Her Wicked Ceo (Abigail and Liam)

Chapter 242

Bath of them calmed down almost at the same time and looked at Abigail with a smile.

"Nothing!"

"Nothing!"

Again, they almost spoke in unison.

Looking at them, Abigail was silent for a while and then said, "Well, I'm fine. The doctor also said there is nothing serious and that I can be discharged right now."

Hearing this, they were finally relieved.

"I'll take you home!"

"I'll take you home!"

Again, Liam and Leo said the same thing.

Abigail was a little surprised and looked at them.

'They should be a couple. That's quite good. Who will be the bottom? I bet it will be Leo.' Abigail began to imagine their date.

Liam and Leo also looked at each other, with no good attitude, but because Abigail was here, they couldn't lose their temper.

"I'll take you home." At this moment, Liam added, even in a dominating tone.

Leo ignored him and looked at her, also said, "Let me drive you home."

They were obviously fighting for Abigail.

Abigail stood there and looking, though she couldn't refuse anyone.

"Well… there is no need. I'm fine now. I can go back by myself." Abigail said.

The best way was to choose no one.

"No way."

"It's too dangerous."

They still spoke at the same time.

Although the words were different, they all showed the same concern for Abigail and even objected to her decision.

"Frank was not caught at the scene, so it will be still dangerous for you to go anywhere alone." Liam looked at her and said.

Hearing this, Abigail was shocked. She didn't expect that.

He hadn't been caught yet!

Therefore she had to admit that their insistence made sense.

It was a little dangerous for her to be alone.

But…

Looking at Liam and Leo, Abigail was in a dilemma without knowing what to do.

Just then, there was a sound outside.

"Abi!"

Hearing that, Abigail felt as if she was saved.

"Tina!" Abigail called out.

Finally, there was a way.

She curved her lips immediately.

"Mr. Jones, thanks for your kindness. But I'll go back with Tina. Besides, I have to ask for a one-day leave." Abigail looked at Liam and said.

Hearing that, Liam frowned. Had she just rejected him?

Abigail also looked at Leo. "Leo, it's getting late. Time for you back to work. Tina will drive me home. Thanks." Leo also went silent.

In the meantime, Abigail picked up her things.

At this moment, Tina came over. "Why are you in the hospital? I was shocked getting your call."

"Let's talk about it later." Abigail held Tina and said.

Tina was a bit confused until she saw Leo and Liam aside.

Well, she couldn't make a choice.

That was why she was called.

At this moment, Tina smiled and looked at them. "Mr. Jones, Mr. Harris, don't worry. I will definitely send Abi back safe and sound."

Abigail also smiled. "Mr. Jones, Leo, see you!"

Tina had already been here, and they could say nothing more.

Chapter 243

Seeing that Leo and Liam did not speak, Abigail pulled Tina away.

They left the hospital quickly. Abigail heaved a great sigh of relief.

She would suffer a lot sooner or later when she was in the same space with them.

At this moment, Liam and Leo departed one from another because they had no intention of staying there after Abigail left.

Almost at the same time, Abigail and Tina were in the car.

Abigail leaned back in the backrest. Tina looked sideways at Abigail while she drove, "Go ahead. What on earth happened?" Abigail could hardly say no to the siren song of Tina, so she told her what had happened.

The car stopped suddenly with a sudden brake before Abigail finished saying this.

Abigail leaned forward and almost hit the glass.

"Tina, I didn't die at the hands of Frank, but I was almost killed by you!" Abigail said. Fortunately, she put her hands over the glass at the last second.

Only then did Tina realize, "I didn't mean it. But what did you say? Kidnapping?"

Abigail nodded.

'Kidnapping!'

'Oh my god!"

Tina froze.

What happened to Abigail seemed like a moment in a TV drama. Tina couldn't believe it for a moment, so she slammed on the breaks.

When she came to her senses, she immediately looked at Abigail. "Are you all right? Did you get injured? Did that asshole do something to you?" As she spoke, she sized up Abigail to see if she was hurt.

Abigail smiled at Tina's anxiety and said, "I'm intact in front of you. I'm fine, T."

