

Her Wicked Ceo (Abigail and Liam)

Chapter 15

Well, what Liam said was true, but Olive couldn't swallow her anger without fighting back. As long as she thought about it, she would be just fuming with indignation.

At this moment, Liam looked back at her. Seeing she was still in a rage, he said, "Forget it. I'll buy you another one." Liam comforted her carelessly.

Since Liam finally comforted her, she could say nothing but nod in dismay. "Okay."

Outside the door.

As soon as Tina and Abigail went out, Tina said with a broad smile, "I feel so good looking at that woman suck it up."

"Damn her. What a drama queen!"

Hearing Tina's words, Abigail smiled slightly. "You're amazing!"

"Oh, I just feel bad to waste my twenty bucks. I wanted to give her ten, but I didn't have one on me."

Abigail joked, "Well, you are so generous. If I were you, I would only give her one dollar."

Hearing Abigail's words, Tina smiled and said, "It's not a big deal. But I believe if she finds out that you are Liam's ex-wife, she will go crazy."

Hearing this, Abigail smiled. "It's better to keep it a secret. Otherwise, she will definitely not let me off."

"Hahaha, I just feel so good in seeing her pissed off. Who does she think she is? And that Liam, I never expected him to be such a vile guy."

Hearing Tina's words, Abigail pondered for a moment and then nodded. "Indeed!" Both of them burst into laughter and then got into Tina's car.

At this moment, Abigail suddenly thought of something. She reminded Tina, "By the way, Tina, remember not to talk about me and Liam with anybody!"

"I know. Don't worry. I won't talk about it with anyone." Tina said with a smile.

"I just don't want any trouble!" "Don't worry. Your secret is safe here." Tina made a gesture of zipping her lip.

Looking at Tina, Abigail smiled. "I trust you!"

The next day.

Abigail went straight to the Powerline Group.

The series of events made her even more determined to not stay in the company.

Walking in, Abigail handed her resignation letter to the personnel department.

Emily, the HR manager, was a little confused. "You just got hired yesterday and you are going to resign today? Miss Swift, are there any difficulties in your work?"

Looking at Emily, Abigail smiled. "I'm really sorry. It's due to my personal reasons. It has nothing to do with the company!"

"Well, what a pity!" The HR manager said.

"I'm sorry!" Abigail said sincerely. Emily was a nice person, and Abigail respected her very much.

Emily thought for a moment and said, "I need to hand your resignation letter to Mr. Jones first!"

"OK!" Abigail nodded.

Then Emily went to the president's office and came back shortly after.

"Miss Swift!" Emily said. "Mr. Jones wants to meet you."

Hearing this, Abigail frowned. "Do I have to?"

“Yes. Mr. Jones has your resignation letter now. He said he wants you to talk with him in person.” Emily said.

Abigail had no choice but to nod in agreement. “Okay, I got it. Thank you, Emily!”

“I just hope you can stay if possible.”

Abigail smiled and did not say a word. She took a deep breath and walked towards the president’s office.

She didn’t know what would happen to her...

Chapter 16

Sitting at his desk, Liam gave an official reply to the contracts. His black shirt made him look more mature and attractive.

When Abigail knocked on the door and went in, he was signing a contract. After finishing, he closed the document and then looked up at her.

“Mr. Jones.” Looking at Liam, Abigail announced herself.

“Are you planning to resign?” Liam took a glance at her and asked.

“Yes!” Abigail said calmly.

“Why? Give me a reason.” Liam said.

Hearing this, Abigail frowned.

‘A reason?’

On the first day, she came across his “good thing” and made him unhappy. On the same day, they had a bad time in the restaurant. Weren’t these all reasons?

But why did Liam act like nothing was wrong?

Did he really not care about those things?

She heard that when Liam was in the LK Group, someone was fired just because he accidentally said something Liam didn’t like to hear. Now...

Abigail was a little confused about him. She couldn’t see through his tricks.

But of course, Abigail wouldn’t say anything about it.

“Personal affairs.”

“Personal affairs?” After hearing this, Liam raised his eyebrows and looked at Abigail with sharp eyes, “Miss Swift, what do you think of the Powerline Group? You want to resign under such an excuse?”

