

Chapter 216

When Laura heard this, her mind exploded in red fury!

Well, she did not care about the fact that these petty actors had just had their contracts renewed at a high penalty.

Instead, she was infuriated as these people were arrogant, domineering, and not professional.

William was simply a b*stard!

With tears in her eyes, she suddenly wanted to leave this dire place.

However, she had only taken two steps before her head started to buzz.

She heard a voice.

That voice echoed at the depth of her brain.

"You can have the lead role, but you have to promise me to endure every hardship and circumstance you will face later on."

William told her this days ago.

Laura could not help but shiver.

She wondered, "Could it be that when William said this to me, he had already anticipated such a situation?"

Was this William's plan all along?

His plan was to humiliate her!

For a moment, her body trembled.

D*mn it!

What a wicked, despicable scamp!

How could there be such a terrible person in the world?!

It took her ten minutes to calm herself down.

Finally, her mouth spread into a wry smile.

Son of a b*tch!

If his plan was to see her suffer...

Then she would not let him have his way!

She was going to persevere and hold on!

William was brazen while these actors he found were hubristic and full of themselves!

So what?

Their unprofessionalism would not affect her.

Laura relied on the grit she developed over the years and forced herself to return to the set.

This time, she chose to ignore how unprofessional the other actresses were.

She was completely immersed in her role.

"Just be yourself! Just be yourself!"

She kept reminding herself.

In this movie, Laura was a doctor in her early years.

Mysteriously, she was strayed into an ancient, hidden medical paradise before she decided to live there.

She learned medicine from the local villagers. Before she left, she obtained ten ancient prescriptions from ten famous doctors in that place.

She began to delve into these ten world's rarest prescriptions carefully. Finally, she became one of the best female doctors.

Laura was absorbed in her role. She started this 20-day battle, going head-on with everyone and everything around her.

On the other hand, William had been idle these days; he stayed at home with Felicity most of the time.

It seemed her company had encountered some problems recently.

When William asked Felicity, she clenched her teeth mutely.

She wanted to solve these problems on her own.

William let out a silent sigh.

After all, this was the only way for Felicity to grow.

He could not help her all the time.

The same day, Kaleb came to Felicity's house early in the morning before he went out with Rebecca in a rush.

Kaleb finally secured an appointment with that distinguished guest. He was about to head to this honorable guest's office and have a business meeting with him.

To please Rebecca, Kaleb had completely cut all ties with his son, Darren, and devoted himself to his work.

He started a small-scale credit company with a partner. Since he had a small shareholding, he was only the deputy general manager of the company.

Despite its name, to put it bluntly, the credit company Darren was never doing a charity.

The nature of his company was in the grey, drifting between legal and illegal.

Therefore, often he had customers who did not pay back the money they borrowed or had no money to pay their debts on time.

This caused Kaleb a headache.

They had been cooperating with a security company before. However, the reputation of that company was getting worse lately. Hence, Kaleb wanted to change to a different company.

Some time ago, he caught up with a mafia who came to Qena City through his friend's recommendation. This mafia was eager to expand its business in Qena City.

Hence, he brought Rebecca to meet this mafia.

They came to the entrance of a security company called Peace Security. Then, one of their staff members guided them to an office.

Kaleb finally met the mafia.

If William were there, he would definitely recognize that the mafia Kaleb had regarded as, turned out to be Klutz.

Klutz was sitting on the leather sofa with a cigarette in his mouth.

Kaleb nodded hurriedly and bowed before Klutz, greeting, "Nice meeting you, Mr. Klutz. I'm Kaleb, who contacted you yesterday. I'm from the credit company."

Unspeaking, Klutz glanced at Kaleb contemptuously. He pointed the sofa opposite of him with his chin, motioning them to take a seat.

Klutz looked down on small credit companies like Kaleb's.

Due to the nature of the business, credit companies often needed help from people of the underworld to collect debts for them. This was also the reason why Kaleb was seeking cooperation with Klutz.

