/ One Night Stand With The Uninvited Wolf President

It was an old tradition for Shiry Entertainment Group every year. This day was also a very important day for it.

Many famous actors and actresses set off from here.

Therefore, as the president, Bill would come and take a look.

As he had just started to work as the president this year, he was very busy. He was a little late and there were only a few people when he arrived.

He walked around the rooms and then came to the break room.

"Meeting again! Meeting all day long! Almost crazy!" Bill complained.

Suddenly, a cup of coffee was placed in front of him. "President Jaden, have a cup of coffee," Someone said.

When Bill raised his eyes, he saw long, straight, and snow-white legs. When he looked up, he saw a beautiful and charming face.

"Are you new here?" Bill picked up the coffee and took a sip, "It tastes good."

"Thank you for your compliment."

The woman's eyes were also tempting. But Bill had seen a lot of such kind of woman.

"Mr. Jaden, are you tired? Do you want a massage?"

"Okay, let me enjoy the service of a beauty."

Bill was bored. Since she teased him, he would let her do as she pleased. Anyway, he had no loss as a man.

The beautiful woman stood behind him and gently pressed his shoulder, "Mr. Jaden, do you feel a little more relaxed?"

"Comfortable."

Bill was indeed a bit tired. The beauty was skillful and he began to enjoy it.

After a while, he suddenly felt hot all over. He loosened his tie, and the beauty bent down, her long hair sweeping across his face, "Mr. Jaden, why is your face so red? Aren't you feeling well? Do you want me to had been drugged.

"Damn it!" Bill pushed the woman away and said, "You've been fired!"

He picked up his coat and rushed the assessment. She had originally planned to leave the hotel. But when she walked to the elevator, she thought of her benefactor. Last time, she did not even have the time to thank him. So she went back to check if he had left.

Only then Alice found Bill who was stumbling over to her.

"Hello, do you remember me?" Alice ran over excitedly and greeted him.

Bill felt that his head was heavy and didn't hear what Alice said to him in front of him was quite beautiful.

He took out a card from his wallet, "Ten thousand yuan, have sex with me. I was drugged by someone. I must do it!"

"What?" Before Alice could react, Bill pulled her into a room, pressed her against the wall, and kissed her.

Alice had begun dancing since she was young and had not even done household chores. She did not have much strength, so she could not push Bill away.

"Damn it. The effect everyone! Alice's clothes. "I'll add money, two hundred thousand! I'm sorry!"

Alice screamed.

...

The breeze blew through the window, and the sunlight shone into the room. It was a bit dazzling.

Alice rubbed her eyes and woke up. She saw the man beside her and screamed again.

"Don't make a noise. I'm sleepy," Bill was wakened up by Alice.

Alice looked at the man and was at a loss. Although he had asked to do it several times yesterday, he was indeed a gentle man.

It was the man who saved her that day. She didn't blame him because he had been drugged.

From the first time she saw him, she seemed to have feelings for him. However, she didn't expect that they were in bed the second time they met.

Bill suddenly realized something. He opened his eyes and saw a strange woman. He got up and found that he was naked. He hurriedly covered his body with a quilt.

"We..."

Bill patted his head and recalled what happened last night.

A woman had drugged him, and he found another woman casually in the hotel. Then he smiled at the woman in front of him.

"You ... should be an adult, right?"

Alice nodded, "I'm twenty-one."

"That's good, that's good. How much money did I promise to give you yesterday? I can't remember it clearly."

Bill was already a veteran. He would simply hand over the money and leave.

"You ... you don't know me?" Alice asked after she looked at Bill for a long while.

Bill shook his head. He picked up his clothes and put them on. "How about this? I'll give you thirty thousand yuan. You saved my life yesterday. I was drugged and felt pretty painful."

Bill put on his pants and looked for his wallet. He found a form on the ground which there was the official seal of Shiry Entertainment Group on it. He looked at the girl on the bed in shock, "What did you come to the hotel for yesterday?"

"I'm here to participate in the internal selection."

"Fuck!" Bill slapped his head.

Bill's father had long known that Bill was a libertine, but he was open about it. However, he had set an iron rule for Bill that couldn't touch the staff of Shiry Entertainment Group.

"Why didn't you say that earlier?" Bill walked around the room with his hands on his hips. He knew that the girl had dreams in the entertainment industry and didn't want only money.

Moreover, once she became a famous star, she would not care about a few hundred thousand.

"Alice?" Bill glanced at the name on the form.

"Yes, I'm Alice." Alice could not figure out what had happened at all.

"Alright, I will get someone to recruit you. But you have to remember that you can't tell anyone what happened today. Otherwise, both you and I will have miserable results."

Alice looked at Bill in confusion, "You think that I have sex with you for..."

Bill interrupted him, "This thing is already in the past. Don't think much further. In the future, your career in the entertainment industry will depend on your luck. However, you can't say a single word about what happened today. You know that it is not easy for us to make an artist famous, but it is very easy to avoid him being famous. Do you understand?"

After his coaxing and threats, Bill left.

One Night Stand With The Uninvited Wolf President Chapter 112

/ One Night Stand With The Uninvited Wolf President

Alice did not say a word when she returned to the school.

It was not because of Bill's threat, but because she felt that she was a little licentious to make love with a man she had met only twice.

On the weekend, Ceres returned home. Recently, Johnny was too busy and could only come back a little early on the weekend.

Ceres was in Johnny's embrace. Johnny placed his palm on Ceres's belly and gently caressed it. He was going to be a father.

Whenever he thought about that, he would smile even if he was attending a meeting.

Something that he had never dared to think about before became reality.

"Ceres, you are my lucky star," Johnny couldn't help but say.

"Really?" Ceres looked at Johnny.

"Yes. I woke up because of you. And now I will be a father soon. Ceres, thank you."

He dreamed at a very young age that he had a cozy family with his father and mother. But his dream could never be realized.

But now it can be achieved in another way, that is, he could have a family with his wife and children.

Ceres wrapped her arms around Johnny's neck, "You are also my lucky star. In my previous life, I must be a hero and have saved my country. Otherwise, I won't have such a handsome husband."

They exchanged a smile.

"Do you think Swedum has a heartbeat now?"

"I don't know. Let me hear it," As he spoke, Johnny pressed his ear against Ceres's belly. Ceres didn't even dare to breathe.

But he couldn't hear anything.

"Did you hear that?"

Johnny rubbed Ceres's nose, "No."

"Maybe he is too young. We can hear it when I do an ultrasound in the hospital tomorrow," Ceres looked at her belly with a smile, hoping that Swedum would grow faster and they could see him soon.