Tina was relieved to hear that. "How can you be in the hospital if you're fine. I'm worried about you."

"It was Liam who took me there," Abigail said.

Tina paused and then smiled when she heard this. "How do you feel about this? Are you touched? He's a shining knight who extremely cares about you."

Abigail rolled her eyes because Tina was tongue-in-cheek and interested in gossip, "Focus on driving."

Tina smiled, then started the car and continued driving.

Tina recalled what had happened that day and said, "No wonder I couldn't find you early that day. I called you but no one answered. I thought you were asleep, but I didn't expect you to be kidnapped."

Abigail nodded and said, "Actually, I remained horrified by the day. If Liam hadn't come in time, I don't know what would have happened."

It was rare for Abigail to give Liam compliments. When Tina heard it, she couldn't help but turn around and joke, "Well, you are touched, right?"

Abigail turned to look at her after she heard it. "What are you talking about?"

"Isn't it? As is known to all, hastening to her rescue is the easiest way to win a fair lady's heart. Liam is manly this time. You sure you're not into him?" Tina watched her and asked with a smile.

Chapter 244

Abigail also looked at her. "You also know that a moth darting into a fire was bringing destruction upon itself. I'm not a moth. I'm a clever human, so I won't do that." Abigail said.

Hearing her words, Tina shook her head. "You are too rational." "If I'm irrational, I will easily fall into a trap," Abigail said.

"How can that be? I think Liam has become very good now, and he saved you so heroically this time. I have a great change in my view of him." Tina said.
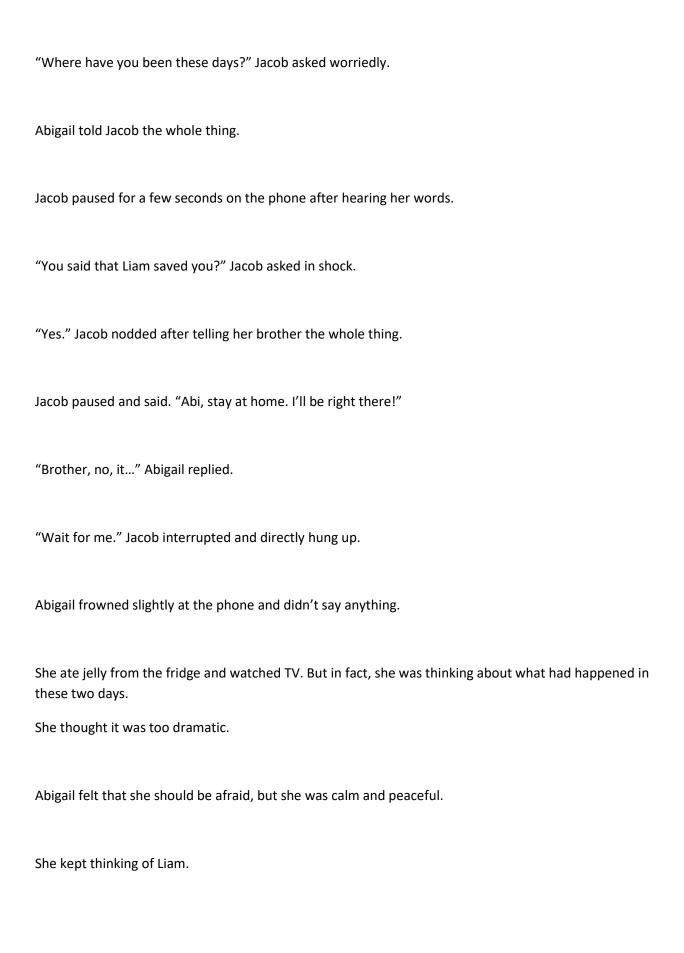

To be honest, she was also a little surprised to hear Abigail say this, but this was the fact that Liam's attitude towards Abigail was different from before.

Hearing this, Abigail frowned. "What did you get from him?" "Nothing." "Then why are you always praising him?" Abigail asked.

"Am I that kind of person? I'm honest." Tina said firmly.

Hearing this, Abigail raised her eyebrows and looked at Tina. "You mean, I should remarry him?" Tina, "Girl, although you are touched, you should be rational."

