Chapter 1691

The corner of Kento's mouth was raised slightly as he remarked, "So what if it has something to do with us? You're already on the verge of death. How can you interfere in this matter?"

"Huh!" Fade sneered. He looked at Kento and shook his head. "It seems that you really don't know me well!"

"Do you really think that you will win with just a few people?" Fade shouted coldly as he took a step forward. His aura burst out and enveloped Kento and the rest of them.

Feeling this majestic momentum, Kento's face quickly fell as he asked, "This boy is a Heaven Level master?"

Filex nodded and answered, "Yes. He is a young martial arts master in our country."

Haruo, the black-robed monk replied coldly, "So what if he's a Heaven Level master? He's already been defeated."

Just then, Fade walked towards them, and the great momentum of his body was getting nearer, adding more pressure onto Kento.

"How could his aura be so powerful!" Kento was once again shocked.

Filex's face darkened. He gritted his teeth and added, "This boy once killed two early stage of Heaven Level martial artist."

"What? He killed two people? Wouldn't that mean that his strength has already reached the middle stage of the Heaven Level?" Kento fell into a shock.

Even Haruo's expression was grim. However, he proceeded to reply firmly, "So what? I didn't lose when I faced an ordinary Middle-stage Heaven Level martial artist. With you two here, he's no match for us."

These words gave Filex and Kento a lot of courage. They also exposed the aura of their positive energy, and launched an attack against Fade.

In the blink of an eye, the energy of four Heaven Level martial artists clashed with each other in the Akao family manor.

The majestic aura spread out and brought down some of the buildings.. Due to the four people's attack, it collapsed in half.

When Kento saw this, his heart ached. He gritted his teeth and shouted, "We can't drag this on anymore. Kill him!"

Haruo's expression was solemn as he let out a heavy snort. His robe fluttered without the presence of the wind, and the aura of his positive energy burst out and attacked Fade. This time, he used his full strength.

Filex and Kento didn't hold back. Their positive energy burst out from within their bodies and attacked Fade from both sides.

This violent energy broke out and knocked down another part of the building in the manor.

Narumi was protecting Liza and the others, while Eilert protected Cindy. They kept retreating, afraid that they would be impacted by the aftershocks of the attack.

Liza and Cindy's faces were filled with worry as they glanced at the chaos not far away.

"Mr. Chen will be fine, right?"

"Can he really win?"

.....

At this moment, in the middle of the battle, Fade felt that Liza and the others had retreated far away.

A cold smile played on the corner of his mouth. He looked at the three people who were besieging him and said, "I've played with you for so long, and it's almost time. I'm going to fight back."

"What an arrogant brat!" Haruo cried out. A violent energy once again came surging over, with the momentum to kill.

At this moment, when faced with his attack, Fade had a fearless smile on his face. He waved his hand, and a blast of positive energy burst out. With a rumble, it blocked Haruo's energy and shattered it.

"How could it be? My attack..." Haruo was stunned. He had not expected that his desperate attack had been broken by Fade easily.

Without waiting for him to come back to his senses, Fade continued with his attack. He struck out with a burst of energy casually, and with a whoosh, he whizzed over.

The attack was so fast that Haruo could not dodge it at all, and he was hit right in the chest. He grunted as he spat out a mouthful of blood, falling onto the ground.

Haruo, who was the strongest among the three, had been defeated by Fade with one single blow.

Such a situation greatly shocked Kento and made his heart tremble. He couldn't help but shout, "Filex, what's wrong with you? How could reality be so different from the information that you provided? How could you not inform us earlier that this brat was so powerful!"

Filex had estimated that Fade's strength was probably at the middle stage of the Heaven Level. He thought that he had overestimated it. However, he did not expect that he had underestimated him instead.

Of course, this was because he didn't know that Fade had defeated a Late Stage Heaven Level martial artist from the hidden family. Otherwise, he wouldn't have dared to fight Fade in such a situation.

However, it was too late. Even if he didn't want to fight, he had no other choice.

Filex and Kento gritted their teeth and used all their strength. They broke out all their energy and attacked Fade desperately.

Unfortunately, their attacks were not as powerful as Haruo's attacks. Even if they managed to hit Fade, they could not hurt him at all.

On the other hand, Fade exerted some energy and left several bloody holes in Filex and Kento's body instantly.

After ten seconds, Kento and Filex had completely lost their will to fight. They fell to the ground and could no longer move.

Hearing the noisy fighting sounds around the manor, Fade stepped forward and lifted up Kento in the air with his right hand.

With a light leap, his body jumped higher than ten meters. He stood at the highest point of the building of the Akao family and shouted in a loud voice, "Kento has been defeated!"

As he shouted, everyone's attention was drawn to him.

When they saw Kento in Fade's hand, the members of the Akao family, who were still resisting, lost their will to fight immediately. They either turned around and fled, or dropped their weapons and surrendered.

The battle was over. Liza's people had won a complete victory and controlled the manor of the Akao family.

Narumu and Liza would handle the rest of the affairs of Hachi Clan. Therefore, Fade focused on Professor Song's affairs.

He carried the three people who had lost their fighting power, found a room in the Akao family, and threw them inside.

07:47

Eilert and Cindy rushed over and shook their heads at Fade, saying, "We have searched the entire Akao family manor. Professor Song is not here."

He snorted coldly and jumped out. After a while, he brought Genkiro back.

After carrying Genkiro into the room, Fade looked at the three people on the ground and interrogated them with a cold face. "Where is Professor Song?"

No one answered him.

Fade's face fell. He struck Genkiro with his palm, and instantly destroyed one of his arms. He swept his gaze over the few people and shouted coldly, "Does anyone have anything to say now?"

07:47

Chapter 1692

Genkiro rolled on the ground in pain with tears and snot streaming down his face. He said quickly, "I'll tell you. I'll tell you."

"Say it!" Fade shouted.

"When Professor Song first arrived in Osko City, I sent someone to pick him up," Genkiro replied. "But I only did that after receiving an order from Kento. Moreover, Professor Song didn't stay with me. He left and went to Tosika City. As for the rest, I don't know."

"You really don't?" Fade shouted coldly.

"Yes, I'm telling the truth," Genkiro answered immediately.

Fade looked at Kento and asked coldly, "Tell me, what happened to Professor Song? Where is he now?"

"Well, I..." Kento's eyes flickered.

Fade shot a burst of energy into Kento's abdomen unceremoniously, ruining his cultivation. "If you don't answer me, you will die. You don't have the luxury of hesitating now."

"I'll tell you, I'll tell you!" Kento endured the pain and answered in a hurry, "In fact, I am not the mastermind behind the matter of Professor Song. It was the people from Mokao Temple who ordered me to do it. They just informed me and asked me to send someone to pick up Professor Song. After he arrived here, he was taken to Mokao Temple the next day."

"Mokao Temple?" Fade repeated.

Kento glanced at Haruo beside him before he continued, "Mokao Temple is a secret martial arts clan of Jopeno. It has gathered the strongest group of martial artists in Jopeno. They are very mysterious, and outsiders have no idea of their whereabouts."

"He is the person sent by Mokao Temple to assist me." While speaking, Kento glanced at Haruo.