"Tomorrow?" Johnny frowned.

"Yes. The doctor said we should see him on the seventh day."

"I have an important meeting tomorrow. Wait for the tenth day, and I will accompany you. How about it?" Johnny insisted on accompanying her, so she had no choice but to agree.

The next day was Saturday. Originally, Johnny could rest, but he had to deal with too many things recently. Johnny tried to push forward all his plans quickly.

Ceres was bored at home alone. She decided to go to the hospital with Alice. When Johnny had time, it was fine to go again.

She called Alice and they came to the hospital together.

Without Johnny's order, they could only wait and waiting. It took nearly half of a day.

Finally, it was Ceres's turn. She lay obediently on the bed.

The doctor applied the couplant on her belly and began the ultrasound.

Ceres was happy with a smile as well as a little nervous, "Doctor, is my Swedum alright?"

"Swedum?" The doctor was wearing a mask, and no one could see his expression.

"That's right, Swedum. His father and I knew him during the Lantern Festival, so we gave him the name. and became serious.

Ceres thought that the doctor was born serious, so she didn't care.

After a long while, the doctor let Ceres get up.

"Doctor, how is Swedum?"

"Go find a doctor," The doctor said, handing Ceres an ultrasound report.

Ceres took the report. It read, "No fetal heart rate and embryo bud. Combined with clinical diagnosis. An abortion needed."

"What does it mean?" Ceres questioned the doctor.

The doctor was used to such a scene, "I'm sorry, Miss. The fetal heart rate can't be heard and the embryo bud can't be seen. Under normal circumstances, either it is because the baby is too young, or it is because the baby has stopped growing. When was your last menstrual period?"

"It was almost fifty days ago."

The doctor turned more serious, "Go and find the doctor. It doesn't matter. You are so young, you will have a child."

"No. Doctor, maybe you are mistaken. Please take a look again."

Ceres held the doctor's arm and was trembling.

Just a few days ago, she didn't want to have a child, but she finally accepted the fact and was ready to welcome the child happily. However, now, the doctor told her that she have to abort.

How could she accept it?

"Miss, calm down. Don't have to test anymore."

"No, I don't believe it!" Ceres flung the doctor's hand away.

She turned around and walked out of the ultrasound room. Alice saw her walk out angrily and hurriedly followed.

"What's wrong? Is my godson growing well? Is he lively?"

Ceres threw the ultrasound report into the trash can.

"This hospital is not authoritative enough. Let's go to another one," Ceres walked forward at a fast speed.

Alice caught up to her, "What happened, Ceres? Don't go so fast. What exactly is going on?"

"The hospital is unprofessional. The doctor must have mistaken."

"But this is the best hospital in the city," Alice realized that something was wrong with the child.

Just as Ceres was rushing forward in a hurry, she bumped into someone in the corner of the corridor.

"Who are you? Don't you see the way?"

A familiar voice.

It was from Sally.

When Mary saw Ceres, she hid her ultrasound report. Ceres had a glance at them and continued walking forward.

Sally grabbed and stopped her, "You're here to check, aren't you? How is the child?"

Ceres turned to look at Sally, "How did you know I was pregnant?"

"It didn't matter. Ceres, you can't have a child now. You must abort it immediately!"

"You are crazy." Ceres threw down these two words and left.

But Sally continued, "I am your mother. You must listen to me! This child must be aborted!"

One Night Stand With The Uninvited Wolf President Chapter 113

/ One Night Stand With The Uninvited Wolf President

Sally grabbed Ceres's arm and didn't let go.

Looking at Sally's fierce appearance, Ceres could not tell why she could be a "mother".

"Are you worthy of being my mother?"

Sally said with conviction, "No matter what, I am still your mother! Ceres, I am doing this for your good! Do you think that you are worthy of Johny with your appearance and family background? He is just playing around with you. Who would take a woman like you as his wife?"

"You are pregnant with his child now. When the child is born, he will leave. You are still a student. How can you raise this child? Let's go and you have the abortion immediately!"

As she spoke, Sally pulled Ceres towards the doctor's office.

"Let me go! Let go!"

Ceres struggled with all her might. Alice quickly came up and said, "Please let go!"

"Who are you? Where do you come from? Scram!" Sally glanced at Alice.

Mary stood aside and watched all this. For many years, she had seen many such shows. However, it was the first time that her mother could pull Ceres in such a rude way.

Ceres suddenly waved her hand, and someone stretched out a foot in front of her feet, which made her fall backward.

Ceres suddenly felt a burst of pain in her stomach. Alice hurriedly went forward to help her up. "Ceres, are you alright?"

"My stomach hurts..."

Ceres's face was pale due to the pain.

At the same time, Sally and Mary saw that blood was spreading under Ceres's butt.

"Alice, quick, find a doctor!"

Because they were in the hospital, Ceres was quickly sent into the operating room.

Mary and Sally were waiting outside the operating room. Sally did not expect such a result. Beads of sweat dripped down her forehead.

"Mom, we'll be unlucky in this place. Let's go back." Mary walked over and pulled Sally as she looked up at Mary.

After all, Ceres was her daughter. It was fine if she didn't care about Ceres, "Mom, it's just a miscarriage, a small operation. It won't be serious. I haven't eaten in the morning. I'm so hungry that I have hypoglycemia. I feel dizzy now." Mary shook Sally's arm like a spoiled child.

"It's so serious. You can't have hypoglycemia. We have to go back immediately. Let's go!" Sally left with Mary.

Before Mary left, she glanced at the operating room proudly.

Alice looked at Sally and sighed. She had long heard Ceres say that her mother didn't that Ceres was too exaggerated. After all, there were two children in her family. It was common for her mother to favor the younger one.

Today, she finally witnessed that there was such a mother in the world.

The doctor came out very quickly. He took the list and asked Alice to sign it. "The patient has an emergency miscarriage operation and lost a lot of blood. I've told you that she can't keep the child and she must have the operation Now, sign it.

Alice signed with a trembling hand.

Ceres was sent to a ward. She was still asleep due to the anesthetic.

Alice called Johny and Johny rushed over.

Johny did not expect this. They were discussing everything about the child last night, but they just lost it today.

"Ceres wanted to give you a surprise today. What happened today was an accident, and she must be very sad. You should comfort her."

"Alright."

Alice then left the ward. Johny sat by the bed and looked at Ceres. Her pale little face made him distressed.

Ceres woke up two hours later. The moment she opened her eyes, she saw Johny and smiled at him.

