

The First Heir novel Chapter 2851 - 2860

Chapter 2851

Rumble!

The huge golden dragon dissipated and returned to the Dragon Seal in Philip's hands. The crisis was resolved.

The five marquises glanced at Philip and said, "We have the task of guarding the stargate, so we won't stay here any longer. We hope to see you at the stargate one day."

After saying that, these five figures rose into the air, turned into five streaks of the rainbow, and disappeared in a flash.

After they left, Cooper glared at Philip. Philip sneered, turned around, and walked away weakly.

"Deputy Consul Berry, is that it?" Silva and others stood up and asked.

Cooper's face was cold, and his harsh aura swept over Larson Manor.

'Damn Philip Clarke!'

With the Dragon Seal in his hand, Cooper could not touch him.

"Find some experts to assassinate him!" Cooper said coldly.

Silva said, "But Deputy Consul Berry, if something happens to him, he'll point the finger at you. Plus, what if the five marquises pursue this? If the Clarke family finds out, won't it be too risky?"

"Hmph!" Cooper snorted coldly and looked at Philip as he was leaving.

He sensed the surrounding space and found that the five marquises had left. Cooper quickly rushed out and shouted angrily, "Philip, do you think you can leave?!"

An angry shout resounded throughout Larson Manor. In an instant, Cooper appeared outside the manor entrance. He was not one to play by the rules. However, when Cooper appeared at the entrance of Larson Manor, he was stunned!

In front of him, black banners embroidered with a golden island obscured his vision, and Dragon Knights in heavy black armor stood on both sides like upright poles. Their red robes embroidered with a golden dragon fluttered in the wind like a bright red battle flag, declaring the appearance of this undefeated battle cavalry that had gone through endless years!

3,000 Dragon Knights!

At the forefront, nine people stood there, all covered in black armor with a small golden island stamped on the chest. Their legs, arms, and waists were strapped full of frightening combat weapons. It was a combination of ancient and futuristic warriors. The nine people were fully armored with full protective gear, and even their helmets were made of special indestructible metal.

These nine people wore red robes stamped with a golden dragon. The Nine Dragon Protectors!

At this moment, Philip stood in front of the Nine Dragon Protectors, his eyes full of pride.

The Dragon Seal would protect the dragon!

Cooper was dumbfounded at this sight. It was the 3,000 Dragon Knights!

Such a terrifying cavalry stood outside Larson Manor at this moment.

How did they get here? Cooper was full of questions!

Philip stared sternly at Cooper who chased after him and said coldly, "Deputy Consul Berry, it seems that you have no regard for the five marquises at all."

Cooper panicked! However, he was unafraid!

He was a half-step to the other shore. Why should he fear the Dragon Knights?

"Philip, do you think I don't dare to do anything to you with the Dragon Knights around? The five marquises are mighty, but they've left, leaving you and the Dragon Knights behind. What can you do?!"
Cooper scorned.

However, Philip's indifferent smile caused a hint of fear in his heart.

Boom!

Suddenly, five majestic figures fell from the sky. It was the five marquises who had left earlier!

"Good for you, Cooper Berry! How dare you fool us?!"

Chapter 2852

The five marquises came back! Cooper's eyelids twitched!

At this moment, the five marquises were full of anger, and their auras were absolutely crushing. This made Cooper, a half-step to the other shore, seem very humble and weak. Five marquises a half-step to the other shore joined forces to exude pressure no less than a powerhouse on the realm of the other shore, which swept over Cooper!

Crack!

The space shattered, Cooper could not withstand this pressure at all. His knees went weak, and he knelt on the floor With a loud bang!

The floor shattered and cracked in an instant!

Was this the strength of the five half-step powerhouses?

In front of them, Cooper had no thought of resistance at all.

"Cooper Berry, how dare you ignore our order? Did you think that I was joking with you?"

Marquis Locke, who had an angular face, threw a fit. His voice was like rumbling thunder. All the ordinary people in Fernvale could hear the rumbling thunder in the sky. Under the pressure from the five half-step powerhouses of the other shore, Cooper knelt on the floor. Blood trickled from the corner of his mouth!

He said, "Five marquises, you've misunderstood. I was just sending Young Patriarch Clarke..."