Fade turned his gaze to Haruo and asked coldly, "Tell me, what's the situation with Mokao Temple? What's your purpose in attacking Professor Song?"

Haruo laid on the ground, not saying a word.

"How dare you!" Seeing this, Fade gathered a burst of positive energy from his palm and struck the left arm of Haruo, shattering it.

However, Haruo only grunted and remained silent.

Seeing this, Fade frowned. He seemed to realize something. He leaned over, grabbed the chin of Haruo, and opened his mouth.

Fade saw that his mouth was a bloody mess; his tongue had been bitten to pieces. He couldn't speak at all.

In an instant, Fade's gaze turned sharp as he regarded him coldly.

While resisting the intention of killing him, his eyes fell on Filex and asked in a cold voice, "It's your turn! Tell me, why did you commit treason? What do you, Filex, know about Professor Song?"

"I-I don't know anything!" Filex grinned. He spat out a mouthful of black blood, tilted his body and fell to the ground, and his breath stopped.

Seeing this, Fade couldn't help but be furious, and his expression quickly fell.

After calming down for a few minutes, Fade suppressed the anger in his heart. He instructed Eilert and Cindy, "You should report to the country about Filex's rebellion. Make them prepare for a thorough investigation."

"Next, I'm going to Mokao Temple. You don't have to follow me."

Eilert wanted to say something, however, when the words came to his lips, he just nodded and answered, "Okay!"

Cindy stared at Fade with a concerned look and reminded, "Be careful."

"Don't worry. They are just a few Jopeno martial artists. They can't hurt me," Fade replied confidently.

He shot out two streams of strength and killed both Kento and Genkiro. He left and carried Haruo with him.

In the afternoon, Fade appeared in a quiet jungle. His body leaped gently, jumped to the top of a large tree, and looked far into the distance. He saw a temple built halfway up the mountain soon to the left.

"Is that it?" Fade pointed in the direction of the temple. He patted Haruo in his hand.

At this moment, Haruo was covered in blood, and his breath was weak. He seemed like he would die at any time. He was no longer as determined as before. When faced with Fade's inquiry, he only glanced at him and nodded obediently.

Seeing this, Fade jumped from the top of the tree, and his figure jumped in the forest quickly, heading for the temple halfway up the mountain.

A quarter of an hour later, he arrived at the gate of the temple.

This temple was built against the mountain wall. It was not very large, and the buildings were a little old and rundown.

07:47

However, at this moment, the two monks standing at the gate of the temple were sweeping the floor with brooms in their hands. Fade narrowed his eyes, instantly confirming that this was indeed the place that he was looking for.

That was because the two young monks who swept the floor were actually Earth Level martial artists.

Not to mention the ordinary temples, even the Heaven Level clans would not be so extravagant.

It looked like Mokao Temple was indeed the place where the elite martial artists of Jopeno gathered. As for the purpose of their gathering here, Fade would have to go in and investigate.

Without any fear, he carried Haruo and strode towards the temple.

The two young monks who were sweeping the floor stopped them with a smile on their faces. They bowed to Fade and said politely, "Sir, please stop. The temple is not open to the public. Please return."

As soon as he opened his mouth, these two people turned out to be well-spoken countrymen, which made Fade even more surprised.

At the same time, he was further convinced that Mokao Temple was not an ordinary place.

"I am a guest invited by Mokao Temple. Ask him if you don't believe me." While speaking, Fade showed Haruo in his hands.

As soon as the two young monks saw Haruo, they were shocked and their expressions changed dramatically in an instant.

"Master Haruo."

"What's wrong with you, Master Haruo?"

Instead of answering, Fade interrupted them coldly, "Can I enter now?"

The two young monks glared fiercely at him, their eyes filled with anger. The positive energy in their bodies began to gather, as if they were about to launch an attack.

When Fade saw this, he snorted coldly, and his eyes were filled with a sharp chill.

Just as the two sides were about to strike, a deep middle-aged man's voice came from the temple. "Laddie, Hardey, you can leave."

When the two young monks heard the voice, they turned to look and saluted respectfully. "Master Jaegar!"

"You may leave!" The monk called Jaegar, dressed in a black robe, was about the same size as the monk in Fade's arms.

Jaegar looked to be around fifty years old. He had a smile on his lips and a kind look on his face. However, Fade could sense the aura fluctuations of the Heaven Level emanating from him, and he did not believe that Jaegar was kind-hearted.

After the two little monks left, Jaegar glanced at Haruo in Fade's arms, and then at Fade. He smiled as he greeted, "Since you're a guest invited by Haruo, please come in!"

Chapter 1693

Fade was a little surprised by Jaegar's calmness. However, he did not show any fear as he carried Haruo into Mokao Temple with him.

There were more than a dozen monks in the temple. When they saw Fade entering with Haruo, they couldn't help but stop their movements, and their faces were clouded with anger, as if they wanted to rush up and attack him.

Fade breathed a sigh of relief when he saw this. This was the normal reaction that he had expected. On the other hand, Jaeger's friendliness and calmness was out of place.

Ignoring the hatred in their eyes, Fade entered the hall.

The main hall was not large. In the center of the hall, there was a Buddha statue that was about five or six meters tall. However, it was not the Buddha statue of Sakyamuni in most temples, nor was it the Buddha statue familiar to Fade, such as Maitreya.

Instead, it was a statue of Buddha, whose body was covered in red, and its eyes were full of anger and stained with blood.

The Buddha statue was not a Buddha, but a kind of demon from hell.

Fade couldn't help but stare at the statue. All of a sudden, he felt dizzy and nauseous.

He was shocked, and his eyes were a little fierce. "Is this poison, or some other attack?"

There was no expression on his face. He circulated his positive energy immediately and checked his body to make sure that he had not been poisoned.

At this moment, the feeling of dizziness in his mind grew even more prominent.

However, he wasn't in a hurry to say anything. Instead, he continued to follow after Jaegar.

Jaegar walked towards the devil-like Buddha statue and stopped. He sat down in front of a small table before the Buddha statue and motioned for Fade to sit down. "Mr. Chen, please sit."

Fade raised an eyebrow as he glanced at the red Buddha statue beside him, and replied, "Mokao Temple is indeed not ordinary, serving guests in front of the Buddha statue in the hall."

Jaegar smiled. He picked up a long and thin incense, rubbed it gently, and lit it. Then, he inserted it into the incense burner.

He looked at Fade and answered with a smile, "The Teachings of Buddhism are endless, and the cultivation is undefined. We are martial artists, so there is no need to follow the rules of ordinary people. Moreover, cultivating in front of the Buddha statue is also a kind of exercise for one's mind and spirit."

"Master Jaegar's words do make sense," Fade nodded his head and agreed.

At this time, Jaegar picked up a small pot made from yellow mud, poured a cup of tea for Fade, and also a cup for himself.

He took the initiative to take a sip of his tea as he smiled. "There are no expensive things for guests, only some wild tea from this temple. Please forgive us, Mr. Chen."

Fade looked at Jaegar who took another sip of tea. He picked up the teacup and took a light sniff. After identifying it, he realized that it wasn't poisoned.