When she was pushed into the operating room, she was completely awake, so she knew that she had had an abortion.

Johny sat on the bed and held Ceres in his arms. "Cry if you want to. You don't need to be strong in front of me."

In that instant, Ceres wailed.

She was used to being strong. Even if she lost the child, she still wanted to be strong in front of Johny. But when she heard what Johny said, she could no longer hold on.

Johny held Ceres tightly in his arms. The only thing he could do was to give her a warm embrace.

Ceres cried in Johny's arms. At this moment, she had truly become herself. She did not need to be strong. She had turned all her fragility into tears.

After crying for a long time, Ceres stopped.

"I'm sorry, Ceres. It's all my fault. What if I could take it seriously when you told me about the pregnancy? What if I didn't do that with you that day?"

Johny felt extremely guilty.

From the moment Ceres bled, he had been praying that this child would be safe and healthy, but in the end, they still lost it.

Ceres nestled in Johny's arms and reached out to cover his mouth. "No, you don't know this. It's not your fault."

Johny gently wiped away the tears at the corner of Ceres's eyes. "Take good care of yourself and we can have a child again, okay? I'll stay close to you next time."

Ceres nodded solemnly. "I want to give birth to a few more."

"Okay, you can have children as many as you want."

In Johny's embrace, Ceres fell asleep once again.

For three days, Johny stayed by Ceres's side in the hospital. He fed her medicine, hugged her to sleep, and coaxed her to eat.

Although Ceres recovered very quickly and there was no need for him to guard her like this, Johny insisted on staying here. He didn't even care about the work in the past three days.

On the fourth day, Johny went to the company. Only Ceres was left in the ward.

When she was alone, she would think about all those things. Was her child a boy or a girl? Who did she or he look like?

Unfortunately, it was too late.

Thinking of these for a while, Ceres had tears on her face again.

"My dear sister, I'm here to see you." Mary stood at the door in a red dress.

The red dress was so unpleasant to Ceres' eyes. Ceres turned away to wipe away her tears.

"What are you doing here? Get out!" Ceres didn't want to talk to Mary at all.

"Of course I am here to laugh at you! How can I miss such a wonderful show?" Mary kicked the door closed. "You're crying! Are you crying for the child, or the mother?"

Looking at Mary's face, Ceres wanted to tear her apart!

"I'm here to tell you why mom did that to you. It's all because of this."

Mary proudly pointed to her belly.

One Night Stand With The Uninvited Wolf President Chapter 114

/ One Night Stand With The Uninvited Wolf President

Ceres looked at Mary in astonishment.

"I will get married to Henry a month later. Do you know why it is so hurried? Because I am pregnant. A child of the Winsor family!"

Her words hurt Ceres again.

"Mother asked you to abort your child because she thinks that the first grandson of the Winsor family can only be my child. You absolutely can't have a child earlier than me! Are you surprised?"

Ceres could not say a word.

In the past, when she faced Mary, she had never suffered a loss, but this time, she could not find any words to counterattack.

"Mom always cares more about me. It's pity that your father is a murderer."

Mary was triumphant that Ceres had miscarried so quickly.

"Get out!" Ceres lost control for the first time.

Just now, she was wondering why Sally had forced her so roughly to abort the child. It was because Mary was pregnant.

Was Sally her mother?

How could she be so partial?

"Don't rush to eject me. I still have something important to tell you. Don't blame mom for your miscarriage. It's Johny's fault."

Mary raised her eyebrows and continued, "He didn't want you to have a child and took contraceptive measures. In Evian Town, the soup you drank contained contraceptive pills. Thus, you can't keep your child."

"Nonsense!"

Ceres didn't believe Mary's nonsense.

"Johny knows whether I am talking nonsense or not. He doesn't want a child right now because the child will become a hindrance to him. To be honest, if he truly loves you, why doesn't he bring you home during the New Year? Because he doesn't dare to do!"

Mary had never the president of the Winsor Group, he had no weaknesses and no one could beat him. However, since he fell in love would not let you be exposed to others. In short, he wouldn't allow his child to become his another weakness."

What Mary said was reasonable. Mary understood that, so did Ceres.

"Your child was an accident. You had the soup with contraceptive pills which must have had a bad impact on your child. As a man, the most important thing in his heart is his career and to get the inheritance of the Winsor family. I have told everything."

With that, Mary said that Johny had secretly let her take contraceptive pills. Was that true? When it came to the topic of having a child before, Johny indeed had said that he wanted a child.

In other words, if he didn't want it, then he could tell her directly. He didn't need to secretly take that action.

Mary must be lying, and she must be sowing discord.

'It is the truth,' Ceres thought.

Johny visited Ceres in the evening. She looked much better but the door of the ward and had dinner with Ceres.

He sat on the bed and held Ceres in his arms. Ceres leaned on Johny's shoulder and fiddled with his fingers which were thin and long.

"Your fingers are so nice. You can play the piano," Ceres praised.

"Do you want to learn piano?"

"Do you know how?" Ceres looked up at Johny. Johny nodded and touched Ceres's head, "I'll teach you later."

“Great!”

Ceres thought of Mary’s words. Although she did not believe that, she felt like asking Johny.

“Johny...”

“Ceres...” Johny lowered his head, “Do you have something to tell me?”

Ceres shook her head, “What are you trying to say?”

“Henry and Mary will get married next month.”

Mary had told Ceres about this, so Ceres did not feel surprised.

Johny was guilty. Ceres’s sister was going to marry Henry and become a legitimate young mistress in the Winsor’s. However, he could only hide Ceres. He was unhappy and was afraid that Ceres would be unhappy.

“Ceres, I promise you. One day, I will let the Winsors accept you and I will marry you honorably.”

Johny wore a very serious expression which even scared Ceres a little.

She did not expect Johny to promise her so much. She had never thought about anything about a wedding and just wanted to live a peaceful life with Johny.

Johny had such a plan before, but he didn’t tell Ceres because it was his duty.

But now that Ceres had lost a child, he told her about his plans.

“I didn’t think too much about it.”

“It doesn’t matter. You only need to remember my promise. Leave the rest to me.”

Ceres nodded solemnly and lay in Johny’s warm embrace.

“Ceres, I love you.”

Hearing “I love you”, Ceres was completely stunned.

She had been with Johny for so long, but he had never said that he liked her or loved her. Everything seemed to be a matter of course.

He said he loved her. He really loved her!

"I love you too, very, very much," Ceres looked up at Johny.

Johny smiled.

