

Chapter: 86

Long Chen

After chatting with Long Fei for a while, Su Ruan began to feel more at ease again. The two of them began to joke around as they eat their lunch.

It seemed that Long Fei was easier to talk to contrary to what she had expected.

Auntie Wang smiled as she watched as the two chatted from afar. Thinking that the young master finally found his fated person, Auntie Wang could not be happier.

Seeing that the two of them had almost done eating, Auntie Wang came over with two bowls of mango pudding.

Su Ruan thought that she was already full after eating a lot of food but once she saw the soft and smooth mango pudding in front of her, Su Ruan thought that she could eat a little bit. Su Ruan took a spoonful of pudding and in less than a minute, the mango pudding in her bowl was gone.

"Would you like to have another bowl?"

Su Ruan stared at the empty bowl in front of her and then at Long Fei's bowl. Although the pudding was really tempting, she should not eat more.

"No. It's fine. If I eat more, my stomach would burst."

Long Fei smiled. He did not mention it again and continued to eat his portion.

Auntie Wang looked at Long Fei and gestured with her hand. Then, Long Fei turned to Su Ruan and spoke, "Auntie Wang wanted to know what do you think of the food?"

Her eyes lit up she turned to Auntie Wang. "Auntie Wang, the food you cooked was really delicious."

Long Fei delivered Su Ruan's words to Auntie Wang and the woman smiled happily. Auntie Wang told Long Fei to bring over Su Ruan to her place again before she went into the house to clean up.

"Do you have any other place you wanted to stop by?"

Su Ruan did not have to think for too long to answer. "No. Let's just head home. I'm not really familiar with this place. Other than the places where my cousin had brought me over previously, I did not know any interesting place."

Long Fei lowered his gaze as he made his further plan. "Since you are not familiar with this place, then, how about if I bring you around next time?"

She stared at him for a while and smiled. "Aren't you the president of Blue Media Group? How are you that free to bring me around for sightseeing?"

Long Fei chuckled. "I already delegated most of my work to my subordinates. When I'm in this town, I try not to think too much about the company matters."

"That's true." Su Ruan propped her chin with her hand. "I used to hear that you would only stay in Capital City for a few months before you disappeared. I always thought you went overseas for business matters. But now, I'm starting to think that perhaps, you came back here to take a break."

Long Fe laughed. He leaned over and looked at her, eye level. "Now, I'm curious to know what else do you know about me."

Hearing his words, Su Ruan suddenly thought that perhaps she sounded like his little fan. The thought made her cheek turn a little red. Fortunately, she had already explained that she had made a little research on him to prepare for the interview. Otherwise, she really did not know how she would explain herself.

"How long are you planning to stay in this town, Miss Su? Are you planning to return to Capital City soon?"

Her expression changed and Long Fe did not miss the look on her face. His heart skipped a beat as he wondered if he had brought up something unpleasant. However, Long Fe did not think that there was anything wrong with his question. He could not figure out how this question would make her unhappy.

"I will return to Capital City by the end of summer," Su Ruan answered after she had adjusted her mood. Thinking of the reason she had to head to Capital City made her heart ache.

Long Fe subconsciously tightened his hand into a fist. Hearing that she planned to leave this town made him unhappy. He needed to find a way to make her stay close to him.

"My best friend is getting married and I need to show up at the wedding and give my blessings."

His mood changed again.

The reason that she's heading back to Capital City was to attend her friend's wedding?

"As for staying in this town... I still haven't made my decision about it," Su Ruan said with a sigh. "I like it here. It's peaceful and the people in this town are friendly. Perhaps I will stay perhaps I would leave after finding a reason to leave."

Long Fe pursed his lips into a thin line. He silently vowed to give her reasons to stay.

After staying around the bamboo garden for a while, Su Ruan finally left with Long Fe. The man sent her back to her grandparents' house and leave after convincing Su Ruan to come out with him to visit a few interesting places around the town.

When Long Fe returned to his courtyard, he quickly noticed that the atmosphere around him was a little different. His eyes narrowed when he could not see anyone around. He went to his study and finally found that his staff was all there.

Looking at the way the staff had their head lowered, Long Fe quickly guessed that someone had come to his place when he was not around. That person was unhappy and decided to punish his staff.

He entered his study and found his father, Long Chen, inside. The man sat languidly on the chair while sipping his tea.