07:48

Thus, he picked up the teacup and took a sip.

The tea was bland yet slightly fragrant, but it tasted good.

Seeing this, the smile on Jaegar's face grew wider, and he began to talk with Fade about Buddhism. He was not in a hurry at all, not even the slightest bit anxious.

Jaegar didn't even spare Haruo, who was dying, another glance when Fade placed him beside them casually.

Fade chatted with the Jaegar from time to time, observing his expression constantly, trying to figure out what his purpose was, and why he was being so polite to him.

Half an hour passed in the blink of an eye.

The small teapot had already been filled twice. The long and thin sandalwood incense had been changed twice. The hall was quiet. There was only the sound of two people chatting. The faint sandalwood smoke in the air mixed with the tea fragrance. It smelled refreshing.

Fade turned his head and looked at the red Buddha statue that was surrounded by the smoke.

The Buddha statue, which previously did not appear too tall, seemed to be much bigger amidst the clouds of smoke. Its ferocious expression also became bright red, as if the whole Buddha statue had come alive.

He immediately grew alert. He could not help but continued staring at the Buddha statue.

As soon as he saw it, he was shocked.

When he stared into the eyes of the Buddha statue, his head seemed to have been hit by an invisible force. He felt dizzy, and his body couldn't help but tremble.

However, he knew that his body hadn't been harmed in the slightest. Jaeger, who was sitting across from him, continued to drink his tea, his expression remaining unchanged.

Fade shook his head in confusion.

He raised his head carefully again and swept his gaze over the Buddha statue.

As a result, when his gaze came into contact with the Buddha statue's eyes again, the feeling of being heavily hit in the head became more obvious. He actually felt a little nauseous.

Not to mention a martial artist like Fade, even a Yellow Level martial artist wouldn't have such a feeling of vomiting and fainting when they hadn't been harmed in the slightest.

At this time, Fade was sure that something was wrong. He had been attacked.

He had confirmed that it was not an attack like poisoning. Coupled with the dizzy feeling in his head, he thought of something and his heart tightened suddenly. "It's a mental attack. My mind has been attacked."

A martial artist focused on training their body and vitality. A normal attack was also a bombardment of the body.

Even if he was strong in the late stage, cultivated the aura of positive energy, and was able to release it to harm others, it was still considered an attack to his own body.

In terms of mental state, martial artists' cultivation was much weaker. In other words, they weren't able to cultivate, thus, they didn't know much about it.

Even the martial artists in the Heaven Level were not much stronger than the ordinary people in terms of spirit. They were just a little more strong-willed.

Therefore, if someone could launch a mental attack on a martial artist, it would be a rare means of attack. It would not be so difficult for the weak to defeat the strong.

When Fade was still on Tianwu Mountain, he had asked the old fogey if he had any mental cultivation methods.

As a result, even a top-level expert like the old fogey kicked Fade away. He said that if there was a way to cultivate mental attack, he would definitely use it first.

When Fade learned about the situation, he felt incomparably regretful. However, at the same time, he understood that there were very few methods to cultivate mental attacks. It could even be said that there were none. Under these circumstances, it didn't have much of an impact on him.

Chapter 1694

After all, things that were difficult to obtain by the old fogey were even more difficult for others to obtain. Thus, there were very few people who cultivated the mental attack method. It was also very difficult to attack Fade, and he did not have to worry about this at all.

Since he had left the mountain, he had encountered numerous martial artists, both strong and weak. However, he had never met any martial artist who cultivated their mental power. Therefore, he had never cared about these things.

Only then did he realize that this was a mental attack when his head was dizzy.

He hadn't been poisoned, and Jaegar opposite him didn't make a move either.

After entering the main hall, Fade felt dizzy after he saw the Buddha statue, and Jaegar had arranged for him to sit in front of the Buddha statue to chat with him deliberately. As well as the burning sandalwood and the fragrant tea, these were all the aids to the mental attack.

Jaegar had realised his true strength and knew that he, who was at the middle stage of the Heaven Level, would not be Fade's opponent if he resisted. Therefore, after he saw him, he remained calm. He did not even care about Haruo. He even entertained Fade warmly.

Perhaps, he wanted to take this opportunity to launch a mental attack unconsciously to weaken Fade's strength.

If he continued to do this secretly, Fade's mind would be affected, and he might even faint in the end. At that time, Jaegar would be able to take action, control him, and even kill him.

As he thought of this, Fade couldn't help but feel a chill in his heart as he looked at Jaegar opposite him with a cold expression.

He had still thought that Jaegar was calm and friendly. He hadn't thought that he had this sneaky trick up his sleeve.

On second thought, he felt that it was natural. Fade injured Haruo and was involved in the matter of Professor Song. How could Jaegar be nice to him?

Thinking of this, he started thinking about how to deal with it.

Should he make his move immediately and defeat Jaegar before he was affected by his attack?

Or would it be better to continue, pretending to suffer the mental attack and find out his conspiracy? It should be known that even the old fogey did not have methods for mental cultivation or attack.

If Fade could take the opportunity to get relevant things, he would gain a lot.

Thinking of this, he couldn't help but be tempted.

However, it was just his thoughts. If he wanted to carry out his plan, he had to think of a way to take on the mental attack.

Otherwise, he would not be pretending to faint, but would actually really pass out by then.

He did not have much experience in resisting mental attacks, he could only rely on his guesses.

A martial artist cultivated his positive energy and vitality through his meridians and these finally gathered at his dantian abdomen.

07:48

If he could cultivate his mind, perhaps there should also be a place to gather it, and it was probably in his mind.

As he strategized internally, he slowly began to make his move.

He collected his thoughts and began to follow the dizzying sensation and searched in his head.

After all, if it was really a mental attack, just like how a martial artist attacked the opponent's dantian abdomen, the mental attack would also attack the place where he stored his energy.

Following these thoughts, it didn't take long for Fade to find a place in his mind.

The feeling of dizziness in his head seemed to all hit this spot. In his mind, he imagined that it was a solid object like a peach kernel. The invisible dizziness rushed to the tiny solid object quietly.

The attacking power wasn't that strong. Under normal circumstances, if one was attacked once or twice, they wouldn't even be able to detect it at all. Even if they did, they wouldn't care; it wouldn't cause too much of an effect.

However, Fade had stayed by the statue for a long period of time. As these weak mental attacks accumulated, it would definitely have an impact on him.

"That tiny solid core should be the place where the human body's spirit is stored. It's similar to the dantian that stores positive energy. The opponent's spirit is attacking my tiny core. Next, it's time to defend," Fade pondered. However, he didn't know how to defend himself.

At this moment, he could only try little by little according to his guesses.

If his dantian was attacked by the external positive energy, the most instinctive reaction of a martial artist would probably be to activate his positive energy to fight against his opponent.

Based on this kind of deduction, if a tiny core was under mental attack, it should be able to activate one's willpower to resist an external mental attack.

However, Fade had never cultivated mental power, and he didn't know the method of cultivation. At this moment, he didn't know if there was any mental power in his tiny core that could resist external attacks.

Regardless of whether he had it or not, he wanted to give it a try.