At this moment, Cooper knew that if he did not admit his mistake, he would probably die here. He did not want to be a half-step to the other shore for just a few days. That would be too tragic!

“Hmph!” A cold snort was heard.

The short and fat Marquis Brett Fulmore snorted coldly and shouted, “Send him out? Is this the way to do it? Deputy Consul Berry, don’t think that no one can do anything to you just because you’ve reached a half-step to the other shore! If not on the account of the Nonagon’s contribution to the country, I can strip the position of a deputy consul like you at any time!”

That angry shout made Cooper tremble in fear!

He did not doubt the other party’s words. That was because Marquis Brett Fulmore was the current Imperial Preceptor’s father-in-law!

A royalty!

Cooper knelt on the floor and said in a muffled voice, “Marquis Fulmore, it was my mistake. I beg for your forgiveness...”

“Hmph!” Brett snorted coldly, his eyes stern. He had no intention of calming down at all.

Five energy pressures and the power of rules poured on Cooper. At this moment, Cooper felt as if five mountains were weighing heavily on him, crushing him. Energy pressure and the power of rules spilled from him as he tried to resist the pressure of the five marquises. However, it was to no avail.

Marquis Fulmore turned to Philip and asked with concern, “Are you alright?”

Philip smiled, shook his head, and said, “Thank you, Marquis Fulmore. I’m fine.”

Brett nodded before he looked at Cooper and barked, "Do you know your mistake?"

Cooper nodded vigorously and said, "Yes, I do! Please forgive me!"

Brett looked at the other marquises. Hay Locke said, "There's no need to go against the Nonagon at this point. Let's leave it at this."

With that said, the five retracted their auras.

Chapter 2853

Cooper suddenly went slack and knelt on the ground in exhaustion. His hands on the floor were supporting himself, and his head was lowered. No one saw the hatred in Cooper's bloodshot eyes. Blood trickled from his nose and mouth.

Cooper squeezed a smile, looked up at the five marquises, and said, "Thank you for your generosity."

Brett and Hay looked at Cooper indifferently and said, "Deputy Consul Berry, take good care of the supernatural disciple community. Perform your duty and responsibility as the deputy consul! The Berry family hasn't reached the level where you can have a say, and it'll never reach that level! Forget your wild ambitions. Otherwise, the Berry family will cease to exist in this world!"

"Yes, I'll remember your advice!" Cooper kept admitting his mistake.

Then, the five left with Philip. The 3,000 Dragon Knights also left Larson Manor with grand pomp.

After everyone left, Cooper stood up from the ground. He wiped the blood from the corner of his mouth, his eyes full of anger!

Bang!

With a punch, he smashed the sculpture in front of the door and roared. "Sooner or later, I want all of you to submit at my feet!"

At this moment, a man in a black robe suddenly appeared at the door of Larson Manor. Under the wide black robe was a pair of red eyes and a handsome face. However, this face quickly turned into a mechanical face before changing back to the handsome face again.

He said to Cooper in a hoarse voice, "Deputy Consul Berry, don't be so angry. Do you need my help?"

Cooper coldly looked sideways at the figure who suddenly appeared. He could not sense the other party's aura at all!

Was he also a half-step to the other shore?

Moreover, the other party's appearance looked very unfamiliar.

"Who are you?" Cooper asked coldly.

The other party smiled and said in a voice that Cooper was very familiar with, "Deputy Consul Berry, don't you recognize me?"

Hiss!

Cooper froze in disbelief as if he was struck by lightning. He sized up the other party, his eyes looking very serious and scary. He said solemnly, "Fitzgerald Hale, it's you! You're still alive!"

The man in a black robe laughed in a mechanical voice and said, "Deputy Consul Berry, don't be so wary of me. I'm here to cooperate with you."

Hearing that, Cooper became very nervous and worried. He said, "I'm sorry! I don't think we have anything to do with each other. On the contrary, I'll arrest you on behalf of the Nonagon!"

Hearing this, the man in a black robe stretched out a pair of black mechanical arms and said, "Since you said so, there's no other way. Initially, I wanted to tell you that I have a way to deal with the Clarke family."

With that said, the man in a black robe turned to leave.