Long Fei walked over and greeted, "Father. You are back."

The man did not raise his head. He put down the cup of tea on the side table and slowly lifted his head. "Where have you been?"

"Taking a walk along the lake," Long Fei answered. "Father, what are you doing to my staff? Why are you punishing them?"

"They were supposed to look after their young master but they did not know where you have gone to. As your staff, they have failed to look after you. What's wrong with punishing them?"

"If you are unhappy, you could always tell me. I will handle the matters of my courtyard. As for my staff... I will be the one who will punish them if they did something wrong."

Long Chen's expression turned darker, and the father and son looked at each other unhappily.

Chapter: 87

Looking For A Fight

It was not known for how long the father and son has been staring at each other, both silently challenging each other to make the first move. But soon, they were forced to calm down when Long Fei's grandfather, Long Yuan appeared.

"Cut it out you two." Long Yuan stomp his cane on the floor twice to break the strange atmosphere in the study.

The father and son looked away, and quickly adjusted their mood in front of their patriarch. Long Fei saw the figure of his butler behind his grandfather and guessed that he should be the one who notified the old man of the situation. With his grandfather's arrival, Long Fei's staff who were punished in front of his study had all dispersed.

"You." Long Yuan pointed his cane to his son. "What is wrong with you? As soon as you came back, you came over, looking for a fight with your son."

"Father" Long Chen called with a helpless tone in his voice. "I wasn't looking for a fight. I was only concerned when I couldn't see my son around his courtyard. Moreover, none of his subordinates knew where he was going. What if something happened to him?"

"If you are worried, just tell him you are worried. Why do you have to interfere with his courtyard's matter and make him angry?"

Long Chen pursed his lips, unable to utter a word. He was already this old but his father would still scold him.

Sensing his father's angry stare at him, Long Chen finally heaved a sigh.

"It was my mistake. I heard that Ah Fei had run into the group of hunters previously and worried that he might run into them again. Father, you know that old man well. If he started to suspect something, he would not let it go. I worry that Ah Fei might enter their trap. That is all."

Hearing his son's words, Long Yuan began to hesitate. He realized that his son's worry was not baseless. However, his son was still in the wrong when he decided to punish Long Fei's staff during his absence.

"You are Ah Fei's father. It's fine if you are concerned about him but don't be over-controlling," Long Yuan's voice was not as fierce as the beginning. "Ah Fei is already an adult. He knows what he is doing." He heaved a sigh and spoke, "How can a father and son get into a fight the first thing they met? Are you not ashamed?"

Long Chen lowered his gaze, knowing well that nothing he said at this moment would help him.

After saying a few words to his son, Long Yuan looked at his grandson again. "Your father is also right. That person and his group would not stop pursuing us. He already tricked you once. Ah Fei, you need to be careful."

"Grandfather, I know."

Long Yuan nodded. Sensing that this matter is over, he was about to turn around before he recalled something else. "That's right. Ah Fei, have you found any clue to find that person?"

"I am still searching for her." Long Fei naturally knew that his grandfather was talking about Su Ruan.

"Your health has been improving a lot the past few days," Long Yuan commented. "Since you are well enough, why don't you head out and continue to look for her?"

"Grandfather, I have my own arrangement. I will head back to Capital City to look for her but the time isn't now," Long Fei said. His Su Ruan was still in this town. He had only reason to stay. Long Fei had already made his plan. The next time he leave this town, it would be to accompany Su Ruan.

Long Yuan heaved another sigh. The last time Long Fei headed to Capital City he heard from Long Yu Heng that there might be some clue in finding that girl, but in the end, they lost her again.

After saying a few words to Long Fei, Long Yuan finally left the courtyard, dragging his son away. He was afraid that if he let Long Chen stay, the father and son would start to fight again and make everyone suffer with them.

The sky has long turned dark.

Su Ruan focused on her laptop. The sound of click-clacking of her keyboard reverberated in her room as she continued to write her article. Ideas kept on pouring in and she could not stop.

After a long time, the sound finally stopped. Su Ruan reread her article and edited a few errors. Once it was done, Su Ruan stretched up and looked at the clock.

A look of surprise came to her face as she realized that it was almost midnight.

Her gaze shifted to her slightly opened window. The cold wind blew in and she started to sneeze twice.