He concentrated, thinking about the tiny core in his brain silently; his attention was extremely concentrated. It was as if he had turned into a visible energy, extending into his mind, touching his own tiny mental core lightly.

As he touched it, his mental core trembled slightly, and a wave of water rippled out.

As the ripples spread out, the tiny and weak mental energy attacks were crushed instantly and dissipated, leaving no traces.

At this time, Fade could clearly feel that the feeling of dizziness was disappearing; he was awake in an instant.

"It's working!" He was overjoyed.

However, he did not show it. Instead, he glanced at Jaegar who was smiling in front of him, and made up his mind. Since he had a way to defend against his mental attacks, then his plan of faking a faint could be carried out.

Thinking of this, the clarity in his eyes flashed. He continued to chat with Jaegar on the opposite side, pretending to be dizzy.

While chatting, Fade had no scruples at all. He took large gulps of the tea and absorbed large mouthfuls of sandalwood smoke.

About a quarter of an hour later, he patted his head and looked at Jaegar, and asked, "What's going on? Your hospitality is so warm that I'm so relaxed, that I even feel a little sleepy."

When Jaegar heard this, his eyes showed a hint of pleasant surprise. However, he held himself back as he answered with a smile, "Mr. Chen, if you're sleepy, you can rest in Mokao Temple."

"I'll have to trouble you, Master Jaegar." Fade laughed as he stood up. His body swayed, and he almost fell to the ground.

Jaegar stood up immediately to support him. "Be careful, Mr. Chen."

Fade's eyes rolled at that moment. He looked sleepy, and leaned on Jaegar suddenly. Then, he fell asleep, even letting out a soft snore.

Chapter 1695

When Jaegar saw this, he called out to Fade gently and patted him a few times. Seeing that he did not react, Jaegar was certain that he had been struck, and that he had passed out.

The warm smile on Jaegar's face was instantly replaced with a sinister expression. He threw Fade onto the ground as he murmured, "You d*mned brat, how dare you hurt Haruo. You will pay the price for your actions."

As he spoke, he picked up Haruo, who had been left alone previously, and immediately sent for people to treat him.

At the same time, several black shadows appeared in the main hall of the temple.

A few of them were dressed in black robes that were similar to Jaegar's. They were probably monks from Mokao Temple, and their strengths were all around the early stage of the Heaven Level.

In addition, there were two tall foreigners, which made Fade, who had pretended to faint, a little surprised.

The two tall, golden-haired foreigners were very familiar with Jaegar and the others. They said something quickly, and then their gazes fell on Fade.

"How should we deal with him?" A monk pointed at Fade and asked.

Another monk had a resentful look on his face as he responded, "Let's just kill him. He dared to hurt Haruo."

Jaegar's gazes were also filled with killing intent as he looked at Fade.

07:49

One of the two blonde foreigners stepped forward and interrupted him, "Don't be rash. Fade is here to look for Professor Song. Perhaps he can make him speak".

Jefferson, the other foreigner, spoke up as well, "Fade is young, but he's very capable. He will be a good fighter if he is willing to fight for us."

"Let's take him to Professor Song."

Jaegar was convinced by them. Without further ado, they took Fade to the back of the main hall.

At this moment, Fade, who pretended to faint, couldn't fully understand their conversation. However, he perked up at the mention of Garvet.

This time, he was even more excited. It seemed that he had found the right place. Garvet was indeed in Mokao Temple, and had something to do with these people.

With his eyes closed, Fade could feel that he had been brought through the temple. He had entered a place similar to a cave, and walked along the cave passage for about a quarter of an hour.

The group of people then stopped. Fade heard the sound of people walking and talking, the sound of machines running noisily, and the sound of beasts growling.

He opened his eyes secretly, and observed his current position.

He was in a huge cave. The inside of the cave was supported by cement and steel poles, and the construction was very solid. It did not look like an ordinary cave, but rather like an underground military fortress.

07:49

Just then, he was thrown onto a military bed. Opposite him was a cave similar to a laboratory.

Inside, there were a number of large and small machines roaring and running, and various liquid vapors flowing through the pipes and machines. Many researchers in special protective coats were busy working.

On the side of the laboratory, rooms of different sizes were built, but they were all sealed up. From the looks of it, the materials were extremely secure.

In these rooms which were more like boxes, there were all kinds of animals. For example, the small ones contained mice, while the big ones contained fierce animals such as buffalos and lions.

From time to time, researchers would come over with all kinds of drugs and inject them into the animals. They would then observe and record the various reactions and data.

Such a situation reminded Fade of the scene in the research room of the "gene-strengthening liquid" handled by Professor Song.

These people were also doing research and experiments on the gene-strengthening liquid. In other words, they were working on Garvet's research.

Seeing this, Fade was convinced that Garvet was here. As he looked around, he saw Jefferson and other monks carrying Garvet out of the small cave on the other side.

At this time, Garvet's hands and feet were shackled. He was very gaunt, and his eyes were bloodshot. He seemed to be extremely weak, ready to fall at any moment.

The two men brought him over, and Jefferson then asked, "Song, you know this guy, don't you?"

07:49

He was speaking Chinese, so Fade could also understand him.

Garvet, who was extremely weak, opened his eyes and glanced over. He saw Fade lying on the military bed. His eyes couldn't help but twitch, and a surprised expression flashed across his face.

"No, I don't know him." Garvet tried his best to calm down as he shook his head.

However, they were all high level martial artists, and their strength was no weaker than the other black-robed monks. How could they not notice the expression on his face?

Jefferson laughed as he continued, "Song, do you really not know him? This man is Fade. He has come all the way to Jopeno to look for you"

"I told you that I don't recognize him," Garvet replied firmly.

However, Jefferson's smile grew wider. With a flip of his hand, a dagger appeared in his right hand. He stepped towards Fade as he remarked casually, "Since you don't know him, then it's useless to keep him here. We'd better kill him"

As he spoke, a cruel expression appeared on his face, and he was about to stab the dagger into Fade's heart.

Upon seeing this, Garvet's expression changed drastically, and he could no longer play along. He immediately shouted, "Stop"

Jefferson stopped his actions instantly, then turned to look at him with a smile. "Song, didn't you say that you had no idea who he was? What are you doing"

"Please, let him go!" Garvet gritted his teeth as he glanced at Fade.

Jefferson answered with a smile, "We had a hard time catching him, and he almost killed a monk from Mokao Temple. We won't let him go this easily."

After a moment's hesitation, Garvet finally said, "Let him go, and I'll give you what you want"

When he heard this, Jefferson's eyes lit up with excitement. "Write the formula down for the gene-strengthening liquid now!"

"No, you must release him first before I can tell you the formula," Garvet refused firmly.

Upon hearing this, the expression on Jefferson's face changed, as if he was thinking about something.

At this moment, Garvet made a plan in his mind secretly. "Fade has been caught, which is bad news. The only good thing is that these people don't know that he had also participated in the research of the gene-strengthening liquid. In fact, Fade is the key."

Chapter 1696

The reason he had a breakthrough in the gene-strengthening liquid in such a short period of time was because of the prescription provided by Fade. Without that prescription indicating the general direction of research, it would've been impossible for him to make progress so quickly.