"Don't make me cry, okay? I've been crying too much recently," Ceres smiled as she wiped her tears.

After staying in the hospital for two more days, Ceres was discharged.

Time was good medicine to treat wounds. Johny and Ceres didn't mention the miscarriage tacitly.

Johny insisted that Ceres should stay at home and have a good rest. Ceres couldn't leave the house and was bored.

One day, Alice came to visit Ceres.

One Night Stand With The Uninvited Wolf President Chapter 115

/ One Night Stand With The Uninvited Wolf President
Ceres was complaining to Alice.

For example, she was complaining about how Johny forced her to take medicine every day, learn to play the piano every day, and forbade her from going out.

"I knew from the first day that he was a dictator! A total dictator!" Ceres concluded.

Alice nodded while eating fruit.

Seeing that Alice did not respond, Ceres asked her, "Alice, do you think what I said is wrong?"

"Of course not!"

"Then why don't you say anything? You are my best friend. Shouldn't you curse Johny together with me?"

Ceres pulled Alice's arm and said.

"Curse? Do you want me to curse him? Or do you want me to praise him? From my point of view, you are so lovey-dovey!" Alice said as she poked Ceres's forehead.

"Lovey-dovey?"

"Isn't that so? You are showing off your affection in front of me! Johnny is so good. He is a man of enterprise. Although he's quite busy, he still cares about whether you take the medicine or not. And he can even find time to teach you how to play the piano."

Alice put her palms together and looked at the ceiling with a pout, "When can I meet such a good man?"

Ceres was speechless.

"By the way, Ceres, here's your transcript!" Alice immediately remembered why she came here, and then took out Ceres's transcript from her bag, "The school has been busy with school anniversary these days, so the transcript came out a little slower. Congratulations! You've failed three exams."

Ceres was shocked and she nearly spat out a mouthful of blood!

"Three exams?"

Alice, however, looked indifferent. Ceres would fail exams every semester. She was indeed a talent in the field of artificial intelligence, but it was a pity that she never took the examination seriously because the examination was too easy. Some things were hard to memorize. She didn't want to waste time memorizing very scared. You are not like this. You are never afraid of failing exams." Alice covered her mouth and snickered.

"But it's that she had failed exams, she would come to no good end.

She would definitely come to no good end!

Alice covered her mouth and laughed, "Your man is good!"

Ceres glanced at Alice. Recently, the old cadres at home had been very strict with her. "Alice, have you signed on with that Shiry Entertainment Group?"

The smile on Alice's face froze.

When Ceres saw Alice's expression, she knew that something was wrong. She comforted Alice, "It doesn't matter. If you can't chance. Moreover, there are other companies. Don't be discouraged. You are so excellent and you will definitely find a proper company!"

"I signed the contract with them," Alice said with a smile.

After the last time when she went to participate in the internal selection, Alice received an official notification of signing the contract within a week, but she was not happy at all.

She knew why she was chosen.

"Really? That's great. We have to celebrate. The big star has begun the bottom of her heart.

Alice, however, looked a little disappointed. She hoped that she had obtained the contract with her ability, not...

Moreover, sleeping with that man for a night meant that she would have no more interactions with him.

"Let's celebrate when you go back to school."

"Alright. No problem."

After sending Alice off, Ceres began to worry about the make-up examination. Although she was just out of the surgery, the school did not care about this. She still needed to take the make-up examination, which would come a week later. She had to study hard within this week.

And she could not let Johnny know about this.

Ceres took advantage of the time when Johnny wasn't at home to start reviewing in the study room. When Johnny returned, she hurriedly put away all her things.

They ate dinner together. Johnny didn't work these past few nights. He had been accompanying Ceres to learn the piano.

After a few days, Ceres realized that learning the piano really required talent. She used to think that Mary was elegant and beautiful when she sat in front of the piano, but when she learned it, she found it so annoying.

Johnny had also told her in advance that learning the piano was dull. If she wanted to learn, she had to persevere.

Ceres wanted to give up.

Ceres brought a plate of fruit to Johnny and asked, "Shall we not learn the piano tonight?"

"Why?" Johnny looked at Ceres. He did not want his woman to give up halfway. Moreover, if she wanted to marry him, learning the piano was necessary.

How could Mary marry into the Winsor family so easily? Not only because she was good-looking and had a good family background, but also she was good at playing the piano and had won awards abroad.

Every Winsors could play the piano. That was because one of their ancestors was a young lady and she could play the piano very well. She was very well-known overseas and had accumulated a lot of connections for the Winsor family. That was why the Winsor family could rise.

Therefore, Winsors had to learn to play the piano not only because they needed to remember the history, but also the Winsors had always thought that playing the piano was the best way for self-cultivation.

“Well, you are busy recently. It’s too hard for you to teach the piano every day. Why don’t you stop to have a rest today?”

Johny flicked Ceres’s forehead. “Are you trying to slack off?”

Ceres just smiled.

“No, you have to learn.”

As he spoke, Johny pulled Ceres to sit on the bench in front of the piano. Ceres had no choice but to force herself to do it.

However, perhaps because she was thinking about the exam, Ceres could not play the piano well no matter how hard she tried. She did it even worse than a few days ago. Johny was so angry that he wanted to hit her in her hand!

“You practice by yourself first. I’m going out for a walk.”

Johny walked out of the piano room. Ceres knew that Johny was angry at this time. Considering that Ceres was just out of the surgery, he could not scold her, so he had to adjust himself.

Ceres stuck out her tongue and took out her phone to look at the exercises for the make-up exam.

Johny sat in the study and wanted to light a cigarette, but thinking for a while, he put it out in the ashtray. He looked down and found something in the drawer, so he pulled it out.

Ceres was still memorizing the questions in the piano room, and Johny stood behind her before she knew it.

As soon as she turned around, she saw Johny and immediately put her phone away.

“I’ll practice right away!”

“Take a look at this first.” Johny placed a piece of paper on the piano.

Ceres looked down and saw it was her transcript!

One Night Stand With The Uninvited Wolf President Chapter 116

/ One Night Stand With The Uninvited Wolf President

She slowly looked up and showed a silly smile at Johny, "I just failed three exams, not too many."

Johny's face turned even darker. "There are six exams in total. You have failed three exams. Do you think it's 'too few'?"

"I have once failed four exams!" Ceres touched her nose.

"Then tell me. How did you apply for the English exchange program? With this transcript?" Johny stood there with his hands on his hips.