Cooper frowned as his mind raced. Suddenly, he shouted, "What kind cooperation is it?"

Under the black robe, the handsome face turned into a mechanical face and showed a sneer. He turned around and said, "You'll help me retrieve something from the stargate of Cochly Mountain and I'll help you deal with the Clarke family."

Cooper scowled as he instantly thought of the item the other party wanted. It was something from the other shore, a powerful weapon!

During the battle in front of the stargate back then, this weapon killed many human experts. Even Roger Clarke was injured because of it. It was a weapon that must not fall into the hands of the other shore!

"I can't help you with this. You should know that I can't enter because of the restriction there!" Cooper said coldly.

The robot under the black robe smiled and said, "Don't worry. I've prepared everything for you."

Chapter 2854

Back to Philip's side.

He returned to the hotel under the escort of the five marquises with the strength of a half-step to the other shore.

Fennel, Cynthia, and the others were full of joy upon Philip's return. However, they also saw that Philip was injured, but his wounds were fortunately not serious. The five marquises left after sending Philip back to the hotel. Fennel and the others did not manage to see them.

As for the Dragon Knights, they were stationed on the streets around the hotel at this moment. The entire five-mile radius was filled with the black banners of the Dragon Knights.

The sight was astounding. More terrifyingly, the clothes and outfits of the Dragon Knights were enough to shock the world. The warriors were a combination of ancient and futuristic warriors. Much like the warriors in those futuristic movies!

Philip sat on the sofa with Fennel and Cynthia on the opposite side, who were nervous.

"Philip, are you alright?" Cynthia was anxious and asked with concern.

Philip shook his head, coughed, and said, "I'm fine. I just need some rest."

Seeing Philip's appearance, Fennel asked, "How did you return? Did Cooper do anything to you?"

Philip smiled, took out the Dragon Seal from his pocket, and said, "I have this."

Seeing the Dragon Seal, Fennel felt as if he was struck by lightning. He widened his eyes in shock and said, "The Dragon Seal?"

Philip nodded and said, "This is my trump card. Back then, Wynn put this in an envelope and gave it to me. I've always carried it with me. I never expected to use it here."

Fennel exhaled sharply and said, "Seriously, why didn't you say so earlier? With this thing, Cooper won't dare to do anything to you."

Philip sighed and said, "I don't want to use it either. This is my last resort."

Fennel nodded and asked, "How do you plan to coordinate the Dragon Knights? Why are they suddenly here?"

Philip frowned, shook his head, and said, "I don't know either. Is it because of the Dragon Seal?"

Philip, Fennel, and the others looked at the token in his hand at the same time.

Did the token possess time and space rules? Could it deploy the Dragon Knights from anywhere?

"What did Cooper say? Is this matter really over?" Fennel asked worriedly.

Philip frowned and said, "I don't think he'll do anything for the time being. I never expected that this Dragon Seal could summon five supreme powerhouses a half-step to the other shore. Cooper should be afraid now."

"What did you say? Five supreme powerhouses a half-step to the other shore?" Fennel was stunned!

Philip nodded and said, "They should be my father's followers from back then. They should be returning to Cochly Mountain to guard the stargate by now."

Fennel said gravely, "I know which five you're talking about."

Philip turned to Fennel and asked, "You do?"

Fennel nodded and said, "Yeah, it can only be the five marquises who've been guarding the stargate. When I had my training in Cochly Mountain back then, I was fortunate enough to meet them."

Chapter 2855

"The five marquises were also a part of the training. Anyone who could fight with them at the same level and remain undefeated would gain their approval and receive the chance to try out for the realm of kingship."

Hearing this, Philip asked excitedly, "Are you saying that they're guarding the source of kingship?"

Fennel nodded and said, "That's right. The stargate area they guard is the place where the source of kingship originates. One can only enter the place after defeating them and be acknowledged by the source of kingship."

The stargate of Cochly Mountain was divided into seven sectors with increasing strength levels. The central area of the stargate belonged to the territory of kingship. Only those who defeated the five marquises could get the recognition of the source of kingship and obtain one or two sources of kingship that was suitable for them.

Few people could get three sources of kingship.

Hearing this, Philip understood. The source of kingship was separate from the seven zones.