After all, the research of genetics had been carried out in foreign countries earlier, and they had also invested a lot of resources into it. They had always been the leading force in the research previously.

It was only a few months ago that Garvet, relying on the formula provided by Fade, managed to develop the first genetic-strengthening liquid sample that could be used in humans.

Therefore, in his eyes, Fade was more important than he himself was. Even if he died here, Fade must be safe. Otherwise, they would suffer a great loss.

Therefore, Garvet had made up his mind that when Fade was out of danger, he would find a way to kill himself. Even if he had to die, he couldn't reveal the hard-earned achievements.

While he made up his mind, Jefferson also had a plan in his mind at this moment.

They didn't care too much about Fade. After all, he was just a powerful martial artist, which was not important. Moreover, Garvet would not know whether Fade was released or not.

When the time came, they could pretend to release him, and then coax the formula of the gene-strengthening liquid. Then, they could catch Fade again and extract something else from Garvet. It was a good harvest.

In an instant, both sides had their own plans.

Jefferson discussed with the people around him, looking like he was caught between a rock and a hard place. He then said to Garvet, "Song, I will agree to your request to let go of Fade. You must hand over the formula of the gene-strengthening liquid."

"As long as you let him go safely, I'll hand over the formula," Garvet answered.

"Garvet, I agree. I believe that we will be able to cooperate happily." After that, Jefferson waved his hand. Two other people stepped forward, grabbed Fade, stood up, and walked out of the cave.

When he saw this, Garvet stopped them, "I want to see him leave safely."

Jefferson thought for a moment before replying, "We will send someone to send him back and give you the live broadcast."

"Okay!" Garvet agreed. "When he is safe, I'll hand over the formula."

When he heard this, Jefferson shook his head and said, "Song, I've already shown my sincerity. Now, it's your turn to show some of your sincerity."

"What do you mean?"

Jefferson smiled as he continued, "In order to ensure the credibility of your words, you have to hand over some things first so that we can believe you."

Garvet's expression changed drastically. After thinking for a while, he finally nodded and agreed, "I can tell you the three herbs in the formula. Until he is safe, three is the limit."

Jefferson laughed. "Three, that's enough."

Some researchers handed over sheets of paper and a pen to Garvet immediately.

His hands trembled slightly. Looking at Fade who was still being held, he sighed and wrote down the names of the three herbs.

Jefferson picked up the paper, took a closer look at it, and then delivered it to the lab researchers.

He waved his hand. He was prepared to ask someone to take Garvet back and continue to imprison him.

At this time, Fade, who brushed past Garvet, rose up. He exuded a burst of positive energy which hit Jefferson and the others beside him instantly and made them fall onto the ground.

Fade was like a flash of lightning as he rushed over to Garvet. With two slaps, he instantly hit the people next to him to the ground.

Garvet was still worried a moment ago. He felt the energy around him surging. He saw Fade appearing next to him in an instant and he couldn't help but feel shocked. "Fade, you..."

"Professor Song, I'm fine. There's no need to tell them the formula." Fade smiled at him, and with two snaps, he cut off Garvet's shackles and handcuffs.

At this moment, Jefferson finally reacted. He glared at Fade, and his gaze was fierce. "You were pretending to faint! Kill him!"

At his order, someone immediately picked up a gun and aimed it at Fade and Garvet.

Fade immediately stood guard in front of Garvet. He was not afraid of guns, however, he knew that Garvet was. It would become difficult if he was hit.

However, there was no need for Fade to worry. Jefferson immediately shouted, "Don't use a gun. Catch them alive. Don't hurt Professor Song."

It was evident that he did not want to hurt him.

Thus, these people on the opposite side threw away their guns and rushed towards Fade fiercely.

They were all strong and bulky men, and all of them were martial artists. Their strengths were all at least at the Black Level. If the men fought with any ordinary person, they would've been caught in the blink of an eye.

However, the opponent they were facing was Fade. These Black Level martial artists were completely useless against him.

As more than twenty people rushed forward, Fade did not panic at all. Instead, he appeared to be very relaxed. He kept sending out bursts of positive energy with his hands, bombarding them.

As long as these strong men were hit, they would fly out in an instant. They all fell to the ground, and they stopped breathing.

At this moment, Fade was going all out. He would definitely kill them with one blow, and he would not be merciful to them.

Jefferson didn't expect him to be so powerful. He shouted loudly, "Black Level martial artists retreat! Earth Level martial artists and Heaven Level martial artists, fight him!"

In the blink of an eye, seven or eight people rushed forward. Apart from Jefferson and two other Heaven Level martial artists, the rest were all Earth Level martial artists.

Their attack was fierce and strong, but Fade remained unfazed.

The result of those Earth Level martial artists who were hit by Fade was not much different from the Black Level martial artists. They were also sent flying, and their breaths were cut off.

Only two Heaven Level martial artists were slightly better off. After being hit by Fade's attack, they stumbled backward and spat out a mouthful of blood, which saved their lives instead.

In the blink of an eye, Fade had killed another five or six people.

He was so strong that it was completely beyond Jefferson's expectations.

Jefferson was slightly hesitant in attacking Fade now. Although he was a martial artist at the middle stage of the Heaven Level and was the strongest among these people, he was afraid that Fade was not any weaker than him when he saw his movements.

At the thought of this, he didn't dare to make a move for a while. He shouted in English hurriedly.

As he shouted, Jaegar brought two martial artists of the early stage of Heaven Level with him and appeared in the cave quickly.

They looked at Fade and could not help but be surprised. "He's awake?"

07:49

Chapter 1697

Jefferson gritted his teeth. "This guy faked his fainting. Your mental attack did not work at all."

"How is that possible? My mental attacks would work on even martial artists at the late stage of Heaven Level. This was definitely an accident," Jaegar replied.

Jefferson gritted his teeth. "Let's not talk about that now. This brat is very powerful. Let's join forces and kill him."

Jaegar had also recovered from his shock. He made a decision quickly and shouted sternly, "Attack together and kill this guy. I want to avenge Haruo."

The two middle stage Heaven Level martial artists, Jefferson and Jaegar, as well as four early-stage Heaven Level martial artists started attacking Fade.

This lineup could be regarded as a huge force if it was used in the outside world. At this moment, these people did not hold back as they launched a siege on Fade.

Positive energy flew around the cave. The streaks of light were like the sickles of death brushing past Fade's body.

However, he seemed to be able to deal with them easily. His body was as agile as a fish swimming in the water, dodging their attacks effortlessly. No matter how fierce the attacks were, they couldn't hit him at all.

Fade then aimed at the two injured men and sent bursts of positive energy at them.

The two men had already been injured by his attack. When he launched a new attack on them, they couldn't resist at all. In less than a minute, the two men screamed one after another. Fade used his positive energy to attack their dantian. Their hearts were crushed, and they fell lifeless onto the ground.

Jefferson could not help but be enraged by the death of his subordinates. His eyes were filled with anger, and his attacks became more ferocious.

At this moment, the three monks of Mokao Temple were also sad. They were frightened in their hearts, and began to attack fiercely while gritting their teeth.