"The exchange program mainly needs the recommendation of the professor. Besides, although I've failed exams, I can make up for it in other aspects. I have won a few awards, and each of them can help me get several credits. Foreign universities pay more attention to this."

Ceres said this with pride. She had always relied on these to get a scholarship.

Johny was speechless.

"Alright, I found it on your school's official website that three days later, there will be a make-up exam. From now on, I will help you with your revision. Go get the textbook."

"What? Now?" Ceres asked in astonishment.

"There are only three days left!"

Ceres was so unwilling. She would even rather play the piano than memorize those things.

The exams in the school were all very simple, which were full of questions needing to memorize. Those were too basic and useless. A genius like her would never waste time on them.

Thinking of memorizing something made her feel a headache.

"Can we do it tomorrow? It's a little late today. I am tired." Ceres subconsciously touched her belly.

She was reminding Johny that she was just out of the surgery.

Of course, Johny wasn't willing to make things difficult for Ceres. "Alright, bring the textbook over. I'll leave the homework for you first. You do it during the day tomorrow and I'll check it when I come back at night."

Ceres looked at Johny in pain, but she still brought the textbook to him.

Johny sorted out the questions for her and even prepared the main points to recite. He only need to check it after he came back. But it turned out that Ceres did not memorize a single question.

Johny next to him. As a result, when he turned around, Ceres fell asleep. He also felt sorry for her and could only second day, Johny watched Ceres as she memorized the questions one by one. She only managed to memorize a few of them with great difficulty.

On the third day, which was also the last day, Johny did the final inspection work, only to find that Ceres had forgotten everything she had memorized the day before.

Johny lost his temper. "Ceres! You are not a child. Are you so unaware of study? If I supervise you, you will learn. During the day, you will be taking a make-up exam. What exactly do you want? You cannot play the piano, and you also fail the exams either! What can you do?"

He has great pressure of work, and Ceres couldn't even finish the reciting. Thus, Johny did not pay much attention to what he was saying.

He was anxious for Ceres. He was working for her to become his wife as soon as possible, but what about her?

She could not even handle her make-up exam!

care so much? I have always failed my exams. Haven't I passed the make-up exam? If you are unwilling, just leave me alone! No one forces you to do this!"

Ceres could not hold it as well.

He had defined her to be worthless. Couldn't she refute?

"Do you think I am doing this for myself? I am doing it for you! Do you think I am willing to care about you?" Johny threw the textbook away and angrily left the study.

and felt wronged.

Johny sat on the bed in the bedroom with his head in his hands.

"Ceres, why can't you understand? How can the Winson family accept the fact my wife fails the exams? I'm doing this all for your good."

He had helped her learn the piano because of this. She was so smart. How could she not understand?

He was really annoying. He had to deal with a lot of people and business every day and had to be on guard against Henry, as well as others' schemes.

Thinking for a while, Johnny began to feel guilty. After all, she was still in poor health. No matter what, he should not be so angry with her. He should coax her.

Just then, the bedroom door suddenly opened. Ceres leaned on the door and grinned at Johnny. "I have memorized everything. Do you want to check it?"

Johnny waved at her, and Ceres passed the textbook to Johnny. Sure enough, she had recited everything.

"You just don't concentrate on it. You are very smart and you only need to be focused." Johnny took the textbook and patted Ceres's head.

"Then you can't be angry anymore. It's easy to age when you're angry. You're already almost ten years older than me. If you..." Ceres reached out to touch Johnny's brows.

Johnny immediately flicked Ceres's forehead. "Do you think I'm too old for you?"

"Not at all!" How dared she complain?

"Then let me show you whether I am old or not." As he spoke, Johnny pressed Ceres under him.

He had been suppressed himself for almost a month!

They laughed and rolled into the quilt. Ceres pulled the quilt away and said, "No! Didn't the doctor say that we couldn't do it within a month?"

This was like adding ice to a pot of boiling water!

Johnny was so angry that he wanted to curse!

When Ceres was discharged from the hospital, the doctor had said that they couldn't have sex within a month. Within three months, they had to use contraceptives. If they wanted a child, it was best to wait until six months later.

"Just bear with it." Ceres gloated and kissed Johnny on the cheek.

"Don't cry when the time comes!"

Ceres felt that her legs were weak.

The next day, Ceres took the make-up exam. It went well. She had been staying at home for half a month and was quite bored. After begging Johnny, Ceres finally returned to school.

A few days later, Ceres also received a notice from the Eagle Group, which needed three of them to go to the Eagle Group for an internship.

Ceres was extremely happy. She was about to see her idol.

One of them was Kirs, and the other was Hugo. Ceres was the only girl.

After seeing Kirs at the lake of the school last time, Ceres hadn't seen him again. When they met, they both looked a little awkward. Kirs was much thinner than before, and he looked much more mature.

"Hi, Kris."

"Ceres, long time no see."

"Yes, long time no see."

That sense of alienation made Ceres feel weird, but she felt that this was good. After all, she and Kirs couldn't be a couple. She believed that time would heal everything.

They sat in the meeting room of the Eagle Group and waited

One Night Stand With The Uninvited Wolf President Chapter 117

/ One Night Stand With The Uninvited Wolf President

Ruben, the director of the technology department, had shown them around the technology department. He also explained some rules and regulations about the technology department to them, and finally brought them to the conference room.

They were not the only ones in the conference room. It was said that there would be a conference of the whole technology department today, and all the people in the technology department would participate.

Ceres was so excited. She did not expect to be able to participate in such an important conference on the first day of coming here.

What everyone was most curious about were the three interns.

A young girl with heavy makeup and no business wear was still painting her red nails. She was the only woman here. She glanced at Ceres with disdain.

"Mr. Ruben, when did our technology department's conference become so terrible? Even the interns can participate? Besides, this intern is really scary."

Ruben immediately replied, "This is the president's order. Olivia, pay attention to your words!"

Olivia looked up and rolled her eyes. "I just want to remind you. It will be bad if the company's secrets are leaked."

Ceres glanced at the woman, who happened to look at her as well. Ceres saw hostility in Olivia's eyes.

Perhaps because Ceres was the second woman here, she was full of hostility towards Ceres.

On the first day, Ceres did not want to cause trouble and chose to remain silent.

Just at this time, the door of the conference room opened, followed by the sound of a wheelchair.

Ceres immediately looked over. When she saw the man who came in from outside, her eyes popped!

Johny!

It was Johny!

Johny didn't look at her. Instead, his face was cold. He sat on the wheelchair against the light and slowly entered the room. He was like God.