Hearing Liam’s voice, Abigail frowned. But she still looked calm, “I’m sorry!”

“Sorry? An apology is enough? Then who will afford the company’s losses?” Liam asked.

‘Losses?’ Abigail met Liam’s teasing eyes. “Mr. Jones, I don’t understand what you mean.”

When Liam heard this, he sneered, “Then could you please tell me what you mean? Miss Swift, the Powerline Group has always been very strict in hiring people. You resigned less than a day after you entered the company. What? Do you think that the Powerline Group is a shopping mall or something?! Come and go as you please?”

Did he simply want to ruffle her feathers here?

Why did this reason sound so far-fetched?

As long as the Powerline Group posted recruitment, there were many people who would fight over the position.

Abigail stood there with a calm expression on her face. “Mr. Jones, you are joking. A powerful group like the Powerline Group can recruit anyone as long as it wants. As for me, I’m sorry, there are some personal affairs that need to be dealt with. So, I have to quit.”

“I knew that Miss Swift just came back from abroad. I don’t think that you have some ‘personal affairs’ to deal with.” Liam emphasized the words personal affairs.

“I don’t think a boss would care so much about a subordinate’s business.”

“Miss Swift, is this an excuse? That so-called personal affair.” Liam asked.

Should he be described as sharp or unreasonable?

“Mr. Jones, is this related to my resignation?” Abigail looked at Liam and asked.

Hearing this, Liam sat up straight. “Of course, it is.” As he spoke, he picked up a document from the desk and opened it.

“Miss Swift, before you entered the company, you signed a contract with us for two years. If you resign during the two years because of your personal reasons, you will have to pay for the breach of contract!”

Hearing this, Abigail suddenly realized.

Chapter 17

She was so intent on quitting that she forgot about the contract.

She stood there and looked at Liam, frowning.

“What? Miss Swift, have you made your decision?” Liam asked back with a smile.

Abigail stood there, thinking about the two. And she still felt that it was better to resign now.

Abigail nodded. "I will pay for it!"

This sentence was beyond Liam's expectations.

He narrowed his eyes and looked at Abigail in disbelief. "Double the penalty. It seems that Miss Swift is really rich." "Enough for the compensation." Abigail smiled and said, even though she really didn't want to spend her money in this way.

All these years of savings would probably drain away once.

"OK, in that case, I won't say anything more. Two million dollars. When Miss Swift pays the compensation, I'll approve your resignation."

'What?'

'Two million!'

Abigail looked at Liam in disbelief, "Two million?"

"Yes, what? Didn't you see it clearly when you signed the contract? I'm not even pursuing any losses of the Powerline Group from you." Liam said.

Upon hearing this, Abigail was a little incredulous. She walked over, picked up the contract on the desk, and looked at it, word by word.

That was exactly what the contract said.

In fact, Abigail only had a million from her years in London.

How could she get another one million?

Abigail stood there, not knowing what to say.

“What? Didn’t you see it clearly when you signed the contract?” Liam looked at her and asked.

Abigail stood there, completely silent.

Indeed, when she signed the contract, she was so eager to enter the Powerline Group that she did not consider this at all.

However, she did not expect that the president of the Powerline Group was Liam, which disrupted all her plans and arrangements.

Standing there, Abigail hesitated.

Looking at Abigail, Liam raised a determined smile.

After a long time, Abigail came back to her senses. She looked at Liam and said, “I need time to prepare.”

Hearing this, Liam said, “Miss Swift, I don’t have that much time to wait for you.”

“I will do it as soon as possible.”

“OK, I’ll just give you two days. If you haven’t paid for the breach of contract in two days, then don’t blame me.” Liam said.

‘Two days?’

Hearing this, Abigail stared at Liam. He obviously did this on purpose.

“Mr. Jones, two million in two days. How can I do that?”

“That’s your business,” Liam said.

Abigail, “...”

Looking at Abigail’s angry face, Liam suddenly smiled. “Miss Swift, if you continue working, then none of these things would matter.”

“Mr. Jones, the Powerline Group is such a big group, so I’m not important. I just wonder that why you couldn’t let me go. Or, maybe you have ulterior motives!” Abigail looked at Liam as she accused him.

Hearing this, Liam froze and raised his eyebrows.