Looking at Tina's expression, Abigail burst into laughter.

Tina looked at her and knew that she said this on purpose. She looked at her. "Aren't you moved?"

for some reason, the scene of Liam on that day flashed through Abigail's mind. At that time, he untied her hands and feet, and for some reason, she fell into Liam's arms…

Thinking of this, Abigail suddenly came back to her senses.

Looking at Abigail, Tina asked, "What's wrong? What are you thinking?"

Abigail shook her head. "Nothing."

"You haven't answered me yet!" Tina said.

Abigail then remembered Tina's question and thought for a moment. "You know that being moved and love is two different things."

Anyway, Abigail could always have a lot of ways to persuade others.

Tina had always known that she stuck to her own perspective.

After thinking for a while, Tina smiled. "Then you will go through a transition period. Being moved will slowly become love…" Abigail was speechless.

She rolled her eyes. "Tina, when did you become a relationship expert?"

"Hahaha, for your happiness, I need to be an expert."

Abigail shook her head helplessly.

Just as she finished speaking, Tina suddenly thought of Leo. "Yes, and Leo. I can see that he has a crush on you too… God, both of them are so outstanding. Which one will you choose?" Tina said to herself.

Abigail was completely speechless.

Soon they arrived at Abigail's house.

They went upstairs.

"Do you want me to stay here with you?" Tina looked at her and asked.

"No, I just take a day off and I will go to work tomorrow," Abigail said.

"Go to work tomorrow? Baby, why don't you take a longer rest?" Tina looked at her and asked.

"It's better to go to the company than to rest at home and indulge in thoughts. Besides, I am good now." Abigail said.

Tina nodded and gave her a thumbs-up. "Dude, you are awesome."

Chapter 245

When sending Abigail who smiled and was silent upstairs, Tina looked around. "Frank won't come to you again, will he?"

"I don't think so. He doesn't know I live here. Besides, many people are looking for him." Abigail said.

Tina nodded. "Well, you should have a good rest. I'll come back to accompany you after work."

"Don't bother. I'll call you in need." Abigail said.

Tina nodded and looked at Abigail. "Well, remember to call me if you need anything."

Abigail nodded. Tina was about to leave and suddenly said. "By the way, remember to call your brother. He's looking for you too." Abigail paused.

"He knew?" Abigail asked.

Tina nodded. "Yep, he had been looking for you all day."

"How could he know?" Abigail asked.

Tina shook her head. "I don't know. If your brother hadn't called me, I wouldn't have known that you disappeared."

Then, Abigail nodded. "Okay, I see. I'll call him."

"Bye!" Tina left.

After Tina left, Abigail took a shower and changed her clothes. In fact, Abigail was not so sleepy after waking up in the hospital.

Then, she called Jacob.

Soon, Jacob answered the phone.

"Hello…"

"Brother," Abigail asked.

"Abi!"

Jacob answered the phone and asked worriedly. "Where are you now? Are you okay?" "I'm at home. I'm fine." Abigail said.

"Where have you been these days?" Jacob asked worriedly.

Abigail told Jacob the whole thing.

Jacob paused for a few seconds on the phone after hearing her words.

"You said that Liam saved you?" Jacob asked in shock.

"Yes." Jacob nodded after telling her brother the whole thing.

Jacob paused and said. "Abi, stay at home. I'll be right there!"

"Brother, no, it…" Abigail replied.

"Wait for me." Jacob interrupted and directly hung up.

Abigail frowned slightly at the phone and didn't say anything.

She ate jelly from the fridge and watched TV. But in fact, she was thinking about what had happened in these two days.

She thought it was too dramatic.

Abigail felt that she should be afraid, but she was calm and peaceful.

She kept thinking of Liam.

She remembered when they held each other.

Abigail didn't know why she would subconsciously embrace him.

But Abigail knew that at that moment, she believed Liam.

Chapter 246

Just as she was thinking about it, the doorbell suddenly rang.

Abigail was dazed and then recovered from her pondering. She remembered that Jacob was coming, so she stood up and went to the door.

She looked at the person standing there and confirmed that it was Jacob, and then she opened the door.