For a moment, an incomparably fierce aura of positive energy smashed the specially made caves. Many of the workers and equipment were struck by the aura of positive energy, resulting in the loss of many equipment and lives.

Even the cave began to tremble slightly at this moment, with gravel continuously falling from above. It seemed that the cave might collapse soon.

Jefferson gritted his teeth in anger upon seeing this. In order to build this experimental base, they had spent ten billion yuan.

This was just the expense of equipment costs, not to mention the top researchers who had been specially hired. Each one of them was a priceless treasure. However, they had all died here, which was unacceptable to him.

In an instant, he flared up and attacked mercilessly using his positive energy. Each strike was incomparably fierce, as if he wanted to destroy everyone.

Even a late-stage Heaven Level martial artist would find it hard to defend against Jefferson's attacks. However, Fade only frowned slightly at this moment.

He let out a cold snort. With a gentle twist of his body, the positive energy in his meridians circulated a little faster. In an instant, the positive energy in Fade's hand shot out with a few swishes and cut off all the energy from Jefferson, cutting off his four limbs in the process.

Jefferson fell onto the ground, motionless.

Jaegar and the others were already feeling pressured, and then they saw Jefferson laying motionless on the ground in defeat.

They suddenly felt an immense sense of fear, and their attacking speed instantly slowed down. However, Fade would not let go of this opportunity. With a few swishes, he flew over and killed the two early-stage Heaven Level monks.

Seeing this, Jaegar couldn't hold on any longer. He turned around and ran out of the cave.

He was incredibly fast. In the blink of an eye, he had created a distance of more than twenty meters and he was about to rush out of the cave.

However, as he saw the light at the entrance of the cave, a strong wind suddenly came from behind him. Before he could look back, a hand grabbed his shoulder and stopped him. A huge force hit him, and he was pulled back involuntarily. He fell back into the cave, and fell to lay down beside Jefferson. Blood spilled out of his mouth as he laid there, motionless.

After restraining the two people, Fade averted his attention to Garvet, and injected a few breaths of positive energy into his body to calm him down.

Fade asked him about what happened.

Garvet then told his story. From his point of view, it was very simple.

07:49

Back then, he had developed a sample of the gene-strengthening liquid and the test results were very promising. Therefore, he reported the situation to his superiors. His superiors were very pleased, and permitted him a leave so he could rest.

Garvet packed up his things, and prepared to go home and reunite with his daughter.

When he went to the mall to buy a gift for his daughter, he ran into a person, and he felt dizzy, as if he could not remember anything.

By the time he came to his senses, he had already arrived in Osko City, and was under the control of the people of Jopeno.

He was sent to the lab in the cave of Mokao Temple. Jefferson and Haruo appeared and forced him to tell them the formula of the gene-strengthening liquid.

However, Garvet knew that the formula was important, and it was a national secret. Thus, he kept his lips sealed. The matter had been delayed until that moment.

After listening to what had happened, Fade did not feel surprised. However, there was one thing that made him feel a little confused.

Experts like Garvet should be protected secretly if they were on leave. As a result, the people who should have protected him, failed to do so.

Another thing was that Garvet was brought to the Jopeno unconsciously by someone. He didn't realize what had happened.

This could be proven from the surveillance video that Fade had seen before. Garvet had boarded the plane with the people of Jopeno and left. He was not stunned or held hostage by the other party.

07:49

This made him feel puzzled. Garvet was not a three-year-old child who could be fooled by others in a daze.

"How on earth did it happen?" Fade was puzzled. When his eyes fell on Jaegar, he thought of something. The red Buddha statue in the main hall of Mokao Temple could launch mental attacks.

If he didn't guess wrong, it should be that the other party had used some mental means to attack Garvet, making him lose his mind, and thus, he was brought to the Jopeno in a daze.

As for the fact that the other party didn't use the mental attack method to force Garvet to give out the formula, it must be that their methods of mental attacks were also limited.

Thinking of this, Fade's gaze fell on Jaegar and he inquired about Garvet's matter.

At first, Jaegar did not answer. However, after Fade attacked him again, he wailed in pain as he rolled around on the floor. He felt that death would be a blessing right then. He no longer dared to hide anything from Fade as he told him the full account of events.

Chapter 1698

As Jopeno's secret martial arts organization, Mokao Temple was a gathering of experts, and it was extremely powerful.

However, this kind of strength did not come from nothing. Someone had supported them from behind. They invested a lot of money and resources over the years, resulting in the hidden strength of Mokao Temple.

The people who supported them from behind would not spend so much for nothing. They had their own goals.

The greatest requirement of Mokao Temple was to make use of their powerful strength and hidden identities to help them complete certain tasks that could not be achieved in the open. For example, sneak-ins, assassinations, thefts, and other tasks.

It could even be seen as a special spy organization, however, it didn't have the support of the officials in public.

This operation by Mokao Temple against Garvet turned out to be an order given by the superiors in an attempt to help Micovia complete the research project.

The so-called people from Micovia were Jefferson and the others. They were members of a gene pharmaceutical company in their country, and they had secretly built such a laboratory here in Mokao Temple using the identity of researchers.

Their ultimate goal was, of course, the gene-strengthening liquid. After all, in this field, Micovia had always been the top in the world. Unexpectedly, Garvet took the lead and made a breakthrough in a short time. They had actually developed a good gene-strengthening liquid sample.

Upon hearing the news, Micovia had an idea, where they planned to kidnap Garvet and steal the gene-strengthening liquid formula.

Of course, if Micovia was to just steal the formula openly, it would cause a global conflict. Therefore, they worked together with Jopeno and supported them from behind. Others would do the dirty work for Micovia, and Garvet would be brought to Jopeno.

Fade asked Jefferson a few questions privately. Jaeger's answers were similar to that of Jefferson's. They both confirmed each other's words.

Moreover, during the inquiry, Fade had learned the name of the company which Jefferson worked for. He could not help but be surprised.

It turned out that Jefferson was actually a researcher of Bald Eagle Pharma in Micovia.

The name Bald Eagle Pharma was familiar to him. It was them who had blocked the patent of Alstom's antibiotics in his hometown. The same Bald Eagle Pharma had forced them to purchase the brand at a high price to make profit out of it.

In the end, Fade had developed the Ephedra Syrup to replace the role of Alstom's antibiotics, which relieved the chaotic situation in the country.

When they arrived in Jade City, Maritime Ocean Pharma had gone against Fade many times. The ones who supported them was Bald Eagle Pharma.

However, with the outbreak of pollution and food poisoning incidents, Maritime Ocean Pharma went bankrupt and Bald Eagle Pharma also withdrew from Jade City. Nothing else had happened since then.

Fade thought that Bald Eagle Pharma was just a huge pharmaceutical company that had been blinded by greed.

07:50

It seemed that the firm was not as simple as he thought. Other than the research for drugs, Bald Eagle Pharma was involved in the research of gene-strengthening liquid. Perhaps they had even more secrets.

Fade questioned Jefferson again, but he didn't get much useful information in the end.

Bald Eagle Pharma indeed had an official background in Micovia. In addition to the medical research on the surface, it also took part in the secret research of the gene-strengthening liquid.