Su Ruan looked at the window again and finally sighed.

Earlier, she had deliberately opened the window slightly just so she could let her tiny friend in. However, it seemed that the little dragon was not going to visit her today.

Feeling a little disappointed, Su Ruan decided to call it a day and head to bed earlier. She walked over to the window and was about to close it when a familiar figure finally appeared on her window.

Instantly, her eyes lit up. "Little Dragon, you are late."

Long Fei looked at Su Ruan in surprise. From Su Ruan's words, it seemed that she has been waiting for him?

He had not planned to come over and see Su Ruan this night. But after getting into a heated discussion with his father after dinner, Long Fei was in a very bad mood. He went out to take a walk and calm down. Subconsciously, he arrived at Su Ruan's place.

Seeing her face made him feel a little better. But after hearing her words, Long Fei felt guilty.

Long Fei quickly made his way inside her room and look around. His gaze finally fell on her laptop before his tiny body was lifted up.

Su Ruan patted his head with her finger and raised him up until her eye level. "Little Dragon, I miss you. Tonight, you will accompany me to sleep, alright?"

His heart skipped a beat and soon his face heated up. This was not the first time they have slept on the same bed together but he was still very shy about it. Long Fei could not help but feel jealous of his own tiny form.

Chapter: 88

Fever

Just like the past few times, he stayed in Su Ruan's room, Long Fei found himself waking up in the girl's embrace. They were so close that he could inhale her scent and feel her body temperature. Thinking how Su Ruan had hugged him close to her chest made him feel embarrassed.

However, this time, Long Fei did not have time to feel shy. The moment he woke up, Long Fei could feel that there was something wrong with Su Ruan.

He slithered out of her embrace and looked at Su Ruan's face. Her lips were slightly parted, her breathing was heavy and her cheek was reddened. Even in her sleep, Su Ruan looked very restless.

This time, it wasn't the same as the time she had dreamed of their childhood and his form as a dragon.

Long Fei touched her forehead and immediately took a step back.

Her body temperature was higher than he had thought. He stared at her for a long time, wondering what he was supposed to do in this situation.

Long Fei tried to wake her up but Su Ruan only curled her body into a fetal position and let out a whimper.

Her head was aching and her eyes were heavy. No matter how Long Fei moved her, Su Ruan was unable to wake up.

"Cold," Su Ruan whimpered. Even with the blanket on her body, Su Ruan still felt a little cold.

Noticing that she seemed uncomfortable, Long Fei used his claw to pull the blanket to cover her body. However, this still was not enough to help her get well.

Long Fei scanned his eyes around the room and hesitated. After a while, Long Fei went into the corner and shifted into his human form.

He grabbed the towel at the side to cover his lower body and walked towards the bed again. Stretching his hand, Long Fei placed a hand on Su Ruan's forehead to test her temperature.

Just as he had expected, Su Ruan was having a fever. Moreover, her temperature was higher than he had thought.

His brow furrowed as he looked at her. She was still fine when he entered her room last night. When did she suddenly develop a fever?

A while later, Long Fei recalled how Su Ruan had left her windows slightly open when he came to her bedroom. He quickly concluded that perhaps she had caught a fever due to the cold air.

As the thought came to his mind, Long Fei felt a little guilty. He knew that Su Ruan had let her window open to let him in. It seemed that Su Ruan had caught a fever because she was waiting for him.

A heavy breath escaped him. However, his lips curled into a helpless smile "You little fool." He stood up and stayed in her bedroom to look after her.

Su Ruan woke up in the morning with a parched throat. The moment she moved to sit on her bed, her head started to throb. As the pain subsided, Su Ruan looked around the room with a dazed look on her face.

It was then that she realized that her pajama was a little damp.

It seemed that she had a fever last night and had sweated profusely.

Su Ruan moved to the side table, wanting to pour herself a glass of water. After a few mouthfuls of drinks, Su Ruan felt a little better.

Just as she had put the glass down, an image suddenly appeared on her head, making her face a little red.

Why would she suddenly imagine a topless man sitting on her bed while wiping her face with a wet towel? Although the image was not very clear and she could not see his face, at least his abs were very good-looking.

Su Ruan widened her eyes and quickly dispel that thought in her head.

It seemed that her fever had started to make her imagine strange things. Or was it that she had not dated anyone years that she started to feel hungry?