"Abi!"

Abigail stood at the door and called him.

When he saw Abigail, Jacob rushed in.

"Abi, how are you? Is there anything wrong? Did he do anything to you?" Jacob looked at Abigail and asked.

Abigail stood there, looking at Jacob's worried look, and she smiled. "I'm fine. Nothing happened."

After hearing Abigail's words, Jacob looked at her, "He really… didn't do anything to you?"

Abigail was stupefied and soon understood what Jacob meant. Then she smiled, "Of course not. I'm absolutely fine.' Hearing that, Jacob was relieved a little.

"Okay, then that's great," Jacob said to her in relief. Seeing that Abigail was safe and sound, he took a deep breath.

Abigail stood there and clearly heard Jacob breathe a sigh of relief.

"Come on in and have a seat."

Hearing that, Jacob walked in.

"What do you want to drink?" Abigail asked.

"As you please."

Then, Abigail made some coffee for him and brought it over.

"By the way, Mom and Dad didn't know that, did they?" Abigail looked at Jacob and asked.

Jacob nodded. "I was afraid they would worry, so I didn't tell them." Abigail nodded and looked at Jacob. "I'm sorry for making you worried, Jacob."

Upon hearing Abigail's words, Jacob looked at her. "Abi, I'm your brother. I am supposed to look after you. You don't have to say those words."

Upon hearing that, Abigail nodded.

"By the way, how did you know I was missing?" Abigail asked.

Immediately, Jacob's look changed, "It was Liam who told me."

When she heard the name, she paused in a daze and then nodded.

It seemed that Liam had been looking for her for the past few days.

When noticing that Abigail didn't say much, Jacob no longer asked.

Jacob frowned. "I didn't expect Frank to be so bold. I will punish him since he did such a thing."

Upon hearing that, Abigail suddenly realized something, and she asked hastily, "What do you want to do? He is being wanted now. You don't have to do anything else. I don't want you to do anything beyond the boundary."

Hearing Abigail's words, Jacob smiled. "Don't worry, how could I do something beyond the boundary? I just want to teach him a lesson. Don't worry, I won't cross the line or do anything unjustified."

"Jacob," Abigail called him. She didn't want Jacob to be involved.

For her, the past was the past. She didn't want to make things more complicated.

While looking at Abigail's worried look, Jacob said, "Don't worry, I promise I won't go too far."

"But it has gone. " Abigail said.

Chapter 247

Seeing Abigail insist, Jacob thought about it and nodded. "Okay, you win. I won't do anything to him," Jacob said.

He didn't want to upset Abigail.

Abigail's face relaxed into a smile. "I know you're worried about me, but it's over. I don't want you to be bothered by it and do anything for me," Abigail said.

Jacob nodded. "Okay, as you wish."

Abigail was relieved.

They chatted for a while before Jacob left.

"Have a good rest at home. Call me if you need anything," he said.

Abigail nodded.

As soon as he left, Abigail threw herself on the sofa. After chatting for so long, she was a little sleepy. So, she went straight to bed.

She didn't wake up until the afternoon.

Her phone was on the nightstand and had been placed in silent mode. She took it over as she usually did after waking up. Tina's call happened to come in at this time.

Abigail picked it up without hesitation.

"Hello…"

"Abigail, why didn't you answer your phone?" Tina shouted immediately after she got through.

"What's wrong?" Abigail asked lazily. She'd just woken up and still felt drowsy.

"Do you know how many calls I've made to you? You didn't answer any of them," Tina roared.

Abigail answered apologetically, "I was sleeping and my phone is in silent mode. I didn't hear your calls."

"I've been so worried," Tina said.

Abigail heard her concerned voice and replied, "Sorry to worry you. What are you doing?"

"I called to tell you I'm going on a business trip, but you didn't pick up your phone. So I asked for leave to check on you," Tina said.

Abigail felt really sorry.

"I'm so sorry. I didn't hear your calls," Abigail said.

"Well, I forgive you. I was so scared and was about to call your brother," Tina said.

Abigail chuckled. "Go prepare for your business trip. You don't need to come over."

"You're fine alone?" Tina asked.

