

Charismatic Charlie Wade Chapter 4967-4972

Chapter 4967

“Elaine?!”

When Xu Jianxi heard this, the whole person was stunned.

Immediately, he asked incredulously: “Sister Soleil, do you mean that Elaine ordered us?! She...she doesn’t know our true identities!”

Soleil said with a serious expression: “I think that an accident in our family is inseparable from the arrest of Elaine, maybe it’s because of her, but if you ask me to show substantive evidence, I can’t take it either. come out.”

Yosef on the side said quickly: “Aunt , I think that Elaine is an old hanging silk. She can’t be so easily fooled, she must not have any great ability.”

Hallie also echoed: “Yes, Aunt , Elaine doesn’t look like someone with real skills.”

Sorry! You are Blocked from seeing the Ads

Soleil said coldly, “Do you still remember her son-in-law?”

“Remember.” Yosef said, “Isn’t that the kid named wade, what is it called wade , Charlie wade?”

“Yes, it’s him!” Soleil nodded heavily and said coldly, “Thinking about it now, I always think that kid seems unusual!”

Hallie tilted her head to think for a moment, then said, “Aunt , aside from being handsome, there doesn’t seem to be anything unusual about that kid, right?”

Sorry! You are Blocked from seeing the Ads

Soleil said with a solemn expression: “I can’t tell you the specifics, it’s just an intuition.”

As she said that, she suddenly remembered something, took out the mobile phone she used to keep in touch with her family, and quickly flipped through something.

After looking at it for a long time, Soleil said with a puzzled expression: “Strange...how come there is no movement at all...”

Yosef asked curiously, “Nothing at all, Aunt , what are you talking about?”

Soleil blurted out: “Elaine’s arrest has not been reported by any media so far. This time Elaine was found to have more than five kilograms of goods, which is a big case wherever it is placed, and there are so many news stories in New York. The media, this kind of thing will be reported as soon as possible, but why can’t find any news reports at all?”

Yosef hurriedly asked, “Aunt Soleil, what keywords did you search for?”

Soleil said: "I searched for the keywords of JFK airport, seized, and contraband, but all I found were previous news, and there was even a report in which less than 50 grams of contraband was found. 50 grams are worth reporting, why not five kilograms?"

Yosef frowned and murmured, "It's really a bit strange to say that...According to the character of the customs and the police, to find out such a big case, I should wish the whole world would know about it."

Soleil said very seriously: "This matter must have been suppressed artificially, and I think the manipulator behind the scenes should have something to do with Elaine!"

After speaking, Soleil said again: "I understand Elaine's situation. Like you said, she is just an old hanging silk, she can't have any real skills, and she is stupid to death, so the biggest suspect is Her unassuming son-in-law!"

"F*ck..." Yosef smacked his lips and blurted out, "Should we tell the above and let them check the boy surnamed Wade?"

Soleil shook her head and said, "If he is really behind the scenes, then his strength is absolutely terrifying. You must know that he can not only suppress such a big news in the United States, but also bring me and her in China. Find out the family's situation and report to the police;"

"Moreover, there is a very important premise here, that is, he must have mastered the real identities of me, so we can find out our family members through our real identities, and we can find out in such a short period of time. The true identity of the two of us, the energy behind this, may be far beyond our knowledge..."

Yosef suddenly remembered something at this time, and suddenly said: "That's not right, Aunt Soleil! If Elaine's son-in-law really has such a strong strength, then Elaine can't be fooled by us. With her character, her son-in-law is not. If it was so powerful, her tail would be up in the sky long ago, and it would be impossible to play with you at all."

Soleil said very firmly: "This can only show one thing, that is, the idiot Elaine has no idea what kind of person her son-in-law is!"

When Xu Jianxi heard this, he blurted out: "If only there was a chance to tie up that Elaine! I don't care what her son-in-law came from, if she doesn't spit out the money to be seized in my house, I will slap the f*ck. stab her to death!"

Soleil said coldly: I advise you to stop dreaming. If that Elaine's son-in-law wants to get Elaine out of prison, he must catch us a few. That kid will find out so quickly. Our true identities, we're probably going to be more fortunate in the future..."