Tigger trusted Klutz enough to assign him to become the deputy general manager of a security company. This made Klutz so grateful to Tigger; he vowed to obtain some achievements as soon as possible to repay Tigger's kindness.

Otherwise, he would not have cooperated with Kaleb.

Frankly, the scale of Kaleb's company would not be able to attract the slightest interest from Klutz.

Meanwhile, Rebecca was staring at the muscular Klutz, who was puffing his cigarette. Instinctively, she shrank behind Kaleb with slight fear.

Kaleb patted her on the shoulder, indicating that she was in safe hands and she could count on him.

"Mr. Klutz, have you given some thoughts about what we discussed yesterday?" Kaleb asked respectfully.

Klutz got up to boil some water, and replied casually, "We'll talk about commission first. My company will draw 30% of the collected amount as our commission."

Kaleb had a ghastly expression. He responded, "30%? This is a bit too much..."

If he were going to ask for Klutz's security company help to collect debts, he would have to pay 30% of the collected amount to Klutz. Geez, that was a lot of money!

Klutz snorted. "Too much? Why don't you go out to inquire whom I, Klutz, work for? Who owns this company? No one will dare not to pay back once we take action!"

Tongue-tied, Kaleb shrank his neck.

Klutz was telling the truth.

Everyone knew who the boss of this company was.

Who would dare to offend such a big mafia in Qena City?

"I'll give you three minutes to think about it," Klutz said. He seemed to have Kaleb by the his hair.

Kaleb felt pressured and discussed with Rebecca softly.

Just in a while, the three minutes Klutz gave were about to run out.

Klutz's kettle was boiling. He opened the drawer and wanted to make some tea. Right then, he realized he was out of teabags.

He searched high and low for it.

Kaleb was a shrewd man. How could he not know what Klutz was looking for?

He tittered immediately as he took a few packets of tea out from the bag and handed it to Klutz respectfully. "Mr. Klutz, I have it here. It's just some ordinary teabags."

Klutz did not intend to respond to Kaleb at first. Yet, after a glance at the teabags, he was stupefied.

Sakura Tea!

They were actually Sakura Tea!

Previously, he had to pull strings and used 300,000 yuan to bring a catty of Sakura Tea from abroad.

It was this catty of Sakura Tea that won him Tigger's favor.

No, he used this to win William's favor!

He always remembered William told him that the Sakura Tea was amazing when William patted on his shoulder before leaving.

This sentence not only saved Klutz but was also an affirmation!

Without these words, Klutz would not have been appointed as the deputy general manager of this security company.

He was indebted to the Sakura Tea and William!

At this moment, it was simply a surreal experience to see the Sakura Tea again!

Klutz could not help asking, "Where did you get this teabag?"

Chapter 217

Kaleb's face fell as he thought that Klutz was dissatisfied with the tea. He reached out and pocketed the teabags at once as he apologized hurriedly, "I'm sorry, Mr. Klutz. I should have known that you will not take fancy to my ordinary teabags. It's all my fault for being insensible."

However, Klutz held Kaleb's hand.

He stared at Kaleb and asked, "I'm asking you, where did you get the tea?"

Kaleb was stunned for a moment. He did not understand what Klutz meant.

Rebecca immediately helped Kaleb and answered, "We brought it from home. We have a lot of it so we brought some here."

"A lot?" Klutz was shocked.

He wondered, "Is it that easy to get the Sakura Tea?"

He went through so much to get a catty. How could they have a lot of it at home?

What was up their sleeves?

Thinking of this, Klutz replied calmly, "You may not know that I am a tea lover. I wonder if you can help me buy another catty of this tea. Needless to say, us working together would be easier from then on."

After Kaleb heard this, he was excited.

It meant that he could very likely secure a deal with Klutz!

Just buy Klutz a catty of tea and that'd do the trick, huh?

Hahaha, Kaleb would buy ten for Klutz if that was what it took, let alone a catty!