Su Ruan was surprised by her own thought. She slapped her face twice and finally stood up. She really needed to wash her face with cold water and wake up.

After washing her face, Su Ruan headed downstairs and saw her mother wiping some cutlery in the dining room. She walked over to her mother and called, "Mom..." Su Ruan dragged her words, sounding coquettish. She hugged her mother from her back and placed her chin on her mother's shoulder.

Ma Zheng Zheng laughed. She tried to turn and look at her daughter but could not move that much. "What's wrong with you? Why are you suddenly acting like a baby?"

"Mom, I think I have a fever."

"Ah?" Ma Zheng Zheng placed the cutlery on the table and turned around. Su Ruan's pale lips scared her. She looked at her daughter worriedly and placed her hand on Su Ruan's forehead.

Feeling the temperature on her daughter's forehead, Ma Zheng Zheng finally let out a breath of relief. Fortunately, her fever was not that high.

"When did this happen? Have you eaten any medicine?"

"No. I didn't have any. I came to ask if you have any medicine."

Ma Zheng Zheng quickly turned to look for medicine for her daughter. "That's right. Sit down and have something to eat first. Then, go back to your room and rest."

Su Ruan watched as her mother walked around worriedly. Now that she was having a fever, Su Ruan only wanted to act like a baby to her mother.

Thinking about it, she had grown up mostly without her mother by her side. In the past, whenever she had a fever, it was her paternal grandmother who would often look after her.

Suddenly, her nose stung and Su Ruan began to hug her mother again.

Her movement surprised Ma Zheng Zheng. "What's wrong? Are you feeling uncomfortable?"

Su Ruan put her chin on her mother's shoulder again. Her mother's scent entered her nose, making her feel calmer. "Mom, it's really nice to have you around."

Ma Zheng Zheng paused when she heard her words. Her lips gradually turned into a helpless smile. She hugged her daughter and patted Su Ruan on her back. Ma Zheng Zheng seemed to understand what her daughter was thinking about and felt distressed.

As the mother, she always felt guilty that she had not spent a lot of time watching her daughter grow up. Fortunately, this girl had not blamed them for their divorce. The thought made her hug Su Ruan a little tighter.

At this time Ma Zheng Zheng realized that after her daughter returned to this town, she had not spent much time accompanying her daughter.

Chapter: 89

Expanding Her Social Circle

In the next few days, Su Ruan stayed home to recuperate. As she was feeling unwell, her mother and grandparents has been spoiling her and allowing Su Ruan to act like a baby.

During the nighttime, Ma Zheng Zheng offered to accompany her daughter to sleep. However, Su Ruan still remembered her tiny friend who would stop by her room to sleep. Therefore, she could only convince her mother that she would be alright to sleep alone.

Su Ruan wanted to hide the little dragon a secret.

If anyone saw him, perhaps, they would be scared...

The little dragon would visit her just before it was time for her to sleep. Then, Su Ruan would carry him to her bed and use him as her body warmer.

Of course, Su Ruan was unaware that once she fell deep into sleep, the tiny dragon would shift into his human form and stay to look after her.

When she woke up, the image of a topless man with a beautiful mermaid line and abs would appear in her mind. Each time, this topless man would walk to her bed and caress her face. Meanwhile, she could only lay on the bed and stare at his abs.

The man's face was still hazy in her mind and all she could remember was the man's pretty body.

Su Ruan was really worried that something was wrong with herself. Could it be that she was sexually frustrated? Or was this a sign that she should start thinking about dating?

However, when she thought about the opposite gender in her social circle, Su Ruan began to feel disheartened. It seemed that for Yu Zhi Yi, he had purposely avoided entangling too close with another man.

Look at how this ended up for her.

Yu Zhi Yi was going to marry the woman he love while she will continue to stay single.

Su Ruan pondered that perhaps she should reconsider expanding her social circle.

When Su Ruan felt a little better, Ma Zheng Zheng took her daughter to the town center to spend time with her daughter. The mother and daughter planned to have breakfast together and walk around and shop.

Her cousin, Ma Yu Xi had taken her to the town center a few times but Su Ruan did not have enough time to look around.

Ma Zheng Zheng brought her to the bakery where Ma Yu Xi had brought her the last time for breakfast. After ordering their food, the mother and daughter sat down together and had a chat.