"Of course. I'm used to living alone. Nothing can go wrong," Abigail said. After talking with Tina, she was totally awake now.

Tina nodded. "Well, just feel free to call me if you need anything."

"Okay."

"That's it. I gotta go. My leader is waiting for me!"

"OK!" Abigail answered and hung up the phone.

Abigail lay on her soft bed and looked at her phone. Tina had called her so many times. Abigail felt touched.

It was a good thing to have someone worry about her.

She put her phone back on the nightstand and got up after lying for a few more minutes.

She hadn't intended to sleep for so long. She felt hungry now and planned to find something to eat.

She hadn't been home for two days and the refrigerator was empty. Abigail changed her clothes and was going to the supermarket to buy food.

She'd narrowly survived that day. She decided to make a celebratory dinner for herself.

Chapter 248

After changing her clothes, Abigail tied her hair up, put on comfortable leisure wears, and wore a pair of glasses. Then she went out.

Abigail was already familiar with this area, and she liked going to the supermarket in the afternoon.

She always felt that people needed to enjoy life, not to endure it. Therefore, she would often go to the supermarket to buy things and cook on her own. Although life expense was a little high, she actually enjoyed it quite a lot.

When she arrived at the supermarket, she picked some vegetables, snacks and some other small stuff. The things she chose were all from the brands she often used.

After an hour of shopping, Abigail paid and went back with her things.

It wasn't very far from home. She could arrive home in a few minutes.

Abigail walked back with a bag of things.

However, as soon as she arrived, Abigail saw a familiar figure.

It was not others but Liam, who was on the phone.

And as soon as he turned around, he saw Abigail.

'Why is he here?" Abigail wondered in her mind.

When he saw Abigail standing not far away, and when he saw Abigail's outfit, Liam was shocked for a moment. Then he looked her up and down. When he was sure that he had not mistaken her, Liam walked up.

"Where have you been?" Liam looked at her and asked in a worried voice.

Abigail frowned and stood there. Looking at Liam's nervous look, she said leisurely, "I went to the supermarket to buy something."

"Then why didn't you answer the phone?" Liam asked. He was so worried when she didn't answer his phone.

Abigail blinked. "I didn't take it with me!"

Liam was speechless.

Looking at Abigail, he gritted his teeth, but there was nothing he could do.

"Do you know how worried I am?" Liam looked at her and asked.

'Worried?"

When Liam said this, Abigail felt a little awkward.

But she couldn't complain about his kindness. After thinking about it, Abigail said, "I'm sorry, I didn't know you would call me. I just went to the supermarket, so I didn't bring my phone."

After giving her a few fierce glances and knowing that she didn't mean it, Liam heaved a sigh of relief.

Looking at her, he said, "You must keep your phone at all times, and keep it on." Liam looked at her and said word by word.

Abigail could only nod.

Looking at what Abigail was holding, Liam reached out and took it.

Abigail was in a daze and looked at him. Just as she was about to say something, Liam went away. "Let's go back first. It's not safe outside."

Hearing this, Abigail followed him.

When they arrived at the elevator, Liam asked directly, "Which floor?" "Sixteenth."

Liam pressed the button of 16 in the elevator.

He suddenly remembered something and said, "You're not very safe yet. You'd better not go around. If you have anything to buy, just tell me."

Abigail stood aside and heard Liam's words. "Is it really so dangerous?" Abigail asked.

Just then, the elevator opened. Liam looked back at Abigail. "Do you want to experience it again?"

Chapter 249

He was right.

She couldn't find a reason to refute.

Liam walked out of the elevator with bags of goods in his hands. Abigail followed.

"Which room?" He asked.

She pointed at her room.

"Get it open."

His command made her feel like a nanny of his. Irritated, she said nothing but opened the door.

Liam walked in without any politeness a guest should have.

She bore it in silence.

Then she walked in.

"Where shall I put them?" He asked.

This was the first time he had come to Abigail's house. It was not what he had imagined.

The house where they lived together was not decorated in this style, but a modern style that made him feel warm and comfortable.

"On the table." She pointed to the table and said.

He obeyed it.