Chapter 4968

"Ah?!" Yosef's face turned pale with fright, and he blurted out, "Aunt Soleil, what should we do now?!"

Soleil blurted out, "It seems that I was right in choosing to go to Mexico. Let's flee to Mexico as soon as possible. The law and order there is chaotic, and it is also convenient for us to hide. After we get there, let's think about countermeasures slowly!"

.....

At this moment.

New York's highest-end private hospital.

Elaine just woke up on the soft bed in the luxury single ward.

Although she broke a rib, fortunately, the problem was not serious. The doctor gave her oral and topical drugs, which helped her minimize the pain, so the physical pain was almost negligible.

However, unlike the body, Elaine's spirit was tortured all night.

She slept last night and had many dreams. Although each dream was different, each of them ended with her being sentenced to death by the court.

That night, Elaine didn't know how many times she woke up, let alone how many times she cried while hugging the pillow.

Although Charlie found her a very strong lawyer, she was still afraid that she would not be able to clear her grievances.

At this time, there were many police officers standing guard outside the ward door. In order to prevent Elaine from escaping, they stayed here overnight.

The Chinese female doctor specially arranged by the hospital for Elaine just came over to round the room. After several police officers moved the door away, the female doctor knocked on the door lightly, and then pushed the door open.

Seeing that Elaine was awake, she asked very politely, "Ms. Elaine, how are you feeling now? Did you sleep well last night?"

Elaine's eyes were red, tears kept dripping down, and she choked: "Last night... I don't know how many times I was sentenced to death... Doctor... I really it's unfair..."

The female doctor said helplessly: "Ms. Elaine, I really believe in your innocence, but I'm just a doctor after all, and the judge has the final say on this kind of thing..."

After speaking, the female doctor asked again, "What would you like to eat for breakfast? If you have anything you want to eat, you can tell me, and I will arrange the logistics staff to prepare it."

Elaine hurriedly asked, "Then is there anything I need to avoid in my diet?"

The female doctor shook her head and said, "Your attending doctor said that your injury is not a big problem, and your diet is still based on your own preferences."

Elaine said quickly: "Then I want to eat some sea cucumber, preferably simmered liao ginseng with millet. People say that sea cucumber nourishes the body. It seems that those who play football eat sea cucumber every day!"

The female doctor nodded and said: "No problem, our hospital may not have this kind of thing, but I will arrange for someone to go to the Chinese restaurant to buy it for you later."

Elaine quickly asked again: "This... I don't need to spend my own money, right?"

"No." The female doctor said earnestly, "You don't need to bear all the expenses for you here. Your lawyer has already signed the bill for you."

When Elaine heard this, she couldn't help being excited, and said quickly, "Then please let them cook me another lobster porridge."

"No problem." The female doctor agreed without hesitation.

Elaine remembered something, and hurriedly asked the doctor: "By the way, can you give me a proof of serious injury and let me live here forever?"

The female doctor shook her head and said seriously, "Ms. Elaine, your injury has stabilized. According to the police's request, you can be discharged at noon."

. :

Chapter 4969

"what?!"

Elaine seemed to have heard the cruelest words in the world, and blurted out: "Why did you let me out of the hospital so quickly?! If I am discharged from the hospital, wouldn't I have to go to the detention center?!"

The female doctor said apologetically, "I'm sorry, Ms. Elaine, what are your arrangements after you are discharged from the hospital? I really don't know this. You still have to ask the police."

Elaine cried and said: "Doctor, it shouldn't be difficult for you to give me a certificate of serious injury, right? You should help me to give me one, my old bones really can't stand the detention center. Tossed."

The female doctor said helplessly: "Ms. Elaine, this kind of thing cannot be faked in the United States. If I issue you such a certificate, the police will definitely ask other doctors to review it. If my certificate is found to be false, then I will never be qualified to practice medicine again in my life."

Elaine hurriedly said: "What you said is just a matter of probability, it may not really happen, you should have pity on me and help me with this old bone... I have been to the detention center before, and I was arrested in it. I broke a leg, I don't know what kind of environment it is in there, if I let me in again, I might really be bullied to death..."