When her mother asked her about her father's family, Su Ruan only mentioned her paternal grandparents without mentioning her father that much.

Su Ruan did not want to make her mother uncomfortable. After all, her father had remarried another woman while her mother stayed single.

Sometimes, Su Ruan would wonder why didn't her mother consider remarrying but her mother seemed comfortable with her current life.

Ma Zheng Zheng took a bite at her custard tart and looked at her daughter. "You have been staying in this town for almost a month. Have you made any plans?"

"Mmm..." Su Ruan stirred her coffee absentmindedly. "Recently, my ex-boss from the previous company had contacted me and suggested me to write some freelance article. I decided to take this job. The payment might not be much but perhaps after writing a few more articles, I could get a little more money."

Ma Zheng Zheng's eyes lit up. "Are you planning to stay here?"

"This town is a beautiful place but I haven't made any decision," Su Ruan said. She stared at her mother and asked, "Mom, what do you think if I decide to stay in this town and accompany you?"

"Of course, I would be happy. Just that... Living in this town isn't the same as living in a big city. Mom is just afraid that you would not get used to it. As you can see, there was not a lot of entertainment for young people like you. This was probably why many youngsters chose to leave this town."

Su Ruan laughed. "I don't mind that. In the past, I am always busy with work. I did not have time to enjoy any sort of entertainment in the city."

"You can stay with me and your grandparents for as long as you like. But Su Ruan, once you found something you like to do, you shouldn't stop yourself to achieve what you wanted to do."

"Mom, I know this. For now, let's leave that for the future. This time, I only wanted to spend my time accompanying you and my grandparents."

The mother and daughter chatted for a bit while having their breakfast.

Afterward, Ma Zheng Zheng took Su Ruan around to the nursery garden to place some order of soil and fertilizer for the orchard.

While her mother was discussing with the boss, Su Ruan took the chance to walk around the garden to look at the potted flowers sold. Su Ruan was admiring the orchid on the rack when she realized that there was someone standing beside her.

Turning around, Su Ruan was surprised to see a familiar face. "President Long."

The corner of his lips began to twitch.

After she had not seen him for a few days, Su Ruan had reverted to calling him President Long again. He wondered if he needed to appear in front of her every day so that she would not forget about him.

Thinking of how she had treated him and that tiny dragon differently make him upset.

Long Fei decided to bring up this matter to her. "Miss Su, we haven't seen each other for a few days and you went back to address me, President Long."

Su Ruan touched the tip of her nose when she realized it. She let out a cough and spoke, "Each time that I saw you, you would have this special aura around you. I couldn't help myself and have subconsciously addressed you, President Long."

Long Fei decided not to pursue this matter. He shifted his gaze to the potted orchid and asked, "Are you interested in these orchids?"

"They are pretty to look at, but very troublesome to look after." Su Ruan heaved a long sigh. "I can only admire them from afar. I'm afraid that once it fell into my hand, the orchid would die. Actually, I don't think that I have green thumbs as the rest of the family."

"It couldn't be that bad?"

Su Ruan only gave him a smile.

At this time, Ma Zheng Zheng walked over, wanting to tell her daughter that she was done with her business. However, once she came closer, Ma Zheng Zheng realized that her daughter was with someone else.

Once she recognized the man, Ma Zheng Zheng was unable to hide her surprise.. "Young Master Long."

Chapter: 90

Lend Me Your Daughter

Ma Zheng Zheng shifted her gaze between her daughter and this young master. Seeing the two of them standing side by side made her feel a little strange.

"Auntie, hello." Long Fei nodded politely.

"Hello. Ma Zheng Zheng turned to her daughter, silently asking her when did they were together with her eyes.

Last time, her daughter had gone out with this young master for lunch. This time, she had seen the two of them standing side by side. Of course, Ma Zheng Zheng would have a strange thought.

Worried that her mother might misunderstand something, Su Ruan leaned closer to her mother and whispered, "We ran into each other coincidentally."

Su Ruan glanced at the man beside her and a thought suddenly came to her mind. It seemed that she had always run into this man whenever she visited the town center.

"Young Master Long, are you here to buy some flowers as well?" Ma Zheng Zheng spoke.

"I heard that they delivered a new batch of orchid today. I decided to casually look around."