Abigail considered how to get him out of here. She was uncomfortable when they were under the same roof.

She was about to speak when Liam began to tour the room.

"Do you live alone?"

"Yes." She nodded.

"Simple but nice design." Liam nodded affirmatively as he looked.

She was amused. "It's just a shabby abode compared with your house."

'A shabby abode?"

'Is she not particular about the living environment?"

He thought it actually mattered a lot to her.

The goods she had bought just now could convince him that she cared about each part of life.

Or else, why didn't she buy some instant noodles?"

Liam did not take her words seriously. He continued his visit.

Abigail stood aside and found that he had no intention of leaving. Ignoring him, she began to sort out what she had bought in the kitchen.

"Do you often cook?" Liam asked behind her.

Abigail was startled by his voice and looked over at him with a frown. "Mr. Jones, do you want to scare me to death?"

"You're too preoccupied." He said.

She had no mood to argue with him. After a deep breath, she continued her work.

"You haven't answered my question." He waited for her reply. In fact, her proficiency had told him everything.

"Yes, I do." She nodded. If she didn't answer, he must keep asking.

"Are you to cook now?"

Before she made an answer, he asked again, "How about spaghetti?"

"Well, though I can…"

"Okay, that's it. I'll eat here today."

She could not hold her temper anymore.

Looking back at him, she said, "Mr. Jones, I didn't invite you for a meal."

He was not affected by her words but looked at her. "Do you mean I am not welcomed here?"

"No, but I didn't invite you to stay here."

Chapter 250

"You didn't say it but I know you think so," Liam said.

Abigail was rendered speechless.

She didn't think that way at all.

"You want to cook me a good meal because I saved your life. Good. Go ahead," Liam said.

Abigail clenched her fists!

He'd saved her life.

Did he think she owed a deep debt of gratitude to him? Fine.

She admitted that she was beholden to him.

It was true that he'd saved her life.

Abigail relented and asked, "You want spaghetti?" Liam raised his eyebrows languidly.

"But I didn't buy spaghetti."

"Then just cook with what you bought. I'm not picky," Liam said.

There was nothing Abigail could say.

So she started cooking.

Seeing Abigail compromise, Liam smiled.

Just then, the doorbell rang.

Abigail turned to open the door, but Liam said, "I'll get it." Abigail watched him walking to answer the door and resumed cooking.

Liam was startled when he opened the door.

Outside the door, Leo was startled too.

He hadn't expected to see Liam here.

"Seriously?"

"Why are you here?"

The two of them asked in unison.

Liam smirked, "I'm here for the same reason you're here."

Looking at his cocky face, Leo didn't say anything.

Abigail turned her head and saw Liam standing there talking. She frowned and asked, "Who is it?" Hearing Abigail's voice, Leo walked straight in.

"It's me."

Abigail was surprised too when she saw Leo. This was the last situation she expected.

The two men met again.

Abigail smiled stiffly.

Moreover, Leo had a bunch of flowers in his hand. Abigail asked, "What brought you here?"

"I was worried about you, so I came to have a look," Leo replied casually.

Abigail smiled and walked to him. "I'm fine."

Leo gave the flowers to Abigail. "It's for you!"

Looking at the big bouquet of flowers, Abigail took it with a smile. She sniffed and said, "I like it very much. Thank you." Looking at Abigail, Leo raised a big smile.

While Liam looked very bad.

He couldn't understand why Abigail looked so happy. It was just a bunch of flowers.

"I'll go find a vase for the flowers."

As she spoke, Abigail walked towards the bedroom.

Leo and Liam were left in the living room.

Abigail was tired of mediating between the two of them. She wouldn't interfere with them even if they were going to fight. She didn't want to be bothered anymore.

She would just look the other way.

Sure enough, as soon as Abigail left, the fight began.

"You're so considerate," Liam said.

Leo gave him a smile and said, "I'm always considerate to her." Liam was angry because of his words.

It seemed that Leo was determined to win Abigail's heart.

That thought annoyed Liam but he managed to say in an unperturbed voice, "I'm afraid it'll be harder than you think to win her favor. My ex-wife is a little bit of a nitpicker."