Kaleb responded immediately, "Don't mention it. I appreciate your kindness, Mr. Klutz. I will send you a catty in two days as a gift to you!"

Klutz frowned. "Give it to me? Are you willing to do so?"

One catty was worth more than 300,000 yuan. Besides, it was not available on the market. There was no store in Qena City to buy it even though he had the money.

But how could Kaleb, a person who basically did not drink tea, know the preciousness of the Sakura Tea?

He had spent a thousand yuan and bought 30 packets from William. He thought that they were just ordinary tea.

Hence, without hesitation, he answered immediately, "Yes, it will be a gift to you. From me."

Klutz laughed. "Very well! Kaleb, right? I, Klutz, am also a man of loyalty. I'll cooperate with you by just taking 20% of the commission. Is that a deal?"

Kaleb's eyes were about to drop out of their sockets.

In fact, Kaleb had expected Klutz's company would take 25% of commission.

Now Klutz had actually reduced it from 30% to 20%!

Hahaha!

What a deal!

He did not expect that just a few teabags could get him such a deal. It was all thanks to this ordinary tea.

"Thank you, Mr. Klutz! Thank you, Mr. Klutz!" Kaleb bent over and bowed. Then, he took out the drafted documents rapidly and filled in 20% of the commission before he handed it to Klutz.

Klutz signed it straight away without looking at it and threw it back to Kaleb.

After all, Klutz's company had a great reputation. If Kaleb dared to play any tricks, Klutz could kill Kaleb with just a finger.

Kaleb felt that everything was a dream.

He could not hold back his excitement. He kissed Rebecca's face and spoke excitedly, "Rebecca, you are simply my lucky star! We are earning big bucks."

Rebecca's cheeks were slightly red as she glared at Kaleb embarrassedly.

Right then, Klutz said, "That tea..."

"I'll bring it to you in the next two days," Kaleb replied hurriedly.

"Oh, it's fine. I have another idea. I'll go to your house to pick it up in two days." Klutz patted Kaleb on the shoulder and continued, "Treat it as me paying you a visit."

Kaleb was flattered. He nodded hurriedly and agreed to it.

Klutz was satisfied and nodded. "Okay, but I have to warn you. If you can't give me the tea by the time I reach your house, I will show no mercy and turn against you."

Kaleb thought it was just a joke thus he promised firmly, "This will never happen, I swear! I promise you! I can guarantee with total confidence, and even my head! Haha."

Kaleb replied to Klutz with a joke.

However, Klutz did not take it as a joke. He nodded again and saw Kaleb off.

After sending Kaleb off, Klutz took his phone. After much hesitation, he finally gathered the courage to call William.

He got William's number from Leon, but he did not dare to call to thank William.

Now, he finally found the right opportunity.

"Hello, is this Mr. Lu?" Klutz asked cautiously.

"Who is this?" A familiar voice rang out from the other end of the phone.

Klutz was overjoyed and responded, "Hello, Mr. Lu. I am Klutz, Brother Tigger's henchman. We just met two days ago."

William was dumbstruck for a few seconds when he heard Klutz's call, but he indeed had quite an impression of Klutz.

Klutz was a righteous man who carried himself well like Tigger.

He would accomplish great things in the future.

"It's you. What's the matter?" William asked casually.

"Well, Mr. Lu, didn't you say that you like Sakura Tea? I'll give you another catty and send it to you in two days, is that okay?" Klutz asked respectfully.

William felt it was funny. His Sakura Tea had just been taken away. Coincidentally, Klutz seemed to have read his mind and was about to send him another catty.

William decided to give Klutz a chance, hence he responded, "Okay. In return, I'll put in a good word for you to Tigger."

"Thank you, Mr. Lu! Thank you, Mr. Lu! Then, Mr. Lu, I'll leave you to it. I will contact you in two days!" Klutz hung up the phone, excited.

He cheered internally, "Luck is on my side!"

Everything seemed to go on so smoothly!

Klutz had a rough idea of who William was.