After a moment of silence, Philip said, "The things here are almost settled. Cooper won't do anything to us for the time being. I think the Larson family will lay low for a while as well."

Fennel nodded and said, "That's right. Since the five marquises have taken action, you can rest assured and boldly walk around here."

Philip rolled his eyes at Fennel before he said to Cynthia, "I need you to go back and take care of Grandpa for me. I have other things to do next."

Cynthia looked at Philip reluctantly and said, "When do you plan to leave?"

Philip sighed and said, "Most likely the day after tomorrow. I want to visit Grandpa tomorrow. "

With tears in her eyes, Cynthia sobbed and said, "Okay."

The next day...

When Philip woke up, he found that the Dragon Knights were gone. He was unperturbed and went back to the Larson family with Cynthia.

When Philip appeared in the Larson family this time, Silva and the others dared not stop him. The arrival of the five marquises yesterday really terrified everyone in the Larson family!

When he arrived at his grandfather's yard, he looked at the Larson family's guards nearby before he walked in. The grandmaster was still sitting on the reclining chair in the yard, drinking tea leisurely. He was about to doze off.

Hearing the movement, the grandmaster opened his eyes, looked at Philip walking in, and said happily, "Hey, Little Phil, you're here. Come, sit down."

The grandmaster seemed to remember something.

Philip sat with a smile on his face and said, "Grandpa..."

The grandmaster smiled and said, "I've been waiting for you."

While saying that, the old man took out a small dark purple wooden box from under the stone table. The top of the quaint box was carved with picturesque landscapes, dragons, and phoenixes.

The old man said mysteriously, "This is a gift for you. Don't let outsiders know about it."

Philip took the box and looked at it. The old man winked and motioned him to open it.

Philip opened the box and was instantly attracted by the content. It was a round black stone. There were many fine lines on the stone like grooves and lines carved out by some force. A picture was carved on the back of the stone. A person was looking up at some imposing buildings in the sky. The buildings were not ancient but modern buildings. They were even grander and more high-tech than modern buildings

"Grandpa, what's this?" Philip was puzzled.

The grandmaster smiled and said, "A starstone from the stargate of Cochly Mountain. You'll use it later."

'Starstone? A product from the stargate of Cochly Mountain? Or something from inside the stargate?' Philip was stunned for a while.

“Grandpa, how do I use it?” Philip asked.

The old man’s eyes suddenly darkened as he said, “This thing is related to your mother’s secret back then. She asked me to give it to you. As for what it is, I don’t know either.”

Chapter 2856

His mother left it to him? It was related to the secret vault of the Larson family?

Philip was puzzled as he stared at the starstone in his hand and fell into deep contemplation.

What was the starstone used for? Was it any different from the ebony stone that was used to produce the essence of life?

“Grandpa, is there a difference between this starstone and the ebony stone?” Philip asked.

The grandmaster thought about it and said, “Ebony stone? It can’t be compared to the starstone. The ebony stone is just a special product of Cochly Mountain, an ore that metamorphosed due to the influence of the stargate. In fact, this product can also be found in the other two stargates. However, they don’t have mining technology, so the ebony stone can only be supplied by our country. But we can’t rule out that they might have the technology now.”

At this point, the grandmaster seemed to remember something. He got up from the reclining chair, patted Philip, and said, “Sit here and wait for me.”

With that said, the grandmaster walked into the backyard.

Philip sat in the yard with the palm-sized starstone in his hand. He held it above his head and looked at it while facing the sun. Under the sun, this starstone was somewhat transparent, and some things could vaguely be seen wandering in the stone!

'What the heck?!' Philip was shocked.

He looked at it carefully, and at the same time, activated his rule of insight. However, a powerful force shut out Philip's rule of insight. It was as if a strange power in this starstone was blocking out Philip's probing. Moreover, Philip felt a sudden burst of pain in his brain!

At this moment, the grandmaster walked out of the backyard. Seeing Philip's state, he smiled and said, "I forgot to tell you that if you don't have a certain level of strength, don't peek at the structure and material inside the starstone. It'll backfire on you."

Philip huffed and looked at the big box that the grandmaster carried with him.

"What's that?" Philip asked.