Ruben immediately stood up, and everyone else did the same. "This is the president of the Eagle Group, Mr. Johny. He is also the core member of our Technology Department, Arno."

What?

He was Arno?

Johny was her idol, Arno? Why was it so funny?

Ceres looked at Johny and was lost in thought for a moment. The man she loved the most was her most admired idol. This was even more excited than winning a lottery of a hundred million!

"Ceres! Ceres!

voice.

Ceres was so shocked that she forgot to stand up. Ruben reminded her and she stood up.

Olivia's expression became more she saw such a handsome president, she didn't know what to do!

Ruben introduced, "Mr. Johnny, these are the three interns we've recruited from the Imperial University. This is Kirs, Hugo, and this is Ceres."

"Hello, Mr. Johnny." They greeted in unison.

Kirs looked at Johnny and his eyes were full of endless hostility.

He also did not expect Johnny to be the president of this company and Ceres's idol, Arno. This man was not only brilliant, but he also knew artificial in this field!

He thought that artificial intelligence was the only thing he and Ceres had in common, but he never expected...

In an instant, he felt incomparably humiliated!

"Everyone, take a seat."

Johnny sat in the wheelchair and sat in the main position of the conference room. Everyone was serious. Even Olivia, who was still painting her nails, became serious.

During the meeting, Ceres did not remember a single word. She just looked at her man and forgot about the meeting.

Johnny left after the meeting.

Everyone dispersed, leaving behind three interns in the conference room. Ruben briefly introduced something to them again, reminding them not to be late for work the next day. Then he let them go.

Ceres's phone rang, and she immediately took it out to take a look. The corners of her mouth twitched.

"Well, Kris, why don't you go back first? I'm going to the bathroom, and then I have to go home later. I won't go back to school."

Kirs was not a fool. He might have guessed that Ceres had just found out that Johnny was Arno from her reaction during the meeting. He also knew she was not going to the bathroom, but to see Johnny.

But how could he stop her?

"Then we will go back first."

After Kirs and Hugo left, Ceres went to the president's office. When Ruben took them to familiarize themselves with the company, he told them the location of the president's office.

Ceres knocked on the door, but no one responded, so she quietly opened the door and leaned in. As a result, there was no one inside.

"I'm here!" Johny's voice came from the lounge.

Ceres went to the lounge and opened the door. Johny was changing his clothes and his chest was extremely attractive!

This was her perfect husband!

Ceres suddenly pounced onto Johny, and Johny held her legs. "Be careful!"

"Didn't you catch me?" She laughed. "Why didn't you tell me that you are the president of the Eagle Group and you are Arno? Last time when I was in the hospital, I said that my idol was Arno, but you didn't tell me!"

Ceres punched Johny's chest. How many secrets did this husband have?

However, she liked this kind of surprise and secret!

Johny didn't want to mention this at all, but seeing Ceres's excited expression, he felt that it wasn't bad.

"What did I talk about during the meeting today?" Johny showed a serious expression.

Ceres smiled awkwardly. She only cared about admiring her man. Who could listen to what he had said during the meeting

"I didn't listen!"

Ceres was very frank

Johny glared at her.

"That's because of this big surprise! My man is so handsome and elegant. And he is also the leader of artificial intelligence. I must have saved the galaxy. Oh, no! I must have saved the entire universe so that I can you!"

"Flattery!"

"You deserve it!"

"Then I'm asking you. Did you pass the make-up exam?" Johny once again looked serious.

"I was just about to tell you that I passed. I've passed all of them! This is all thanks to my wise and powerful man. With your help, I can have the achievements today."

Ceres looked up. "I want the reward!"

Johny smirked and pressed Ceres onto the bed. "Alright, I'll give you a reward."

"What are you doing?"

"What do you think?" Johny leaned close to Ceres's ear. "It's been a month," he said.

"But the doctor says that we must use the contraceptives!" Ceres blushed.

Johny opened the drawer and a box of condoms lay there.

"You've planned all this!"

One Night Stand With The Uninvited Wolf President Chapter 118

/ One Night Stand With The Uninvited Wolf President

Ceres did not expect that they would make out again in Johny's office.

Johny indeed had condoms in his office. Ceres was working together with him and they could see each other every day. Considering that, he had bought a box of condoms.

But he did not expect they would use it on the first day.

Ceres was wrapped in a blanket and looked at Johny angrily. Johny was putting on his clothes and he glanced at Ceres. "What's wrong? You want to do it again?"

Ceres picked up a pillow and threw it at Johny immediately. "Go away!"

Johny chuckled. He was afraid that Ceres would feel uncomfortable because of the miscarriage. So, Johny had tried his best to please her. And Ceres was even much shyer.

"Hurry up and put on your clothes. Time to go home."

Only then did Ceres pick up her clothes and put them on. "The colleagues should not know about our relationship, right?"

"I don't know."

"We need to be more careful. Later, we will pretend that we don't know each other, okay?" Ceres looked at the ring on her neck.

It was a pity that she only wore it once on the night when they got married, and then in order not to hide her identity, she tied it to her neck with a chain.

Johny didn't say anything. Of course, he knew that Ceres would keep their marriage a secret in the company. He also agreed with that. He hoped that Ceres could learn something from the employees of the technical department and work with him in the future.

If they exposed their relationship, it would be bad for her development.

"You go out first and wait for me in the parking lot."

"Yes, Mr. Winsor."

Although it was already time to get off work, she still needed to be careful.

Olivia went back to the company to pick up something. When she saw the lights of the president's office, she walked over. Then she saw Ceres crept out of the president's office as if she was afraid of being found by others.

"Ceres is really shameless! It's only the first day she comes here and she has already come to seduce the president!"

Ceres rushed to the entrance of the elevator, then went straight to the parking lot. She found Johny's car and waited for him there.

Then Johny also came, and they went something. Johny always said that he wanted her to be absolutely honest. Last time, he treated her so roughly because she had about him?

He actually hid such a big thing from her!

She was really blinded by love. Instead of being mad at him, she even flattered Johny and made out with him!

Johny had gone to take a shower. The more Ceres thought about it, the angrier she felt. Johny had been so bossy and she didn't punish him for lying to her.

As soon as Johny came out of the bathroom, a pillow was thrown on his head. He looked up known Ceres for so long. She was always the flattering one. He had never seen her lose her temper.

"What's wrong?"

"This is not fair! You are always so bossy!" Ceres sat on the bed with her arms crossed and turned her head to avoid him.

"What are you talking about?"

