

One Night Stand With The Uninvited Wolf President Chapter 2

Chapter 2 Mysterious Man

What kind of family she was going to be part of? A rich and powerful one or a dangerous one?

After a while, two more people came to the room and carried the two knocked-out men out.

She heard the man whisper in a majestic way, "Deal with them secretly."

"Yes."

After dealing with the two intruders in the room, the man glanced at the bathroom door and suddenly turned his eyes away.

Under the moonlight, Ceres's skin radiated mesmerizing white light.

She did not realize that the bathrobe was off. She walked out of the bathroom.

"Did those people come to kill me?"

"Yes."

"But... but why?"

She was confused. She was just a bride for a vegetative to dispel bad luck, and she did not know why there was someone who wanted to kill her. She didn't offend anyone, and why did they want to kill her?

The man didn't answer her question.

"And who are you?"

"I am... Johnny's bodyguard."

The man's voice was deep and vigorous, full of majesty and authorization. He still turned his head sideways and didn't look at Ceres.

"Johnny's... bodyguard?"

The man didn't answer but went straight ahead.

“Don’t go, what shall I do if you go?” Ceres suddenly panicked when she saw that the man was about to leave. In this unfamiliar place, she really did not know who she could rely on except the man who had just saved her life.

She strode to catch up, but her feet were too slippery.

She slipped and threw herself straight towards the man.

The man reacted quickly. He caught her with his hand and because he was defenseless, he somehow tripped under his feet. With a bang, they fell to the ground together.

She instinctively hugged the man’s neck and their lips touched accidentally!

In a flash, it seemed that the whole world was still.

The man never thought such a thing would happen. Ceres’s lips were soft and warm, her skin was smooth and delicate, and her body still exuded a faint fragrance.

She hurriedly got up and slapped the man in the face!

“Bastard!”

The man seemed to have been in great shame, and no one dared to slap him in the face in this life!

He turned her over and pressed Ceres under him. “This is how you repay me?!”

His powerful voice was full of male hormones.

“You harassed me sexually just now.” Ceres felt embarrassed to say this.

“Then I’ll fuck you now!”

“No!”

She was lying on the ground with trembling hands pushing against him while looking at the man begging for mercy.

The man stared at her beneath him. She had tears in her eyes. Her face was round and she had a small cherry mouth. Those features made her look particularly delicate in the moonlight. If it were not for the big birthmark on her right face, she would be a beauty.

The night was silent, only the man’s breath was heard. A vague memory was evoked... Suddenly the man got up and walked towards the door. Halfway to the door, he stopped. He turned his face and said, “Your clothes are dropped.”

Ceres looked down and was amazed that she ran out naked!

A scream came and she quickly ran into the bathroom

She was seen naked.

She was so ashamed.

She hurriedly put on her clothes and hid in bed. She also found a pair of scissors from the room to defend herself. She began to regret that she should not have treated that man like this. He saved her life after all. She did not know that she was naked. It was not his intention to be like that, but a normal man's biological reaction. He was not a filthy man.

She regretted it very much.

She stayed up all night until someone came to wake her up and said that the wedding would be held on that day.

A bunch of people began to serve her. They dressed her up, and she just sat there still.

She doubted in her heart. Wasn't Johnny dying? How could a dying man hold a wedding?