The grandmaster rummaged through the big box for a long time, took out the things one by one, and finally found what he was searching for. He said joyfully, "I found it!"

While saying that, the grandmaster took out something in a cloth bag. He opened the cloth bag and there was a book inside. There were also ancient characters on the cover that Philip could not recognize. The grandmaster flipped through the book, took out a letter from between the pages, and said, "Keep this properly. If you run into any problem in Mystic City, remember to hand this letter to a man named Cody Crane. He'll help you."

'Cody Crane?' Philip frowned and took the letter from the grandmaster.

There was a seal on the envelope which was still intact.

“Grandpa, who’s Cody Crane? Does he have high status with the right to speak in Mystic City?” Philip asked.

Chapter 2857

The grandmaster lay back on the reclining chair and said with a smile, “He’s just a rogue individual whom everyone in Mystic City is after.”

Someone whom everyone in Mystic City was after? Why would Philip need his help, then?

However, since Grandpa said so, Philip accepted it.

After chatting for a while, the grandmaster seemed tired, so Philip got ready to leave. Before he left, Philip stood at the door and looked at the sleeping old man, feeling very uncomfortable. He did not know how long it would take before he could see his grandfather again. With that thought in mind, Philip knelt at the door and bowed three times to the grandmaster before he got up and left.

After Philip left, the old man lying on the reclining chair suddenly woke up and shouted, “A mountain and sea full of corpses! My Little Phil!”

After that, with a face full of forlorn, he stared at the door blankly and muttered, “My Little Phil, when will you come back and see me? I don’t have much time left.”

Philip left the Larson family and returned to the hotel.

Cynthia looked quite depressed at this moment and could not cheer up even at the sight of Philip. That was because she knew that Philip would be leaving tomorrow.

Philip smiled and asked, “What’s up? You seem to be in low spirits.”

Cynthia forced a smile and said, "It's nothing. I just don't want you to leave."

Cynthia had become much bolder.

Philip was startled, scratched his head, and said, "I'll be back."

After saying that, he looked at Fennel who just walked in and asked, "How are the preparations?"

Fennel replied, "It's almost done. We can set off for Mystic City in the northwest tomorrow."

Philip nodded and came to Reed's recovery room. Seeing Reed working in a battle robe, he smiled and said, "Teacher, are you busy?"

Reed raised his head, gave a few instructions to the guard in front of him, and said, "Why are you here?"

Philip smiled and said, "I'm here to see you."

Reed coughed and said, "Are you ready to leave?"

Philip nodded and said, "We'll be leaving tomorrow."

Reed nodded and said, "Okay, Mystic City in the northwest is not a simple place. Be careful in everything you do, don't act too impulsively, and don't mess with others easily. Even the Imperial Preceptor has to watch his every move there."

Philip looked solemn and asked, "What kind of place is this Mystic City? Even the Imperial Preceptor has to be wary."

Reed sighed, smoked a cigarette that smelled quite choking, and said, "Do you know the legend of Hanger Pass?"

Philip was taken aback, but he said with a nod, "Yes, it's said that a sage exited Hanger Pass and caused a purple mist that spread over 3,000 miles. What's the connection between this legend and Mystic City?"

Reed replied, "That isn't just a legend. The sage has received verification. He once left his seal and famous words on the stargate of Cochly Mountain."

"What?!" Philip was shocked!

That sage actually left his mark and words on the stargate of Cochly Mountain? How was this possible?

This simply overturned Philip's worldview. However, thinking of the current situation, it seemed that everything was possible.

Reed nodded and said, "According to various investigations and findings, as well as your father's speculation, when the sage left Hanger Pass and headed west back then, he had likely reached the pseudo realm of the other shore. As for his arrival in Cochly Mountain and after seeing the stargate, no one knows what realm he's reached or what happened."

Hearing this, Philip felt surreal. The ancient sage was a mighty presence.

"So what's the connection between Hanger Pass and Mystic City?" Philip asked.

Reed said, "The Northwest Mystic City is an alias for Hanger Pass."

"What?" Philip was stunned.

This Northwest Mystic City was actually the Hanger Pass of the past.

"But Hanger Pass is displayed on the map while Mystic City isn't," Philip said.