‘Is this woman challenging me?’

Chapter 18

‘She said I have ulterior motives?’

“Huh.”

Liam sneered and looked at Abigail. “Ulterior motives? Miss Swift, what do you mean? What do you think I want from you?”

"I have no idea," Abigail said.

A proud man like Liam couldn't stand this kind of provocation.

"Miss Swift, I value your ability and attitude. As for the ulterior motives you just mentioned ... I'm afraid you're thinking too much."

"That would be great." Abigail's lips curled into a smile. "Mr. Jones, don't worry. In two days, I will pay the penalty to the company's account!"

"Well, if there's nothing else, I'll go first." After that, Abigail did not say anything more to Liam. She turned around, straightened her back, and left.

Looking at Abigail's back, Liam narrowed his eyes.

He did have other purposes, so what?

He did not believe that she would not compromise!

Walking out of Liam's office, Abigail suddenly let out a breath.

The conversation with Liam just now was like a battle, and now she was so exhausted and lost all her strength.

It was really tough to deal with Liam.

Two million dollars...

The thought of this number gave her a headache.

How could she borrow one million dollars in two days?

Liam was deliberately making things difficult for her.

Although she thought so, she still resolutely decided to leave the Powerline Group. If she really had to get along with him, it was inevitable that she would go crazy.

With that in mind, she left the Powerline Group.

The next day.

In the morning, Abigail was still asleep when she was woken up by the phone.

Abigail reached out from the quilt, caught her cell phone, and answered the call. "Hello..."

However, after hearing what was said on the line, Abigail sat up. "What? The police station? Okay, I'll be right there!" Abigail quickly got up from the bed, changed her clothes, and went out. It was Tina's call.

It took them more than an hour to get out of the police station.

"Damn, so unlucky. It's just an ordinary rear-end crash. He actually accused me of intentionally hurting him?" As soon as she came out of the police station, Tina shouted with dissatisfaction.

"How did this happen?" Abigail asked.

“Who knows! I’m so angry. Obviously, he took revenge on me on purpose!” Tina shouted angrily. After saying this, she turned to look at Abigail. “Abi, I am very supportive of your decision. The further we stay away from people like Liam, the better!”

How did this have anything to do with Liam again?

“What does this have to do with him?” Abigail asked.

“He’s the owner of the car,” Tina said solemnly.

Abigail, “It’s Liam?”

“Yeah, I think he’s taking revenge on me on purpose,” Tina said angrily.

Thinking of this, Abigail frowned.

“Let’s talk about it when we go back. By the way, don’t tell my family about this. I don’t want them to worry about me.” Tina said.

“Got it,” Abigail answered, but she was a little absent-minded and in her thoughts.

Sure enough, Liam stuck with Tina’s rear-end crash lawsuit and wouldn’t let it go.

It seemed that he had sworn to keep suing Tina until the end.

Finally, Abigail couldn’t hold back and dialed Liam’s office number.

Chapter 19

“Hello, Mr. Jones, it’s me,” Abigail said.

Liam was stunned when he heard this, “Who is it?”

Abigail was sure that Liam must have recognized her voice. It was obvious that he asked this on purpose now.

“Abigail Swift, Mr. President,” Abigail said word by word, gritting her teeth.

Hearing this, Liam paused and pretended to ask casually, “Oh, have you got enough money?”

Abigail took a deep breath and thought about it, “That’s not why I called you.”

“Oh? Then what for?” Liam asked.

Hearing this, Abigail took a deep breath, “I’m calling you about the car accident.”

As soon as she finished her words, Liam stopped his work. Instead of focusing on two things at the same time, he focused on dealing with the person on the phone.

“Oh? What does that have to do with you?”

“Mr. Jones, you should know that Tina is my friend,” Abigail said anxiously.

“So what?” Liam asked.

“Could you please drop the charges against her? It’s just an ordinary accident. Why do you sue her for intentional injury?” Abigail asked over the phone.

“Miss Swift, do you mean I’ve wronged her?” “I bet you know it very well whether you have wronged her,” Abigail said.

Liam felt quite funny, “Miss Swift, please pay attention to your words. How do you know that she didn’t mean to hurt me? You know that we have a misunderstanding when we are in the restaurant. What if she deliberately crashes into my car? Why should I let a potential perpetrator go?”