Judging from the way William interacted with Tigger, he must be as powerful, or even more powerful than Tigger!

After all, Tigger gave Klutz this position because of what William said.

If Klutz could get along well with William, he would have a bright future!

Thinking of the mishaps that he had endured in the neighboring city over the years, Klutz felt that his time to shine had finally come!

He must seize this opportunity!

Meanwhile, Kaleb and Rebecca returned home happily. Kaleb could not help but laugh when he saw William reading in the living room.

Although this good-for-thing had no abilities, he had decent luck. He actually had some good tea.

Kaleb and Rebecca sashayed together to William. William did not raise his head and asked, "Anything?"

Kaleb took a stack of money out from his bag and threw it in front of William. He said, "Hey, take this 2,500 yuan. Go and buy me another catty of your tea. You can take the balance as tips for running errands for me."

Kaleb felt that 2,500 yuan for a catty of tea was more than enough.

William raised his head, amused, and glanced at Kaleb, saying, "2,500 yuan? That's not enough."

Kaleb frowned.

Rebecca cursed, "Who the hell do you think you are? You're ripping off your own family, aren't you? Don't you feel ashamed of yourself?"

Kaleb grabbed Rebecca and looked at William condescendingly, questioning, "Tell me, how much do you want?"

William closed his book and rose from his seat.

He then strode to his room and answered, "At least three million yuan."

Chapter 218

When Kaleb heard William requested three million yuan, his knees went weak in shock.

Rebecca cursed unhesitantly, "Stop playing games here! I will slap you, believe it or not! If you don't want to help, just say it. There's no need to get back at us, you son of a b*tch!"

William slammed the door with a bang.

He did not even bother to deal with such people.

Rebecca was so pissed off that she wanted to rush up and kick William's door open, but Kaleb stopped her.

He glanced at William's room with disdain and hissed, "It's definitely our disgrace to dirty our finger dealing with somebody like him. Rebecca, we're going to be rich soon, so we need to act like the rich. Well, as for this tea, I will buy it without him. I happened to know a friend who specializes in preparing tea leaves. I'll call and ask."

After speaking, he took his phone and called his friend, Andy.

Andy agreed to send a bag of tea leaves to Kaleb before he arranged for someone to deliver it immediately.

After hanging up, Kaleb said to Rebecca, "See!

Who does that brat think he is? Three million yuan? Oh geez, he is just embarrassing himself."

He took the only remaining sachet of Sakura Tea and asked Rebecca to boil some water. He then tore the package and poured the tea into the teapot before he took a picture of it and sent it to Andy.

In less than a minute, Andy called.

Kaleb showed his phone to Rebecca proudly and stated, "Look, my friend has gotten it."

"Hey Andy, you can deliver it to me right away. The price is negotiable. A few thousand yuan is definitely doable," said Kaleb turned on the loudspeaker, conceited.

But at this time, he heard a sudden roar on the phone. "D*mn! Sakura Tea! Kaleb, the tea that you want is the Sakura Tea! Are you kidding me? A few thousand yuan? Where are you going to get it at this price? Let me tell you, the package you just tore open is already worth five thousand yuan!"

"Not to mention that it costs at least 300,000 yuan per catty. No, 300,000 yuan is far from enough! It's currently unavailable in the market."

Kaleb's hands quivered upon hearing what Andy said. He could feel his hair stand up.

Kaleb asked in horror, "Wait a minute, Andy. What did you just say? I don't think I understood you the first time."

On the phone, Andy's voice was obviously trembling. "Kaleb, oh, Kaleb. It's not that I don't want to help you but my hands are tied. Even if we have 300,000 yuan, we may not even be able to afford a catty of this Sakura tea."

This time, Kaleb and Rebecca heard him crystal clear.

They looked at each other in horror!

They thought, "Even if we have 300,000 yuan, we may not even be able to afford a catty of this Sakura tea."

What sort of tea was this?

The tea was practically made of gold!

300,000 yuan as it was!

Even after Andy hung up, Kaleb and Rebecca were still in shock.