It was just that Jefferson wasn't a researcher. He was only responsible for the gene-strengthening liquid. Apart from that, he didn't know much about other things.

After asking about these things, Fade killed him without hesitation.

Fade carried Jaegar to the main hall of Mokao Temple and threw him in front of the Buddha statue. He pointed at the weird red statue and asked in a cold voice, "Why does this Buddha statue have the effect of mental attacks?"

"This..." Upon hearing this, Jaegar couldn't help but be shocked.

Seeing this, Fade shouted coldly, "Don't try to hide it. Otherwise, I will let you know what it means to live in hell."

Jaegar thought of the scene where Jefferson was killed by Fade, and he couldn't help shivering. He didn't dare to hide the truth as he replied quickly, "The Buddha statue does have the effect of mental attack. This is done through its eyes."

"Eyes!" Hearing this, Fade looked up and stared at the eyes of the Buddha statue. He found that they seemed to be made of wood, and his head was a little dizzy after staring at them for a while.

It seemed that the mental attack effect of the Buddha statue's eyes was really effective.

07:50

Fade did not care at all. With a light leap, he reached for the statue's eyes with both hands. With a gentle press, the two eyeballs fell into his hands immediately.

He landed and spread out his palm. He took a closer look at the eyeballs in his hand, and was surprised to find that the eyes were actually two kernels.

The shape was oval and the surface was covered with wrinkles, thus, it could not be seen what kind of kernel it was. However, it was heavy when it was in his hand, much heavier than usual kernels.

After staring at them for a while, Fade felt that the feeling became more and more intense.

"What is this? Where did you get it?" He asked.

Jaegar quickly answered, "These should be the kernels of two peaches, or the kernels of other fruits; we are not sure. These kernels were picked up by my master accidentally when he was traveling in the primeval forests of South Asia more than 60 years ago."

"At that time, he discovered the abnormality of the peach kernel. He brought them back and studied them. Finally, he found out the mental attack effect of the peach kernel."

"Have you developed a means of mental attack?" Fade asked again.

Jaegar shook his head quickly and answered, "The mental attack is the effect of the peach kernel itself. My master has studied it for many years and has only figured out how to use the peach kernel, but he can't control the mental attack."

"How do you make use of that?" Fade pressed on.

Jaegar responded, "This peach kernel's mental attack isn't weak. Even Heaven Level martial artists can be affected. However, as long as the distance between the peach kernel and the person is pulled a little further away by 50 to 60 meters, the effect will be very minimal."

"Therefore, if one wants to use this peach kernel to launch a mental attack, one must be close to it. Only after a long period of time will one be able to achieve its true effect."

"A true martial artist expert would be able to notice the effect and leave immediately. Mental attacks wouldn't be of much use."

Upon hearing this, Fade couldn't help but nod his head. It was true. At that time, he had discovered the abnormality quickly. In order to confuse the other party, he pretended not to notice it.

Chapter 1699

Jaegar continued, "In order to enhance its effect, my master thought of a way, which is to grind a branch that was picked up together with the peach kernel into powder, mix the powder into other raw materials, make sandalwood, and use the leaves of the branch to make tea. If you use these three things at the same time, the mental attack effect will be stronger."

Hearing that, Fade recalled the scene where Jaegar burned incense and made tea. Indeed, after he took in the smoke and drank the tea at that time, the effect had intensified. It turned out that there was another reason behind his actions.

"How many branches and leaves are left?" Fade stared at Jaegar.

Jaegar's expression fell. He sighed and replied, "Back when my master picked up the peach kernel, he only had a tree branch the size of a child's arm by his side. After so many years of using it, there isn't much left."

"Cut the crap and bring out the stuff." Fade was nonchalant.

Soon, Jaegar took him into the treasure pavilion of Mokao Temple. He took out a small wooden box and handed it to Fade.

Fade opened the box and saw a piece of dead wood about the size of his index finger. Beside the dead wood, there were two yellowed leaves.

After feeling it for a while, he found that the aura of this branch and leaf was indeed the same as the peach kernel. It seemed that the peach was the fruit of this tree. For unknown reasons, it fell into the primeval forest and was picked up by Jaegar's master.

Two rotten fruit cores, together with some branches and leaves, were able to have such a powerful mental attack effect. If he could find the tree and find a fresh fruit, how powerful would the mental attack's effect be?

He could even find a way to improve his mental energy and cultivate it.

As he thought of this, Fade couldn't help but feel a little excited. Once his strength had reached such a level, it would already be very slow and difficult for him to improve further. However, he was weak in mental strength.

If he could improve his mental strength and find a way to cultivate it, it would enhance his ability greatly.

However, it would be very hard to obtain these things. Fade was very lucky to get the peach kernel, branches, and leaves now.

After putting away these things, he kept all the valuable treasures in the treasure pavilion of Mokao Temple into his pocket.

Jaegar felt a great deal of pain as he watched from the side, but he didn't dare to stop him at all.

After taking all the valuable things from the treasure pavilion, Fade asked some other questions, including about Filex's betrayal.

However, Jaegar was not quite clear about it. He just said that Filex did not contact him, and the Akao family was the one who contacted him. Moreover, Filex was also brought in by the official spy, and the official spy said that they could be in charge of him.

As for the other questions, such as why Filex betrayed them and whether there were other spies, Jaegar knew nothing.

Upon hearing this, Fade couldn't help but frown. He continued to press on, but he did not get more useful information.

Fade did not show any mercy and killed Jaegar with one slap. After that, both Mokao Temple and the laboratory in the cave were blown up.

For a while, the rumbling explosion, which shook the mountains, caused a considerable commotion. By then, Fade had already left with Professor Song.

Back in Tosika City, Fade did not go to Liza's place. He just made a phone call and was ready to leave.

It was not because he was ruthless, but because Makao Temple might be related to the government of Jopeno, or even the government of Micovia. It would be a big problem if Liza was implicated in such a big event.

Even if the Hachi Clan was the biggest underground organization in Jopeno, it was nothing in front of the powerful government.

He joined Eilert and Cindy and told them the whole story. The two were shocked. They then reported the news back to the country.

After that, of course, they wanted to bring Garvet back to their country.

However, they soon realized that the journey back would not be as smooth as before.

The investigation team had come to Jopeno in the name of a tourist group. Although their actions were secretive, there was a big fight in the Akao family and Mokao Temple. The Jopeno intelligence agency soon found out about it.

Therefore, it was impossible to buy a ticket to fly back home directly. Moreover, they were bringing Garvet back and his identity could not be exposed, which made it impossible for them to take action aboveboard.

Therefore, what should be considered next was the way to smuggle Garvet back to his country.

Fade did not seek the help of the officers in Jopeno for help. On one hand, he did not want to implicate them, and on the other, he did not trust them.

After all, Filex's betrayal had been exposed. No one could tell how reliable the agents in Jopeno were.

After thinking for a while, he disappeared from Jopeno with several people. They travelled from city to city before finally getting onto a cruise ship, thus beginning their journey to return home.

Of course, the speed of the cruise ship was not as fast as that of the plane. It took almost two days for them to go back.

