

This Time, I Will Get My Divorce, Mr Chapter 357

“What? Tina Gray is going to jail?” As soon as Charles heard this, he immediately put the Ocean’s Heart behind him. In his heart, nothing was more important than the news that Tina was imprisoned-not even the Ocean’s Heart, which was worth hundreds of millions.

“Spill, baby. What did Tina do to break the law this time?” Charles looked at Sonia and asked excitedly.

Sonia’s expression turned cold. “It’s not something she did recently; it was in the past. On the night of your birthday, she asked the waiter in the clubhouse to spike my drink.”

Join Telegram Group For Fast update and Novel Query

“The f*ck? Something like this happened that night?” Charles’ face sank, and he slapped his thigh angrily. Then, he immediately thought of something, and his expression became twisted again. “Sonia, was it because you were drugged that night that you and a man...”

“Something like that.” Sonia shrugged. However, she felt that even if she weren’t drugged, she would have still slept with Toby when she was drunk.

“That woman really deserves to die a thousand deaths!” Charles clenched his fists and gritted his teeth in anger.

Sonia rubbed her brows. “There, there. No matter what, the evidence that night was collected with Toby’s help. Now that Tina has been taken to the police station, I believe that it will not be long before Tina will be officially arrested. So, are you still stopping me from returning this to Toby Fuller?”

Charles pouted and said nothing.

Sonia chuckled. "Actually, it's better to give this back to him. That way, I no longer have his belongings with me."

When Charles heard that, his eyes lit up, and the last bit of unwillingness in his heart disappeared completely. She was right-returning Toby's things to him meant that whatever relationship that remained between them would be wiped out once and for all. When Charles thought of this, he was happy.

Seeing this, Sonia moved her arm. "Shouldn't you let go now?"

Powered by Hooligan Media

"Hehe. I'm letting go of it right now." Charles immediately let go of his hand.

Sonia continued to walk toward the elevator while Charles followed behind her.

Meanwhile, at the hospital. Tom returned to Toby's ward and reported everything that happened at the police station to him.

When Toby heard from Tom that Sonia complimented himself, there was an undisguised joy in his eyes although the expression on his face did not change much.

Tom rolled his eyes. That was enough to make you happy? You're too easy to satisfy! Although he thought so, Tom couldn't say that out loud. He rubbed his hands and smiled at Toby. "President Fuller, well, you know... It was me who spoke kindly about you to Miss Reed, and so she praised you. So what do you think of my bonus..."

Toby wished he didn't understand Tom's suggestion, but he did after all. At once, he waved his hand impatiently, signaling that the matter had been decided.

Seeing that, Tom immediately smiled brightly. "Thank you, President Fuller!"

Toby pursed his lips. "Sure. But there is something I need you to do."

"What is it, sir? I'll do whatever you say!" Tom straightened his back as he said.

Toby narrowed his eyes and said, "Go to the media and spread the news about Tina being arrested for breaking the law again."

Tom raised his eyebrows. "President Fuller, are you trying to deal with Titus Gray?"

Tina was already at the police station, so it was impossible for him to deal with her anymore. Titus was the only one who he might want to deal with right now.

Toby raised his chin slightly. "I'm using public opinion to cause turmoil in Triforce Enterprise and completely destroy Titus' prestige in the company, and at the same time, allow Passion Heart Property to come forward and buy his shares."

"I see. I'll contact the media right away." Tom took out his mobile phone.

Soon, news of Tina breaking the law again during her probation period was published on all major platforms and apps; it also went on the hot search list of major search engines. In a flash, the news spread like wildfire through the internet. After all, it had not been long since Tina was sentenced to probation when she broke the law again. How could netizens not be anguished about this?

Meanwhile, at Triforce, Titus was in a meeting to start a new project. More than half of the people in the meeting originally agreed to proceed with the project. However, a shareholder stood up all of a sudden and pointed at Titus angrily. "Titus Gray, please explain to us what this is that I am seeing all over the Internet!"

As soon as this statement came out, everyone was full of doubts. Titus, including other shareholders, ked at that shareholder who stood up and was accusing Titus angrily.

Unable to suppress his curiosity any longer, Titus asked, "Director Walker, what is it on the Internet that you are referring to?"

Other shareholders were also curious. "Yeah, Director Walker. What are you talking about?"

"All of you can see it online now. The youngest daughter of our president has been arrested again for breaking the law. President Gray, you really are educating your daughter well, huh?" Director Walker looked at Titus and sneered angrily.

"What? Tina has been arrested again?" Titus' expression changed greatly. "This is impossible! Tina is still on probation, so how could she--"

"President, what Director Walker said is true. I'm looking at the news now." Before he finished speaking, another director pointed to the computer in front of him with an ugly expression. Soon, other shareholders also said it was true one after another.

Seeing that these shareholders all said that Tina was arrested and had been taken to the police station, Titus felt chills all over his body. He quickly dropped the laser pointer in his hand, returned to his seat from the big screen, and checked the computer.

When he saw the words 'Tina Gray arrested again' on the trending topics., Titus' eyes darkened, and he almost fainted.

Fortunately, a chair behind him caught him, so he didn't really fall down. He held the mouse tightly as his expression changed immediately-they were ferocious and twisted. His body was shaking with anger, and he hissed out through his teeth, "Tina. Gray."

After all, he had already warned her last time that she should stay at home, behave herself, and not break the law again. Little did he expect that she would be arrested again this time. Did she do this intentionally? Does she want to bring down the Gray Family and Triforce so badly?

Bam!

Titus' chest rose and fell violently, and he punched the table with a hard punch-he wished he could rush to the police station and tear up that troublesome girl into pieces!

Director Walker looked at Titus coldly. "Titus, your daughter almost bankrupted us last time, then you begged us hard and told us not to withdraw our shares; you asked us to believe in your capabilities and trust that you'd be able to save Triforce. Since we've worked together for so many years, we finally chose to believe in you and give you a chance.

We did not hold a shareholders meeting to jointly remove your president position. Fortunately, in the end, you did live up to our expectations and saved Triforce from the brink of bankruptcy. I thought that from now on, you would lead Triforce well and lead us to more successes, but look what happened!" Director Walker kicked the chair. "Is that how you lead?"

"Yes, President. Please give us an explanation." The other directors also looked at Titus angrily.

Facing the anger of the crowd, Titus was angry as well, but he did not dare to express it. Although he was the president of the board and the person who held the most shares in Triforce, his prestige among these people was almost completely lost the last time. Therefore, his status as president could not suppress them at all.

If he really fought back against them, they would definitely join forces to deal with him, and he most definitely couldn't fight them alone. Thinking of this, Titus took a deep breath and said in a comforting and ingratiating manner, "Everyone, calm down first, okay? Maybe this matter is not as bad as we thought."

"It's not as bad as we thought?" Director Walker sneered. "Titus, are you dreaming? Don't you see what's going on on the Internet now? They've already boycotted Triforce, and now Triforce's stocks will definitely plummet. Can you bear this loss?"

Titus opened his mouth but was speechless. Of course he couldn't afford to bear the losses! He had run out of money trying to cover the losses in the stock market last time.

Seeing that Titus couldn't answer, Director Walker snorted yet again. "Okay, I won't say much else. I propose to hold a general shareholders meeting at 9.00AM tomorrow to re-elect a new leader of the company."

"What?" Titus' pupils shrank as he looked at Director Walker, completely shocked.