

Chapter 76

After that, William headed into his office.

Everyone was waiting in the hall. Even after the sun had set, they did not get a chance to meet the person-in-charge of the Genuine Medical Care Center.

Steven's fury finally sprang to life. "D*mn it! The Genuine Care Medical Center has gone too far! I suggest that we go back and report to our respective companies immediately about what's happening here! We come here with much sincerity yet they treat us like fools! I've never seen someone as arrogant as them! I won't hold it in anymore! We shall see how the news would reproach them tomorrow!"

After saying that, Steven left the clinic. He was the first one who went away. The other people exchanged glances and followed him.

All of them were businessmen, hence they were well aware of this type of trick. They were playing hard to get so they could pressure the owner of the clinic.

It was clear that the Genuine Care Medical Center had gained a lot of popularity recently. Thus, they dared to make enemies with everyone in the city.

It was time to teach them a lesson.

There was one special thing about Xena.

Once she had made up her mind to do something, she would always give her best.

Her instinct told her that she should persevere just a little longer. After all, the employees of the Genuine Care Medical Center had not finished their work too.

However, Steven gave her a sneer and snorted, "Why aren't you leaving? Don't you think it's shameful to stay here?"

Xena did not entertain him.

Again, Steven mocked, "These people are treating you like a dog! And, are you going to play along with it and act like one? You've disgraced the Bai family! Stay here by yourself then! I am leaving!"

Then, Steven strode away.

Xena couldn't help but feel bitter when she saw everyone left.

Her feet hurt so much that she couldn't help but pinch her heels secretly.

At this time, the clinic staff member came to the hall and was surprised to see Xena.

Xena's eyes crinkled into a genuine smile again instantly. "Hello, I'm Xena Bai from the Bai Group in Qena City..."

Before she finished her words, the staff member's

The fear in her heart subsided a little.

She shuffled into the room soundlessly then greeted the man respectfully, "Good day. I am Xena Bai from the Bai Group..."

The man on the chair turned around slowly.

Xena's expression changed in an instant when she saw who the man was!

The man who was on the chair and who wore a white shirt...

He was William!

The man sitting on the office chair was William!

For a moment, all the blood in Xena's body concentrated in her brain.

A buzzing sound rang out in her head!

William was the owner of the Genuine Care Medical Center?

No, that did not make sense. Didn't William mention that he was just a puppet of the actual owner of the Genuine Care Medical Center? The owner was another person!

Was William still the owner's puppet at this moment?

"Xena, what are you thinking about? You look as if you have lost a million yuan," William rose from his seat and asked with a gentle smile.

Xena shivered while staring at William in disbelief.

If he really took a fancy to her... he even asked her to go to his office...

Then he might make some unreasonable requests and demands...

Should she sacrifice herself for the sake of the interests of the Bai family?

"Miss Bai, you may go in alone." The staff member interrupted Xena's thoughts.

Xena looked at the door in front of her and mustered up her courage.

There was no reason for her to retreat when she had already arrived at the door. She had come so far.

If the boss was going to do anything inappropriate with her, she would not have to be afraid of him as she knew some basic martial arts.

At the thought of this, she took a tiny iron plate not far away from the ground and hid it into her bag after the staff member left.

She pushed the door open with trepidation, her other hand inside the bag. She had been staying vigilant.

In the room, a man in a plain white t-shirt was sitting in an office chair.

He was facing her with his back.

Xena had a weird liking when it came to men donning in white shirt.

eyes lit up. "Are you Xena? Our boss would like to invite you to his office."

A bomb went off in Xena's head!

She could not believe what she had just heard!

The boss of the Genuine Care Medical Center was inviting her to his office!

Everyone had been waiting for him throughout the day.

How lucky was she to be noticed by the owner of the Genuine Care Medical Center!

She could not believe that she was invited to his office!

For a moment, she couldn't think of anything else thus she just followed the staff member into the elevator.

She only came to her senses when the staff member led her to the office door on the top floor.

All of this was too surreal.

It was too unreal.

All of a sudden, she was consumed by fear.

Rumor has it that the boss of the Genuine Care Medical Center was a young man.

Had he fallen in love with her?

Otherwise, given the current status of the Bai family in Qena City, the Genuine Care Medical Center would never ever entertain them.

She stammered, "William, yo-yo-you are you the boss of the Genuine Care Medical Center?"

She was terrified.

Regardless of William's answer, she felt as if she was treading on thin ice.

William stared at the trembling Xena and chuckled all of a sudden. He walked over to her and tousled her hair before he mumbled dotingly, "When I asked you to come in with me just now, you turned me down and chose to wait outside for such a long time. Now that you're here, why do you look like you're a soldier who's going to fight a war? Oh, you even bring along a weapon. Are you trying to defend yourself against your brother-in-law with that?"

Xena felt as though her head had blown up. Her face turned red instantly!

William invited her to his office to take a rest a while ago, but no one would ever think that William was the boss of the Genuine Care Medical Center!

As for the weapon in her bag...

Xena took out the iron plate and tossed it aside. "William, you're really the owner!"

William nodded. "Sorry, I have my own reason to keep this as a secret."

The flush on Xena's face became more evident upon hearing William's sincere explanation.

However, the blush on her face at this moment came from her admiration for William. It was as if she was a beauty who first met the hero who saved her.

William...

She had yet to get rid of her memory about his monstrous side when he murdered the people.

At this moment, he had taken off his blood-stained coat and put on another identity. He was no longer the murderer she knew.

He had left his warrior armor and transformed to a noble gentleman.

Any woman would go crazy for a man with dual identities like him.

Besides, Xena had always had a good impression of William.

Astonished, she felt she had developed a feeling for William. It was something that could be described with words.

Every man should take William as a role model. They should strive to be bright and athletic at the same time.

At this moment, Xena knew that there must be a lot more secrets William had hidden.

The difference between these two identities was too great.

However, he did these for her own good...

She did not care if he did this because he was trying to look after her as his sister-in-law or because he was being gentle to all women in the world...

Looking at Xena's blushing face, William was a little speechless for a moment.

Xena's scorching gaze seemed to have exposed her thoughts. William could help but wonder what she was thinking about.

He was her brother-in-law!

William patted Xena's head. "Xena, don't forget the purpose of your visit. You come here today because you want to sign the contract with the Genuine Care Medical Center."

Xena couldn't help but quiver. Suddenly, she felt ashamed to look at William.

If William was not the boss, Xena would start bragging about their company, just like any successful businesswoman would do.

But at the moment, the potential business partner she was dealing facing with was William.

Let's put aside the fact that William knew the Bai family.

What the Bai family had done to William over the years made Xena feel too embarrassed to get this contract.

"William, I'm sorry..." Xena's eyes turned moist. She didn't dare to look up.

William ruffled Xena's hair and replied gently, "It's alright. I'll give it to you. Go back and tell the Bai family that we'll officially sign the contract in seven days. However, both Felicity and you will share each half of the contribution to getting this contract signed together. You'll decide how you're going to break the news to them."
