." When Felicity heard William's voice, she felt an all-encompassing warmth.

She told William about the idea of asking for Henry's help, "William, didn't you work at the Genuine Care Medical Center previously? Is there any way..."

"Send her to the Genuine Care Medical Center first. I'll be there right away," William said.

Felicity nodded in relief.

"William said that we should send my mother to the Genuine Care Medical Center right away," she stated after hanging up the phone.

The crowd immediately burst into an uproar. "The Genuine Care Medical Center hasn't even agreed to treat her yet. Besides, how would we know how much it cost?!"

"I won't go. I swear I won't step foot in the Genuine Care Medical Center for the rest of my life. You can go by yourself!" A member of the Bai family hissed.

Everyone echoed their agreement in unison.

Felicity knew that deep down, they were all wary of the cost that might come with the treatment.

Felicity had long known that she could not count on this group of people. Finally, with the help of Kaleb, they sent Rebecca to the Genuine Care Medical Center.

In the Genuine Care Medical Center, Felicity saw a beautiful figure in the hall.

She was dumbfounded.

It was Melissa!

Melissa was in charge of the general affairs of the Genuine Care Medical Center. As long as she agreed to it, Henry would definitely perform the treatment.

However, Felicity felt a little uncomfortable making this request.

She did not know Melissa enough to ask for any favors.

Moreover, when she looked at Melissa, she always took Melissa as a vixen who was trying to lure William.

Her heart ached the moment she saw Melissa. However, she still mustered the courage to call out to Melissa.

Melissa looked at Felicity with joy in her eyes.

Although Felicity thought that their relationship was not good, the same couldn't be said for Melissa.

Melissa thought that they were on good terms.

Back in their group, the Avengers, they were so close and fought for the same goal. Melissa always considered them as Felicity one of them.

"Director Wang, my mother is ill, and her symptoms are very serious. Can you please ask Divine Doctor He to treat her..." Felicity pleaded with Melissa.

Melissa was stupefied, her look became serious at once. "Send your mother into the ward. I'll have it arranged right away."

"Thank you! I really can't thank you enough. I'm just wondering, will it be Divine Doctor He examining her..." Felicity's face flushed red in embarrassment. She knew she was pushing her luck.

Melissa, however, revealed a strange smile. "How can Henry be qualified to treat your mother? I'd get you an even more powerful divine doctor! It will be the b*stard doctor!"