‘Sure enough, Liam is taking revenge.’ ‘He is such a narrow-minded man.’

‘He really didn’t change at all all these years.’

However, Abigail did not know what Liam’s purpose was...

“She’s my friend, so I believe her,” Abigail said.

“You said yourself, she is your friend. She has nothing to do with me.”

“Liam, you did this on purpose.” Abigail couldn’t hold back.

“So what?” Liam asked. Even if he did it on purpose, what could she do?

His words almost angered Abigail.

“Not only will I sue her, but I will definitely put her in jail. You should believe that I can do that.” Liam spoke up slowly. Although his voice was not loud, it made her scared.

Abigail didn't know what to say.

“What do you want?” Abigail held back her anger and asked. With his family and the Powerline Group, it was definitely not a problem to put Tina in jail.

“You make me sound like I have a purpose!” “Don't you?” Abigail asked.

Would Liam do something without a purpose?

“You know me so well!” Hearing this, Liam suddenly asked with a smile. The magnetic voice was transmitted through the line.

Abigail was stunned.

He had no particular intention in saying that, but Abigail felt a little sensitive and quickly changed the subject. “Everyone does things for a purpose. I believe Mr. Jones is the same!”

Hearing this, Liam smiled and narrowed his eyes, “Will you agree with everything I want?” Abigail's heart trembled when she heard this.

His words sounded too intimate

Chapter 20

She didn't know what Liam was thinking about. All she knew was that this man was a fierce and ambitious man with mysteries that she couldn't understand thoroughly.

"What, what do you mean by that?" Abigail asked but felt kind of guilty for some reason.

"What do I mean? You don't know what I mean, then how dare you to beg me!" Liam sneered.

Abigail was suddenly speechless, and didn't know how to reply to him.

Liam was a man who had the last words, and she could do nothing about it.

She couldn't accept the truth that Tina would go to jail for such a little thing, and she felt that she had no choice in the matter.

'Liam must be avenging Olive.'

That was all Abigail could think of.

Abigail hesitated for a while and said, "Okay, what do you want from me?"

Abigail's words met Liam's expectations. He thought she would compromise but he did not expect it to come so fast.

I guess, one who could adapt to change quickly must be wise.

Abigail was a smart woman who knew that his requirements would be more unacceptable if she was stalling for more time.

After thinking about it, Liam said leisurely, "Are you sure?"

"Of course, people like you,, Mr. Jones won't stop until they get what they want. Why don't I take advantage of this opportunity?" Abigail said.

Liam couldn't regard these words as praise though he gave them some thought.

However, there was no denying that this was the truth.

"Actually, nothing serious. I just have a case at hand that's a little tricky. Since Miss Swift is so capable, I'm sure you can handle it." Liam said.

After hearing his words, Abigail still couldn't believe it. "That's it?"

"That's it. Otherwise, what else do you think I will ask you to do?" Hearing Abigail's words with an incredulous tone, Liam joked.

Abigail had nothing to say, "...". Liam's words were so enigmatic that no one knew what he was thinking.

But that would be for the best.

"Okay, I will accept your request and I hope you keep your words and drop the charges against Tina," Abigail said.

Liam smiled after hearing Abigail's words, and said. "Miss Swift, don't be so confident. I will consider dropping the charges only if you settle the case!"

"You..." Abigail frowned.

"But don't worry, I won't sue her for the time being, and she won't go to jail either," Liam said.

Abigail was quite relieved after hearing his words.

That would be the best she could hope for now.

It was almost impossible for Liam to give in.

“Okay, it’s a deal,” Abigail said.

“Fair!” Liam said softly and then continued, “Miss Swift, welcome back to work.” After that, Liam hung up without saying anything.

Liam’s deep eyes narrowed slightly, and a determined smile rose from the corner of his mouth as he looked at the phone.

This result was within his expectations...

However, on the other side of the phone, Abigail also breathed a sigh of relief.

Abigail didn’t expect she would get back to the company in this way as she always convinced she would be leaving the Powerline Group.

Still, Tina was worth it.

But what Abigail didn’t know was that this was a conspiracy especially prepared for her...