Reed nodded and said, "That's right. Mystic City isn't displayed on the map because the Hanger Pass displayed on the map is the Mini Hanger Pass, while the real Hanger Pass is Mystic City in the northwest."

Chapter 2858

Mini Hanger Pass?

Philip was startled. He did not expect that Hanger Pass was divided into big and small.

"Teacher, what exactly is this Hanger Pass?" Philip asked.

Reed sighed as he recalled the legend and said, "This is just hearsay. Back then, the stargate was opened once, and the creatures from the other shore invaded this world on a large scale. Hanger Pass was the last line of defense for the human race to resist the creatures on the other shore! Without Hanger Pass, the civilization of this world would have been destroyed long ago."

Hearing this, Philip looked very surprised.

The creatures on the other shore had invaded this world through the stargate and carried out a massacre. He suddenly thought of the group of creatures contained under the sacred city of Mount Olympus in the West!

Were those the ones?

“Was it the sage who stopped those creatures on the other side?” Philip asked.

Reed replied, “It wasn’t him alone. There were sages in every era who would give their all for the era they lived in. They headed out of Hanger Pass to suppress the creatures on the other side, taking on everything for the human race and the world civilization. As for the outcome of the ancient sages, we can only speculate through history. It was very likely that our speculation only encapsulates one-tenth of what really happened.”

Hearing this, Philip’s expression turned grave. If what Reed said was true, those creatures from the other shore could invade this world again!

Was this the chess game planned by his father? Was this what his father did?

Did he want to follow in the footsteps of the ancient sages?

Seeing Philip’s solemn expression, Reed patted him on the shoulder and said with a smile, “Don’t worry too much. It’s still too early. Your father and those people can still protect the civilization of this world for now. However, after 10 years, the future of the world will depend on you. So, you have to grow as soon as possible and reach a certain level as quickly as you can. Only then can you learn more.”

“However, I want to remind you that the burden on your shoulders in the future will definitely not be the same as now. At that time, you may have to carry the civilization of the entire world and the fate of the human race. Do you understand?”

Philip looked at Reed in bewilderment.

Why was he that person? He could not figure out how he became part of the chess game.

Everyone hoped that he would grow up and reach the height of his father, but no one ever asked him if he was willing. The fate of the human race and the civilization of the world was a great responsibility. The burden landed on him just like that.

Since he could not figure it out, Philip stopped thinking about it. He asked instead, "Teacher, do you know Cody Crane?"

"Cody Crane?" Reed was taken aback before he said nervously, "How do you know him?"

Philip said, "My grandpa told me. He gave me a letter and said that I can look for this person if I run into any problems in Mystic City. Is this person very powerful?"

Chapter 2859

Reed frowned and said with a nod, "Well, Cody Crane was once a famous character with fame no less than the five marquises. He once had the reputation that the world would tremble under his feet."

'The world would tremble under his feet?' Philip frowned.

Reed shook his head and said, "Forget it, it's best if you don't get involved with this person. However, since your grandfather said so, you can look for him if you really get into any trouble. Maybe you can get some unexpected results."

"Okay..." Philip nodded, glanced at the letter in his hand, and said, "I'll leave Fernvale to you, then."

Reed smiled and said, "I just received an order from the Imperial Preceptor. He's ready to make a move against Fernvale, so I'm not helping you but simply carrying out his orders. "

"The Imperial Preceptor wants to make a move against Fernvale?" Philip asked.

Reed said, "Yes, he has lost patience with the situation here in Fernvale. Time is running out for those troublemakers."

Hearing that, Philip smiled. Then, he left Reed's room and returned to his room.

At night, after Philip finished his shower, he walked out of the bathroom in a robe while drying his hair. Suddenly, he saw a woman in his room.

A delicate woman... Cynthia Larson?

She was wearing a black lace nightgown and sitting next to the bed. She looked at Philip with seductive eyes.

"Why are you here?" Philip was a little awkward.

This atmosphere was not right. Those emotional eyes of Cynthia made him uneasy all over.

Cynthia got up, pounced into Philip's arms, hugged him, and said, "Be with me tonight. I don't want to miss anything..."