The female doctor shook her head repeatedly and blurted out, "I'm sorry, Ms. Elaine, this is a matter of principle, and I really can't help you."

Elaine gritted her teeth and blurted out: "Doctor, if you don't, you can just break one of my ribs. If I break two ribs, you can't drive me away from the hospital, right?"

The female doctor said embarrassedly: "Ms. Elaine, if I really do this, it's not a matter of revoking my medical qualifications. Maybe I'll go ahead before you, and the two of us may be able to be inmates in prison. ."

After she finished speaking, she immediately changed the topic and said, "By the way, Ms. Elaine, you want to eat millet, ginseng and lobster porridge for breakfast, right? I'll make arrangements now, you wait a moment."

After saying this, the female doctor turned around and left the ward without waiting for Elaine to speak.

When Elaine was in despair, James White, the top criminal lawyer in New York, knocked on the door and walked in. Seeing her, he asked with a smile, "Ms. Elaine, did you rest last night?"

When Elaine saw the lawyer come in, he immediately rekindled hope, and quickly asked, "Lawyer White, I heard the doctor say that I will be discharged from the hospital at noon today, what the hell is going on?"

James White explained: "The police reviewed your medical records this morning and met with your attending doctor. According to your doctor's feedback, the police believe that you no longer need to stay in the hospital for treatment. , so you will be discharged from the hospital at noon today."

Elaine blurted out: "Do I have to go to the detention center after leaving the hospital? I don't want to go to the detention center!"

James White said seriously: "Ms. Elaine, I understand your feelings very well, but first of all you need to know what kind of case you are suspected of, carrying more than 5 kilograms of contraband out of the country, if this crime is confirmed, you will never be in your life. It may be possible to get out of jail. Although I have the confidence to help you clear your name in such a serious case, you also need to have an accurate understanding in your heart. If you don't even want to enter the detention center, I can only say that you think a little bit. Too much, or thinking a little too optimistically."

When Elaine heard this, she quickly complimented: "Lawyer White, you didn't even dare to scold a lot of police yesterday by yourself. At first glance, you are a top lawyer with great skills, you can help me. Think about it..."

James White said solemnly: "Ms. Elaine, I will do my best to help you clear your name, but what you just said, I really can't do anything about it, I have already seen your examining magistrate, the other party The request was not to be released on bail, so you must go to the detention center for a period of time, and how long you will stay depends on how long the police can catch Jovie and Stella."

Elaine suddenly fell to the bottom of the valley, and even more sobbed: "If I can't catch them all the time, won't I be able to get out for the rest of my life?"

James White explained: "If you can't catch them, I will do my best to defend your innocence, but it may take a little longer, please understand."

Chapter 4970

Seeing that James White hadn't loosened at all, Elaine knew that he would inevitably enter the detention center today, and his heart was full of despair.

In the last experience, she was really afraid of places like the detention center.

Especially this time she was in a foreign country where she was unfamiliar with the United States, so she felt even more apprehensive about the detention center in the United States.

But she never dreamed that if Charlie wanted to, he could let James White help Elaine get a diagnosis certificate and let Elaine stay in the hospital all the time.

If Soleil can be caught as soon as possible, Elaine may not have to wait until entering the detention center to be completely cleared of suspicion.

But Charlie felt that in that case, Elaine would definitely not learn a lesson.

That's why he specifically asked Jian to tell James White not to let Elaine stay in the hospital for too long, and send her to the detention center today.

At this time, James White saw Elaine's expression of despair, so he comforted: "Ms. Elaine, your son-in-law is helping you find a relationship and solve the case as soon as possible, so you don't have to worry too much, you will stay in the detention center for ten and a half days, it should be out."

Elaine knew that he had no other choice but to wait, so he nodded lightly.

Although she was reluctant in her heart, she could only accept her fate at this moment.

Seeing that Elaine was in a very low mood, James White said again: "Ms. Elaine, after you are in prison, I will arrange for our staff to deposit enough funds in your prison account so that you can save money in your prison account. Inside, you can buy whatever you need, and in prison, you can call your family when it's time for release, and then you can call your daughter and son-in-law."