However, Fade was not in a hurry. On the cruise ship, he treated Eilert and Cindy's injuries carefully, and ensured that they had recovered to eighty percent of their injuries. After they returned, they would be fine after resting for a while.

As for Garvet, although he had a position in the army, he was still a scientific researcher. After such things happened, he was exhausted both physically and mentally. He fell asleep immediately after he boarded the cruise.

The cruise ship left the port and sailed for a long time, leaving the territorial waters of Jopeno safely.

Fade was also relieved. As long as he waited quietly, he would be safe when he returned home.

As he was thinking about it, there was a knock on the door.

"Who is it?" Fade instantly became alert.

The polite voice of the waiter rang outside, "Sir, lunch is ready, do you need anything?"

He answered calmly, "Thank you, there's no need."

"Well, I'm sorry to bother you, sir. If you need anything, you can always ring the bell to call for our service any time," the waiter continued.

07:50

Fade replied faintly, "Okay. I will."

There was a sound of footsteps outside. The waiter seemed to have gone far away.

When Fade got up and walked towards the door, two rapid and short sounds rang out. Two round holes appeared on the door, and two bullets flew towards him.

"Enemies!" His gaze focused. He moved his body to avoid the bullets, and leaned against the wall to hide.

With a loud bang, the door was kicked open. A man in a waiter's uniform with a pistol in his hand stepped in cautiously.

Chapter 1700

As the man entered, Fade rushed out from the side. The positive energy gathered at the tip of his finger surged, and it was followed by a residual image. With a swipe, he cut off the waiter's arm, and blood splattered everywhere.

The man cried out in pain as Fade quickly approached and questioned him. "Who are you?"

Determination flashed across the waiter's eyes, and he then quickly bit down on something. A wave of bitterness flushed his mouth, and his eyes became hazy.

"D*mn it!" The waiter had killed himself by taking poison. Fade threw the waiter onto the ground and rushed to the next room immediately.

When he arrived, the room next door was in a mess.

Eilert was protecting Garvet, and fighting with a man in the same waiter's uniform. The man was not that strong; only at the early-stage of Earth Level. He was not Eilert's opponent.

However, Eilert was injured, and he needed to protect Garvet. Thus, his actions were restricted. For a while, he failed to catch the waiter.

Fade struck out, and with a burst of strength, he stabbed the waiter in the back of the heart, killing him in an instant.

On the other side, there was also a commotion in Cindy's room. With a bang, the door was pushed open, and she fell out with blood at the corner of her mouth.

"This way!" Fade shouted in a low voice, and then rushed forward. With one move, he killed the enemy.

"Who is it?" Cindy was a little out of breath at the moment.

By this time, Eilert had already checked the people, but he did not find any useful clues. "They don't have any distinguishing features. If I'm not wrong, they're from the intelligence agency in Jopeno. They don't want us to leave so easily."

"Go to the captain's cockpit. Protect Professor Song!" Fade ordered as he took the lead. Eilert and Cindy protected Garvet on both sides as they walked towards the cockpit.

The four people went straight to the captain's seat.

However, when they entered, the captain had collapsed to the ground, blood flowing out from his body. Beside him, several crew members also laid in pools of blood, and they had lost their lives.

"D*mn it!" These crew members were from the same country. They had been killed by the enemy, which made Fade's gaze become fierce, and his expression became a little cold.

At this time, there were three people standing in front of the captain's seat.

One was a sturdy man with short hair and a steely gaze. He was probably in his forties, with a fierce aura.

Another was a long-haired man with a thin figure, leaned against the captain's console, with a smile at the corners of his lips. He looked cynical. However, a thin and sharp blade was waving between his fingertips quickly, like a dancing imp.

The last one was a short-haired woman with a round face and a warm smile. She looked gentle and amiable, but there was a hint of fierceness flashing in her gaze from time to time.

It was obvious that these three people were not ordinary people, and they were not weak.

Eilert stared at the three people for a while, and his face fell. He shouted in a low voice, "Tsukuyomi Organization!"

The three people on the other side could not help but feel a little surprised when they heard this. The short-haired lady among them smiled and replied, "I didn't expect that you would be able to recognize us so quickly."

At this moment, Fade had some doubts. He did not know what the Tsukuyomi Organization was.

Cindy then explained to him in a low voice, "Tsukuyomi Organization is the Goddess of the Moon among the three traditional gods of Jopeno. They are now the substitute for the intelligence agency of the Jopeno. These three people are probably the three experts of Tsukuyomi Organization."

"Moonfox, Wolfheart, Lionking!" Cindy looked at the short-haired woman, the long-haired man, and the strong man.

Her voice was not loud, but the three of them heard it clearly. The short-haired woman named Moonfox smiled as she remarked, "I didn't expect that we would be recognized so quickly. It seems that your source of intel is not that shabby!"

Cindy remained silent. Eilert, who was next to her, took a step and said in a low voice, "Tsukuyomi Organization killed our people. We need an explanation for your behavior."

Moonfox laughed when she heard this. She looked at Eilert and replied, "You are a government official, aren't you? You sound so boring."

"You..." He was infuriated.

07:50

At this moment, the long-haired man, Wolfheart, took a step forward with a smirk and interrupted him. "We killed them, so what? Are you going to be a match for us?"

He was very confident. After saying that, his gaze swept over Eilert and Cindy with disdain, and finally fell on Fade. He made a throat-cutting gesture as he continued with a smile, "You're the strongest among them. I'm interested in playing with you. After all, I love killing enemies."

After saying that, he licked his lips, revealing a strange and sinister smile.

A cold smile appeared on Fade's lips when he heard that. He swept his gaze across Wolfheart and a disdainful smile flashed across his face. His gaze landed on Moonfox and he said coldly, "You're just a subordinate of a woman. What right do you have to fight me?"

Upon hearing this, the expression on Wolfheart's face fell instantly. His expression was extremely cold and terrifying. He was about to rush out and fight Fade.

However, at this critical moment, Moonfox stopped him and warned, "Don't be impulsive. Get out of here."

Lionking stood up behind him and patted him on the shoulder to calm him down.

When he saw this, Fade sneered disdainfully, "Are you guys weaklings who only know how to talk?"

"I'm going to kill you..." Wolfheart shouted, as he could not stand Fade's mockery and he started to move to attack him.

"Get out!" At this moment, Moonfox shouted as a powerful energy erupted from her body and held Wolfheart back. "He's trying to provoke you deliberately. Can't you see that?"

07:50

Wolfheart's gaze was dim. Of course, he knew that Fade was provoking him. However, his self-esteem and self-confidence made him have the confidence to kill Fade. Therefore, he couldn't stand being on the receiving end of disdain and contempt.

Moonfox obviously held a high position in the Tsukuyomi Organization, and she was also very strong. She roared as she pushed Wolfheart back.

She stared at Fade, "Mr. Chen, both you and I have clear purposes. There is no need to continue meaningless activities."

"Oh? I really don't know what your purpose is." Fade looked at her.

Moonfox narrowed her eyes as she stared at him, "Since you don't know, I'll tell you what our purpose is."

"Our purpose is simple, we just hope that you can leave both Professor Song and the treasures you got from Mokao Temple behind."