Hearing his words, Su Ruan recalled the words that Ma Yu Xi had told her previously. Most of the business in this town center belonged to the Long family.

It wouldn't be strange if this garden nursery belonged to the Long family as well.

Ma Zheng Zheng turned to her daughter and spoke, "I have finished my business here. Su Ruan, if you don't have any place you need to head to, then, we can head back."

Long Fei glanced at the mother and daughter and spoke. "Auntie, I wonder if it will be convenient for you to lend me your daughter for a few hours?"

Sensing that Ma Zheng Zheng was looking at him strangely, Long Fei decided to explain. "I heard that your daughter used to write for a magazine. Coincidentally, the company was looking for a freelance writer. Since we run into each other today, I thought that I wanted to discuss an offer with Miss Su."

It was just this morning that Ma Zheng Zheng had discussed with her daughter what she was planning to do. Just now, Su Ruan had mentioned to her about doing some freelance writing. Thinking that Long Fei was going to present a good chance for Su Ruan, Ma Zheng Zheng naturally did not have anything against this idea.

"This matter... I should ask my daughter if she's interested," Ma Zheng Zheng said. She looked at her daughter with an inquiring gaze.

Long Fei turned to Su Ruan with an expecting gaze.

Sensing that the two people were looking at her, Su Ruan suddenly felt a little awkward. However, Long Fei's offer was indeed a little tempting.

Blue Media Group was a big company. Their pay should be a little more generous, right?

"Well, it does sound interesting," Su Ruan said.

The smile on Long Fei's lips stretched up.

Su Ruan looked at her mother and said, "But mom, what about you? Don't you need to head back for work?"

"I don't mind waiting for you," Ma Zheng Zheng said. "I can deal with work later. Your grandpa would not mind it."

"If you don't mind..." Long Fei spoke to get the mother and daughter's attention. "I can send you back afterward, Miss Su." He turned to Ma Zheng Zheng and continued, "This way, Auntie, you don't have to wait for your daughter. "

"This..." Ma Zheng Zheng hesitated. "We shouldn't trouble you."

The man was the young master of the Long family. It doesn't seem like a good idea to have him chauffeuring for her daughter back, right?

"It's not a trouble," Long Fei spoke quickly. "After all, I would pass by the Ma's Orchard on my way back."

Ma Zheng Zheng considered his suggestion and thought that his words make sense. However, everything seemed to depend on her daughter.

"Then, I will have to thank you in advance," Su Run said.

Hearing her answer, Long Fei could not help but heave in relief. Although he always spend his time together with Su Ruan, Long Fei wanted to be around her in his human form.

Otherwise, Su Ruan's relationship with the tiny dragon would improve, but she would treat him in his human form indifferently.

After exchanging a few words with her mother, Su Ruan watched her mother leave and went to Long Fei's side. "Where should we discuss this?"

Long Fei chuckled. "I know a quiet place for us to talk."

Su Ruan decided to trust him. Following him, Long Fei took her to a tea house that she had never thought would exist in the town.

The moment they entered the shop, the waiter greeted them politely and ushered them to a private room. As they walked, Su Ruan continued to look around the place.

She wondered how could this tea house survive when there seem to be no one coming to visit this place.

"Miss Su, please, come in."

Su Ruan snapped out of her trance and walked into the room. The waiter handed them a menu to them and waited at the side.

"Please look at the menu and see what you like," Long Fei said. "Don't worry, it will be my treat."

Su Ruan browsed through the menu and finally decided to order a few cakes as per Long Fei's recommendation.

As there was no customer around, their order arrived very quickly. Long Fei poured them a cup of tea each and continued to observe Su Ruan quietly. Seeing that she seemed to enjoy the food and tea that he had chosen made him feel a little better.

Su Ruan opened her mouth and closed them again. A faint smile appeared on her lips, realizing that she had almost called him President Long again. Su Ruan still thought that it was strange for her to address him by his name, but earlier, he had reminded her about this matter again...

Su Ruan let out a cough and spoke, "Are you a foodie?" She watched as he raised his brow and explained, "It seemed to me that you always know a good place to eat."

Each time that she followed him out for a meal, the food that Long Fei had let her taste had never disappointed her.

Long Fei laughed. "You could say that."

His smile stunned her for a few seconds. Su Ruan lowered her gaze and asked, "You mentioned earlier about freelance writing?"
