

Chapter 99

When William relayed his thoughts, Tyler immediately agreed, "Don't worry, Brother Lu. It's a piece of cake! It's my greatest honor to have you coming to our Resort! Don't worry, I'll sort everything out! By the way, I've done the formalities for the name change of your company. The car that Baxter sent you has also been fixed. Do I have the pleasure to send you to the resort and host you in person the day after tomorrow?"

William simply said, "Sure."

"Brother Lu, I'll book a room for you right now! Since you're of noble status, I will arrange the best room for you!" Tyler added.

William smiled after hearing that. Of course, he knew what Tyler was thinking. William then said casually, "Don't worry, I will reserve some goods for you if your performance is great. You will soon be in charge of all your family business. As for Flavia, I will need her to do something else."

Tyler was very excited to hear this promise.

That was exactly what he had been waiting for!

William was a person of importance to Tyler's grandfather, Hugo Li. Hence, Tyler was most fearful of William speaking ill of him in front of his grandfather.

Now, William had promised that Tyler would inherit the entire family business. Tyler was overjoyed!

He couldn't wait to serve William and Felicity well!

William went back to his room and informed Felicity that everything had been properly arranged.

Felicity looked at William with surprise and joy all over her face.

She wanted to ask William to sleep on the bed but she was still thinking about how to phrase her sentence. Suddenly, William turned off the lights and lay on the floor. "Go to sleep. Good night," he said.

Felicity rolled her eyes.

The next day, Felicity signed up for the event in the alumni group chat, which caused a huge commotion within the group.

The fact that their campus belle, Felicity, was attending the school celebration made everyone greatly interested.

In the afternoon, she received a call from her classmate, Rachel Chen, inviting her to car-pool for the trip.

Since William's car was still under repair, Felicity agreed to Rachel's suggestion.

However, when the car arrived, Felicity frowned.

The driver was Nathan Zhao, her ex-class monitor. Nathan was one of the craziest admirers of Felicity back in those days. Therefore, she was a little embarrassed to see him.

Nathan came in a white Land Rover. He opened the window, and recognized Felicity at a glance.

When he saw Felicity, he swallowed hard.

She was so attractive.

Felicity already had an alluring figure back in high school.

Now, a few years had passed, and Felicity had only gotten more alluring. She had a type of lingering charm around her.

He hurriedly greeted her, "Hello Felicity! Hop in and we'll go together."

Felicity carefully cast a glance at William, who was just standing next to her. She felt like refusing the offer.

However, Rachel, who was sitting in the passenger's seat, got out of the car and pulled Felicity in enthusiastically.

In the end, Felicity had no choice but to ask William to get in the car together.

After Felicity got in the car, Nathan's mood became even better.

In the past two years, Nathan had taken over his family's pharmaceutical company and acquired a secondary agent dealership from the Genuine Care Medical Center a few days before the gathering.

Nathan thought it was so coincidental that he was arranged to sign the contract at the same venue.

He had been looking forward to show off his glory in front of his ex-classmates.

He stole a glance at Felicity, who was full of charm. His heart quietly skipped a beat.

He knew that some huge setbacks had taken place in the Bai family not long ago.

And Felicity's husband was known for being a coward, hiding away when the Bai family was besieged.

"How could such a coward deserve to be Felicity's husband?"

"Felicity must have felt so lonely during this period!" Nathan pondered.

Nathan felt that he had found an opportunity to win her over.

He deliberately asked in the car, "Felicity, why didn't you drive?"

She replied casually, "Our car broke down, it's still being repaired."

Nathan was delighted. "Being repaired?", he thought.

It was such a pity that this lovely beauty was forced to lie about her situation.

The Bai family must have sold all of their valuables, that's why!

Nathan felt smug, and started thinking, "It's my turn to win Felicity over."

Rachel praised him enviously, "Nathan, your car must cost hundreds of thousands. I'm so happy to be in your car today."

One of Rachel's biggest problems was that she loved luxury cars.

If she had the choice, she would prefer living a miserable but luxurious life rather than an impoverished but happy life.

Rachel couldn't stop touching around and feeling envious. However, she knew Nathan fancied Felicity. The reason she was in the car was that Nathan wanted her to be his wingman.

Nathan ignored Rachel and continued speaking to Felicity, "Felicity, I heard something bad had happened to your family these days. You must stay strong. Today, I'm signing a secondary agent contract with the Genuine Care Medical Center at the resort. I'll try to ask them to help you."

Felicity was stunned.

In fact, all the problems were resolved some time ago.

The news probably had not spread yet. Nathan thought that the Bai family was still struggling.

William, on the other hand, couldn't help chuckling.

"What an idiot!" William scorned.

If William's and Felicity's identities were disclosed, one being the owner of Genuine Care Medical Centre, the other being the exclusive distributor, Tyler would be so shocked to death. Would he even accidentally drive the car into a ditch?!

"You want to date my wife? Huh..." William sneered.

Felicity gently pinched William. She knew William was jealous.

"I'm alright. Thank you!" Felicity replied casually.

But Nathan thought that Felicity was only pretending.

He continued, "By the way, I proposed to hold the celebration at the Peaplum Resort. My uncle is the deputy general manager there, so it was easier to make arrangements."

Rachel exclaimed in surprise, "No way! I can't believe it's you! You also arranged the venue for the contract signing with Genuine Care Medical Center, didn't you?"

Nathan was stunned and flashed a cheeky smile.

Rachel immediately said with admiration, "Nathan, you're living a good life now. I'm so envious of you..."

Meanwhile, Felicity, who was sitting at the back, was stunned. It was obviously William who had arranged it.

She was already tired of Nathan's behaviour.

When they arrived at the Peaplum Resort, William suddenly heard a burst of envious exclamations coming from all around.

"Wow! What a luxury car! Is that Nathan?"

"Oh my! He's getting so handsome!"

William looked over and saw a group of people pointing at them at the door.

When Felicity got out of the car, the screams grew even louder.

"Wow, isn't that Felicity?"

"She's been in the limelight for some time. She even sang with Flavia Li. I'm so jealous of her."

"Huh, why are you jealous? Her company is about to go bankrupt, she might even get locked up in prison."

"Wait, why did she come in Nathan's car? Is she and Nathan..."

Just then, under everyone's gaze, a man got out of the car, and held Felicity's hand.