"You know what I mean! You said that you don't want me to hide anything from you. You treated me so badly when I hid my father's matter. But what about me. I've mentioned more than once the Eagle Group and Arno. But you ..."

Ceres was so angry that she was speechless for a moment.

Johny went toward her while wiping his wet hair. Ceres turned around and ignored him.

"Are you mad at me?"

Ceres remained silent.

"Aren't you very happy today?" Johny hugged Ceres and let her sit on his thighs.

Ceres opened her mouth but did not say a word. She turned to avoid Johny's sight.

"Then you can punish me, alright?"

He had always been the one to punish her and she had never punished him before?

Ceres was interested in his suggestion, and she turned her around immediately. "How should I punish you?"

"You can punish me in whatever way you want?" Johny said as he flung himself onto the bed.

Ceres immediately understood what Johny meant. "You call it a punishment?"

"Of course, it's a punishment. I'm a little tired after working for a day today. Don't you want fairness? Then you'll be on top today, and I'll be on the bottom."

Ceres really didn't expect this.

What kind of punishment was it? The way to punish him was just the same as the way he punished her!

She did not want it at all.

...

In the hospital.

Sally once again took Mary to the hospital. Mary had already checked the embryonic heartbeat and embryonic bud last time. The fetus was pretty good. This time, she came here to do a detailed examination.

Mary was really exhausted after the blood test and she didn't have breakfast today.

It was not easy to be a pregnant woman.

She sat and drank milk, leaving everything to Sally.

The doctor checked Mary's blood test and frowned.

"Miss Mary, your blood test doesn't turn out well."

"What do you mean? When we did the Brightness-mode Ultrasound, the doctor said that the fetus was very healthy. Don't talk nonsense!"

Sally disliked the way this doctor spoke.

"I'm just telling the truth. The B-mode Ultrasound could only see the surface. But the blood check showed that there was something wrong with her hormone level. Every pregnant woman has a different hormone level. There are two possibilities. One is that there is indeed a problem. The other is that Miss Mary was special. I think she should stay in the hospital."

When she heard that the doctor wanted Mary to stay in the hospital, Sally was anxious, "What do you mean? Mary is very well."

The doctor explained patiently, "If there is any problem, it will be safer in the hospital. After all, Miss Mary has only been pregnant for less than three months. It is the high time of miscarriage."

"Shut up! Don't say that word! Didn't you say that every pregnant woman has a different hormone level?"

"It's possible, but there is still another possibility. Miss Mary, did you take any medicine before or after you got pregnant?"

"I took the medicine given by my mother to promote pregnancy." Mary blurted out.

Sally said hurriedly, "I also took that medicine in the past. Now my daughter is still very healthy. There will definitely be no problem!"

As she said that, she stroked Mary's head. She had indeed taken the medicine and had Mary.

"That's it," the doctor said solemnly.

"Nowadays, many of the so-called home remedies that promote ovulation can be conducive to pregnancy. But it also destroys the hormonal balance in a woman's body. Many of my patients had a miscarriage because of taking them. Fortunately, I found you used it sooner. Miss Morris, I suggest that you stay in the hospital for observation and wait for the blood index to return to normal before you leave the hospital."

"But I'm going to get married. I still have a lot of things to do! This is the biggest moment in my life!" Mary pouted.

Of course, she was reluctant to stay in the hospital.

Sally said anxiously, "What's wrong with you, doctor? Did Henry send you? You are not a good doctor. Let's go! We'll find someone else."

Sally pulled Mary along as she stood up and headed towards the door.

"Hey, wait, Miss Morris, Mrs. Morris!" The doctor couldn't stop them from leaving his office. He shook his head and hoped that this was only a special case, not because of the remedies she took.

As they strode, Sally was still muttering, "What's wrong with this doctor? Why didn't Henry find you a good doctor? Mary, the medicine mother gave you is fine. Back then, I was pregnant with you because I also took that. Do you understand?"

"Mom, I know! You've said it many times! When I had the ultrasound scan, the doctor said that the baby was in good health. He certainly did not lie! I don't want to be hospitalized! Maybe the doctor thought that if I were, it would make her seem professional and help her stroke her ego."

"Maybe you have a point." Sally nodded.

"Okay, mom, I still have to try on the wedding dress. Go!"

"Look at how anxious you are!"

"Of course I am!"

Mary was going to be married to the second son of the Winsor family. Henry was Zara's biological son. Not only the family but also Zara sponsored the wedding, so it would be as grand and beautiful as the royal wedding!

Of course, she would look forward to being the center of attention!

In the entire Imperial City, since Johny was not engaged, her wedding would be the most luxurious one with an insurmountable standard!

Although Ceres and Johny had registered their marriage, no one knew about it. And Mary was happy that going to wear the most expensive wedding dress and jewelry to make all the women envy her!

The news that Henry and all the media. Some presses even secretly visited the wedding location.

This thing had also become a topic of conversation among the commoners of the Emperor City.

Ceres accidentally clicked the news on a website. She scrolled up and down and saw some pictures of the beautiful decoration. The wedding was held in an ancient castle on an island, and the style of it was a perfect combination of modern and classic.

Everyone couldn't help but be green-eyed.

Alice snatched away Ceres's screen, she immediately returned them.

"I heard that Mary was so popular recently. Everyone in the art school knows that she is going to get married. She even invited a lot of people. What a pompous ass!"

Ceres did not say anything. She understood Mary too well. She could probably imagine it.

"Ceres, rumor has it that Mary is pregnant. She will soon give birth to a baby and an heir to the family. I'm afraid that the family would get into Ceres put down her phone and took a few bites of her meal. "What precautions? Should he make her lose the baby? He would not do that! Besides, my man disdained to use such despicable means!"

"Look at your smug face!"

"So what I have. I am proud of my man!" Ceres tried to hold back her laughter.

"Ceres, don't be so cocky. Everyone will get sick of this," Alice protested, "But is Mary really pregnant? She can't be fake, right?"

Ceres shook her head. "She was pregnant pretty much at the same time with me. So it is true."

After that, Ceres's eyes dimmed. Every time she thought about Mary's pregnancy, she would think of her lost child.

Although she was still young and had not prepared to be a mother, her heart was still aching for her baby.

She even dreamed of a child calling her mother a few times. When she woke up, she found that her tears had wet the pillow.

She and Johny had a tacit understanding that no one would mention the child, but it did not mean that she could forget it.

"I am sorry, Ceres," Alice said, after reading Ceres's mind.

"It's fine."

"You and Johny love each other so much. You two will have your baby sooner or later." Alice didn't know how to comfort Ceres.