300,000 yuan!

Out of the blue, Rebecca pinched Kaleb's thigh hard and whined helplessly, "Kaleb, how can these leaves be so expensive? I even took 20 sachets to make herbal tea eggs the other day..."

Kaleb's hands and feet went cold after hearing what Rebecca said.

She used tea leaves that were worth 300,000 yuan per catty to boil herbal tea eggs.

What an extortionate herbal tea egg they had eaten!

D*mn!

What a waste!

Kaleb and Rebecca were filled with regret.

That was definitely the most expensive dish they had ever eaten in their lives.

Kaleb looked at the package of tea leaves that he tore open, his hands shaking.

Water had been boiled.

Should he make the tea or not?

One pack of it was worth five to six thousand yuan!

They felt completely lost.

When they came back to their senses, Rebecca slapped her thigh and exclaimed in a panic, "Oh no! Kaleb, we have promised Klutz to give him a catty. What should we do now? This tea is so expensive! Besides, not only it's expensive, but it's also impossible to get!"

Kaleb suddenly thought of the weird look Klutz gave when he offered him the tea.

He exclaimed to himself, "So this was what it was about!"

What a great deal he had just made!

He had just given 300,000 yuan worth of tea leaves to Klutz!

Kaleb slapped himself, dejected.

He blamed himself, "Why did I speak without thinking?"

He was a f*cking idiot!

Everything was over now!

Just then, Felicity came back; she just got off from work.

Rebecca rushed over as she saw Felicity, clutching her hand with red eyes, and cried, "Felicity, you are finally back. William is about to ruin us! "

Felicity had just gotten off work and was exhausted after dealing with countless company affairs. When she heard Rebecca's complaint, she asked depressingly, "Mom, why did you mess with William again?"

Right then, William opened his room door too. He came out to get some water.

When Rebecca saw him, she grabbed Felicity's hand and dashed to William, yelling, "This rascal is going to ruin us! He not only stole this tea from God-knows-where but also lied to us about it! We're doomed now and it is all his fault!"

Rebecca's tears cascaded down her cheeks as she added, "I don't care. You'd better ask this guy to buy me the same tea as soon as possible. Consider it a compensation fee for the distress he's caused us!"

Rebecca told everything to Felicity.

Felicity's face turned cold when she heard everything. She rebuked, "Mom! At the end of the day, this was all your fault! That tea was William's, but you took it without telling him! That's stealing! William didn't even blame you for taking his 30 sachets of tea. Based on your calculation, 30 sachets would cost at least 150,000 yuan. You should return the 150,000 yuan to William, then we'll talk!"

Not only did Felicity not help Rebecca, but she also asked them to pay William what the tea was worth. Her reaction did not go in line with Rebecca's plan at all.

Rebecca continued to make a scene. "You shameless couple! My life is so miserable! What did I do to deserve both of you?!"

William and Felicity glanced at each other and walked towards their room together.

Rebecca stomped her feet a couple of times, completely incensed.

Kaleb's face was colored with hopelessness. He said to Rebecca, "Rebecca, we need to think of a plan. Ask every friend you have. Otherwise, judging from how Klutz is, I'm definitely going to die miserably!"

Panicking, both of them took the phone and began to search for the Sakura Tea frantically.

However, the Sakura Tea was way too expensive that no ordinary tea shop sold it.

Furthermore, the Sakura Tea was scarce this year due to the climate that had affected the production of the tea significantly. Little did they know that both of them were finding a needle in a haystack.

The two kept busy until midnight. Right then, Rebecca heard Kaleb shouting in surprise, "What?! You have it over there? Hahaha, that's great! Hurry, sell it to me! I'm in your debt eternally!"

Rebecca raced over immediately and squealed excitedly, "Is it settled, Kaleb?"

Just as Kaleb was about to nod his head, they heard a mocking voice on the phone. "Sell it to you? Okay. I have only one catty. It costs one million yuan a catty. Come and pick it up yourself."
