

The First Heir – Chapter 1804

The car quickly drove away and headed to the Dunley Group building.

In the car, Philip dialed Jowin Benson's number and asked, "Do you know Winston Dunley?"

Jowin was dealing with Fred's affairs in Flower City at the moment. When he received the call from Philip, he quickly replied, "Winston Dunley? Young Master Clarke, this person is an important figure in the main Dunley family with quite a bit of influence in Hampton. He's the fifth uncle of Sterling Dunley, the current patriarch of the Dunley family. He's also the current head of the Dunley family of Flower City, the backer behind Homer and Milo Dunley, as well as their uncle."

Philip nodded and said, "Okay, I got it."

Then, he ended the call and said to the man next to him who was on the computer, "Can you contact Winston Dunley?"

The computer expert replied, "Yes, one minute."

A minute later, Philip got Winston's number and made the call directly.

The phone rang a few times before it was connected. An old voice from the other end asked, "Who is this?"

"Hello, Winston Dunley. My name is Philip Clarke," Philip said calmly.

"Philip Clarke? Hehe, I didn't expect that you would have the means to find my phone number so quickly."

On the other end of the line, Winston had just gotten out of the Maybach. He walked straight into the Dunley Group building with two rows of attendants and followers behind him.

Philip sneered and said indifferently, “Winston, you should be a sensible man. Flower City couldn’t do anything to me, so I came to Hampton. I heard that this is the base of the main Dunley family. Since things have progressed to this point, I just want to give you a piece of advice. Don’t interfere in the affairs of Flower City or even think of rescuing Homer and his son, as well as Milo.”

After pondering for a while, Winston said flatly, “Young man, I heard that you have some strength and means so I thought of meeting you personally. But now, it seems that you don’t welcome me at all. Why won’t you just forgive and forget? On my account, just forget about this matter. I’ll personally fork out 100 million dollars as compensation to the nanny. You can also treat it as an apology on behalf of Hector. What do you think?”

“Hehehe...”

Philip sneered and said, “I’ve heard this sentence three times. When Homer Dunley said this, he offered five million dollars to deal with this matter. Later, Milo Dunley proposed 50 million dollars. Now, you’re offering 100 million dollars. Do you think that I’m here to bargain with you?”

“Since all of you think that money can solve this matter, should I make an offer as well?” Philip added as the corners of his mouth curled into a cold sneer. Winston smiled when he heard this and said, “Okay, what’s your price?”

“287.5 billion dollars,” Philip replied.

As soon as he said that, Winston fell silent and his entire face turned pale. 287.5 billion dollars was what the assets of the entire Dunley family were worth!

This kid actually wanted the entire Dunley family!

“Outrageous! Are you determined to go against my Dunley family?”

Winston's face darkened and he shouted. A moment later, he calmed down and said, "Young man, you're too much of a show off. I still stand by my words, you should forgive and forget. 100 million dollars is my highest limit. If you don't want it, I can only keep you in Hampton!"

As soon as he finished speaking, Philip snorted coldly and said, "I'm afraid you're not capable of that!"