Philip was anxious. He tried to push Cynthia away and said, "Are you crazy? You're a Larson. We can't..."

Cynthia hugged Philip tightly and said, "No, I'm not. My father told me that he picked me up from the outside. I don't have the Larson family's bloodline."

After saying that, Cynthia looked up at Philip with tears in her eyes.

Philip was dumbfounded. Cynthia was actually picked up by Hogan from the outside?

"But it's impossible between us!"

Philip pushed Cynthia away. He could not let Wynn down.

Cynthia hugged Philip tightly from behind again and said, "Philip, I know that I've never had a place in your heart, but my heart is full of you. I once told myself to forget you, but I can't do it at all. Philip, please, just stay with me tonight. After tonight, I'll definitely forget you!"

In the end, Cynthia was already crying.

Philip sighed helplessly, turned around, grabbed Cynthia by her shoulders, and said seriously, "Cynthia, I know your feelings, but there's no place in my heart for anyone else."

Cynthia looked at Philip's serious eyes and laughed. She stumbled two steps back and said, "I know, and I understand, but I won't give up. Philip, just answer my question. Don't you like me at all?"

Philip was speechless. He looked at Cynthia's crying face and said, "No, I've always regarded you as a friend..."

Cynthia laughed at herself, wiped the tears from the corners of her eyes, took a deep breath, and said, "I see. Thank you for telling me the truth."

After saying that, Cynthia turned around and ran out of the room.

Philip looked at her back and said helplessly, "Actually, you're more than a friend..."

Fennel stood at the door with his arms crossed. Seeing this scene, he shrugged and said, "Don't you want to go after her?"

Philip rolled his eyes at him and said, "I'm not that kind of person."

Fennel said helplessly, "Cynthia is quite nice."

Philip did not answer but asked instead, "What about the thing I asked you to do?"

Fennel held a document in his hand and said, "Steven just sent this. We've found some information about the organization that Hannah belongs to."

Chapter 2860

Philip immediately perked up. He took the information from Fennel and glanced through it carefully.

Heavenly Court?! This organization was called the Heavenly Court? What a domineering name!

This was a name that only appeared in ancient mythology!

In modern society, those who dared to use such a name as the name of an organization were either very influential or powerful! This term was very meaningful!

“Is this their name?” Philip asked with a frown, still in disbelief.

The logo of this organization was the pearly gates of heaven, which looked huge, profound, and grand.

Fennel shrugged and said, “Yes, Steven sent this. To be honest, I was shocked when I found out as well. Those who can use this name are definitely not ordinary people!”

Philip was grave as he carefully looked at some of the information about this so-called Heavenly Court. The information sent by Steven was not much, most of which was superficial intelligence and clues.

There was also a little introduction about the personnel and organizational structure within the Heavenly Court. In short, the Heavenly Court was divided into three factions. One faction was very radical and ambitious. They wanted to control the world’s financial resources and power, as well as armed forces.

One faction was conservative with very little information about them. It was only known that they were doing something meaningful to mankind and civilization, but there were very few people in this faction. They had lesser rights to speak and were not as strong as the radical faction.

The last faction was neutral, which hovered between the radical and conservative. They were the typical peacemaker. However, the neutral faction could not be underestimated, because they had the greatest power and right to speak in the Heavenly Court!

Of course, the faction that protected Hannah was the conservative faction.

This was very similar to the three factions of the Lovelace family.

Could there be some hidden secrets between the Lovelace family and the Heavenly Court?

The more Philip discovered, the more astounded he was. This Heavenly Court had been passed down for thousands of years. It had been around since the time of the first emperor. In recent years, it enjoyed the most glory when his mother ruled!

His mother was the first empress in the history of the Heavenly Court!

The highest authority of the Heavenly Court was called the Heavenly Emperor or Heavenly Empress. It was the greatest honor.

Was his mother really that great?

Even the organization that Margot Pearson belonged to was just a small organization that extended internally from the Heavenly Court. It was an organization founded by his mother.

Looking at the information at hand, Philip felt as if his brain capacity had reached its limit. It was too bizarre and surreal.

Heavenly Court, Heavenly Emperor, three factions, his mother, the Lovelace family-what was the connection between all of these?

What happened in the Heavenly Court back then?