

Chapter 709

This night, she slept soundly, but without his arm as a pillow for herself, she woke up very early the next day.

As soon as the faint sunlight came in in the early morning, Suzi woke up.

It was just after six o'clock in the morning, and she had breakfast in the hotel and went out to call a taxi.

Since it was late at night when I arrived at the county town from the airport yesterday, Suzi only felt that the county town was no longer the quaint town of fifteen years ago. Instead, it was replaced by tall buildings. Now when I look at Suzi in the daytime, I feel that it is a small county town. Expanding everywhere.

The county seat is developing very fast, and I don't know what the old home, not far from the county seat, in the west of the city, is now?

It is estimated that every household should be a newly built two-story building, right?

But only his own home.

When I left at the age of twelve, my family was still an earthen house. After so many years, the dirt houses should have been dumped, right?

Calling a taxi and negotiating the price, there is no such thing as Arron said to give people two thousand dollars a day in a wallet car.

Suzi only gave him the previous wallet for one day, and the driver was very excited, and the driver's words of joy suddenly increased.

After Suzi got in the car, he enthusiastically asked Suzi.

"Sister-in-law, look at what you are wearing. You are not like a local. You are like a girl from a big city. Are you here to visit relatives or friends, or just travel around?" Asked.

Suzi: "Both."

Immediately afterwards, she said: "This county is developing really fast. It looks like a city."

The driver replied: "No, the county town was more than four times smaller than this twenty years ago. Now it has expanded greatly. You see, it's a high-end community in front of you, like a park."

"Yes, the scenery here is really beautiful." Suzi said perfunctorily.

"You said here, the scenery here is not beautiful, you haven't seen East Lake. The scenery of East Lake is beautiful." "East Lake." Although Suzi has been away from his hometown for fifteen years, in his childhood memory, the county seat There is no lake.

"Man-made lake, there is an East Lake in the east of the city, and the West Lake is to be built in the west of the city. The construction is about to start. It is now being mobilized for demolition. It has been just a few days. When the West Lake is built, the two lakes will echo each other. It's even more beautiful."

"Motive for demolition?" Suzi suddenly thought that his hometown was in the west of the city.

I don't know if the West Lake will be within the scope of its hometown.

"Master driver, please drive faster." Suzi urged.

"Good little mushroom cool." The driver speeded up again.

The best hotel in the city where Suzi lived is actually not far from the west of the city, only five kilometers away. The more the driver drove westward, the more signs he could see everywhere he was preparing to start construction.

"Miss, you see, construction here is about to start." The driver still enthusiastically introduced Suzi.

Suzi had no intention of listening. At the intersection ahead, Suzi immediately said: "Master, turn left."

The driver nodded immediately.

After a while, Suzi said: "Master, turn right."

Although the appearance has been widened, the route is still the same. Suzi has entered the area she is most familiar with, then turn north, enter a rural road and drive another kilometer, it should be the village where she had lived since childhood.

However, at the intersection, Suzi had already seen that the village she was in had already begun to be demolished, and the houses on the side of the road had been demolished.

Suzi's heart suddenly became tense.

The driver also noticed: "Little girl, do you have any relatives here?"

Suzi said: "My home is here."

Driver: "...". The car continued to drive forward, and the driver said as he drove: "The forklift and crane have begun to work..."

When the car stopped, Suzi went crazy and ran forward: "Wait a minute! Wait a minute!"

Chapter 710

Suzi ran all the way, ran under the forklift without hesitation, and stood there.

The forklift driver was frightened in a cold sweat. He stopped his operation, got out of the car and yelled at Suzi: "You don't want your life! You don't want your life, you shouldn't come to trouble me, you, you, Go away, don't delay our work!"

Suzi stood still: "This is my house. If you demolish this place, who has my consent!"

Forklift driver: "..."

After a pause, he said, "We are only following orders. You must demolish and relocate here. You must be agreed by Murakami."

Suzi looked up at the faces around him.

She did not see her familiar faces.

She didn't see her neighbor when she was a child, and maybe she didn't recognize her.

At this time, there was an old voice behind him: "Suzi, are you Suzi?"

Suzi turned her head and looked at the hunchback in front of her, an eighty-year-old elder, she hesitated for a moment, and asked, "Old man, you are..."

"Are you Suzi?" the old man asked again.

"Old man, I am Suzi, my name is Suzi Suzi, my father's name is Kuishan Shen, my mother..."

Before Suzi finished speaking, the old man choked up: "Your family...Your family has finally come."

Suzi: "...". For a while, she didn't understand what the old man meant. She asked again: "Old man, you are..."

"I'm Grandpa Shen Er next door to your house. You forgot. When you were young, your parents worked all at once. When no one looked at you, your parents would put you in our house."

"Grandpa Shen Er?" Suzi flushed his eyes immediately: "Are you Grandpa Shen Er?"

Suzi's mind suddenly remembered the appearance of Grandpa Shen Er.

When Suzi was a child, Grandpa Shen Er was not so old. At that time, he looked like 50 or 60 years old. At that time, his parents would often put Suzi in the house of his neighbor, Grandpa Shen Er.

Grandpa Shen Er and Grandma Shen are among the best in this village.

They had no sons, only one daughter hired a son-in-law.

For this reason, the people in the village and the families with large populations also bullied Grandpa Shen's house.

Just like bullying Suzi's family.

For this reason, Shen Er's daughter, Suzi, and her husband could not bear the bullying of the villagers. They went out to work at a young age. They did not come back for many years, and Shen Er's grandmother often became angry because of the sc*mbag. Then he was gone.

Now, there is only Grandpa Shen Er in the family.

At the end of the new year this year, the above noticed that all areas several miles away from the west of the city would be relocated, and an artificial lake would be built here.

The original villagers here received corresponding compensation, but Suzi's family alone.

No one has been here.

The grandfather Shen Er next door anxiously ran to the east of the village to see, hoping that Shen's family could come to meet the demolition as soon as possible.