In fact, she sympathized with Ceres and felt pitiful for the child. After all, she was going to be the child's godmother.

"Yes, sooner or later. Probably, we will have more kids!" Ceres forced a smile.

But, her first baby was lost and gone forever.

They returned to the dormitory after dinner. Just as they reached the entrance, they saw Mary standing there.

Ceres did not want to pay any attention to her, but Mary blocked her way.

"If you have something to say, say it. Don't waste my time."

Ever since Sally wanted her to have an abortion for Mary's sake, Ceres would not want to have any conversation with Mary.

"A bumpkin is always a bumpkin. No wonder Johny wasn't willing to marry you! Unlike me, a lady from a rich family. The Winsors are so happy to have me in their family!"

Alice could not help but roll her eyes. "Oh my god, how can this person be so brazen-faced!"

Mary ignored Alice. She knew that they were like sisters.

"I came today to send you an invitation. As my twin sister, you should attend my wedding."

Mary was afraid that her luxurious wedding would miss Ceres, the best audience, so she specially came to send the invitation.

"My twin sister, you should know your place, right? If you don't come, everyone will question your loyalty. At that time, your man won't be able to protect you. I have seen the power of the grandfather, and he will do what he says! You should be more tactful!" Ceres said and handed the invitation to her

Ceres directly snatched the invitation letter!

"That's more like you," Mary smiled.

Ceres crossed her arms and looked at Mary from head to toe. She saw Mary was still wearing a pair of high heels, and the heels were not short.

Sally had told Mary many times not to wear high heels. But Mary did not care at all. She had been pregnant for almost three months. So far so good. Nothing would go wrong.

"Well, I think someone is being complacent. The higher one stands, the more heavily one falls."

"What do you mean?" Mary's face stiffened.

"Look at your high heels! Listen to me. Do wear flat shoes at your wedding. Be careful not to fall." After saying that, Ceres walked straight into the dormitory door.

"Are... are you cursing me?" Mary gritted her teeth. "You curse my baby just because you have a miscarriage! I tell you what. It'll be born healthily. Just you wait. You will die of anger!"

Hearing this, the smile on Ceres's face disappeared.

She lost her child and could do nothing about it. It was her fault.

She guessed Mary would use this to mock her again and again.

Ceres was not in the mood to care about this. She just wanted to focus on her job.

However, after three days of internship at Eagle Group, she found that she was isolated.

When she asked the seniors of the technical department for files, she was ignored. But Kirs got them easily. It was him who printed a copy for her. When she asked the seniors for advice, they all said they were busy. But she saw several people were flirting with Olivia.

Then, she heard some rumors saying that Olivia had the chance to enter Eagle Group just because she slept with an executive here.

At noon, Ceres got a text from Johny. He spent most of his time at the Royal Group and rarely came here. Bob was here most of the time.

Johny came here today. So he asked Ceres to meet him at lunch.

Ceres sneaked into his office.

In the break room, lunch was ready. There were two bowls of rice. Obviously, one was for her.

The dishes were quite sumptuous. There were braised pork and a spicy dish. Ceres liked spicy. However, when Ceres was eating, she suddenly felt angry. "They all bully me!"

Johny wasn't surprised. He had known something like that. "Tell me. And I will settle it for you."

"No!" Ceres decisively refused. She also knew that Johny was joking. "I just want to know why. Is it because I am ugly? But in the technical department, skills should come first."

"Are you sure you don't need me to deal with it?"

"No! I can solve it myself! If I can't do this, how can I call myself your wife?"

"Great!"

Ceres smiled at Johny. But she couldn't be bothered to flirt. If he got turned on, things might get messy.

Ceres went to the break room and was about to get a cup of water.

Suddenly, she was splashed by a cup of hot coffee!

Ceres cried in pain. It was Olivia! But she just said to Ceres indifferently, "Sorry. I didn't see you."

Her tone made Ceres even angrier!

Olivia got another cup of coffee and was about to leave. Ceres stopped her. "Wait! Look what you've done! How can you just walk away like this?"

"What do you expect me to do then?" Olivia tilted her head and looked at Ceres with a stone face.

"Apologize to me!" Ceres came to realize that Olivia must be the one telling others to isolate her.

Olivia had been the only woman here. But after Ceres came, there were two women in the department. When Ceres just came, Olivia had talked rudely to her. Moreover, her sixth sense told her that Olivia liked Johny. Maybe she saw something.

"I've already apologized. It seems to me you have someone to back you up, don't you? Otherwise, why are you so unreasonable?" Olivia said.

Their voice attracted a few colleagues. Ceres understood it too well. When Mary was at home, she often used this trick. It seemed that all women in the world found it useful.

Seeing this, Ceres stopped arguing with her. She picked up her cup and splashed the water inside on Olivia.

Olivia was stunned!

She did not expect that Ceres would attack her!

"What the fuck?"

"You scalded me just now. My water is much cooler. But I'll let it go. We're even." Ceres then left.

Olivia had never seen a woman as ruthless as Ceres before. "Stop right there!"

Ceres turned around with a smile on her face. "What else?"

"It was just an accident. I've already apologized. Yet you still splashed water on me. How can you be so rude?" Olivia roared.

"I'm sorry. I didn't see you. It was just an accident. And I've apologized. What else do you want?"

Give her a taste of her own medicine!

Olivia was so angry that she could not speak.

"Are you picking a fight with me, Ceres?"

"Me? Wasn't you the one who started it?"

Olivia did not expect her to be so good at quarreling.

"Alright. I was the one picking a fight, OK? I just don't like you. You know best how you got into Eagle Group. Do you think no one knows?"

"I entered Eagle Group Group with my real ability."

Olivia immediately laughed out loud, "Real ability? I think it's the ability on the bed, right? Well, since you're so confident, then why don't we have a competition? If you lose, your internship will end. And you'll get out of here!"

"What if you lose?"

"If I lose, I will resign!"

Ceres shook her head. She had seen Olivia's profile and knew that she was a capable person. Moreover, Johnny also admired her very much. Ceres couldn't drive Olivia away just because she liked Johnny. The company would suffer too great a loss.

"If you lose, you are not allowed to resign unless the company fires you," Ceres said.

"Ridiculous! Who will leave Eagle Group? It's the leader in artificial intelligence right now. The competition for a job here is fierce!" Olivia thought.

However, she soon understood Ceres's intention. If she lost to Ceres and could not resign, she would always be regarded as a loser. Wouldn't that be even more humiliating?

"Alright, it's settled then!" Olivia said.