Hearing that it is possible to call the outside world, Elaine's mood eased a little.

Since her arrest, she has missed her daughter and son-in-law very much, but apart from having a phone call with them at the beginning, she has never had a chance to get in touch with the two of them.

So, Elaine said to James White with a sad face: "Lawyer White, please tell my son-in-law that he must do it as soon as possible. Whether my old bones can return to China alive or not depends entirely on him... .."

James White nodded and said seriously: “Ms. Elaine, don’t worry, my mobile phone is with the police at the door. I will contact your son-in-law when I get it back.”

Having said that, James White added: “By the way, Ms. Elaine, remember to prepare a richer lunch at the hospital at noon. After lunch, the police will take you directly to the detention center. I still have a lot of related work to deal with, so this middle I’m not coming.”

Elaine hurriedly asked, “Lawyer White, which prison will I be sent to?”

James White replied: “Ms. Elaine, at the request of the judge, you will be sent to Bedford Hills Correctional Facility in upstate New York.”

Elaine asked: “Is the correctional institution less serious than a prison?”

“No.” James White explained: “Although the name is a correctional institution, it is actually the only women’s prison in New York dedicated to felons and suspected felons...”

Chapter 4971

“Fellow?!”

When Elaine heard these three words, the whole person was shocked and said quickly: “Lawyer White, can you think of a way to go through the back door and change me to a detention center, an old lady like me who is helpless. , how are you going to fight with those serious criminals... Then you won’t be beaten to death in it...”

James White said helplessly: “Sorry, Ms. Elaine, this is the operating rule of the New York judicial system. Judging from the crimes you are currently suspected of, Bedford Hills Correctional Institution is the only place you are currently going. This is not me. It can be solved, I am a lawyer, and I have to do things within the framework allowed by the law, not undermine the framework of the law.”

Elaine suddenly panicked and asked, “Lawyer White, do you have a prison tyrant in your American prison? It’s the kind of person who is the biggest in the prison and bullies anyone she catches.”

“This...” James White said embarrassedly: “As far as I know, there should be such a phenomenon in prisons in any country and any place, but you don’t have to worry too much. In general, as long as you don’t go Provoking those prison bullies, those prison bullies will not have any conflicts with people of your age, and after you enter, you can call me if you have any questions, and I will arrange for someone to solve it.”

Hearing what James White said, Elaine was slightly relieved.

Thinking of what happened to her in the detention center last time, she thought to herself: “Last time, it was mainly because there were two enemies, Mrs. willson and Wendy, so that prison tyrant Zhang Guifen changed his mind and bullied the old lady!”

“If it weren’t for their two bastards, Zhang Guifen, that bastard, wouldn’t necessarily take the initiative to trouble the old lady!”

“When I get to this American detention center, I will try my best to keep a low profile. It shouldn’t be a problem if I think about it.”

At this time, James White looked at the time and said, “Ms. Elaine, I still have things to deal with, so I’ll leave first. When you arrive at Bedford Hill Correctional Institution, if you need anything, please call me at any time. Telephone.”

“Okay.” Elaine nodded hastily.

James White reminded again: “By the way, Ms. Elaine, don’t forget to have a good lunch. As far as I know, because the parliament has been reducing the prison budget, the food in the prison is really not good, and even if you have money, it is not good.” You can buy anything.”

Elaine hurriedly said: “I know... I have to ask the hospital to prepare a full meal for me at noon!”

...

noon.

After enjoying a sumptuous lunch comparable to a full-fledged Manchurian feast, Elaine was taken out of the hospital by the police.

As Elaine is suspected of transporting up to five kilograms of contraband, she will be sent to Bedford Hills Correctional Facility in Westchester County, upstate New York, as ordered by the judge.

This is the only women’s prison in New York dedicated to felons or suspected felons.

In this prison, nearly 1,000 prisoners are detained. From murder and arson to robbery and drug trafficking, the prisoners here are more vicious than the last.

After Elaine was taken to the prison, he first handed in his personal belongings, and then completed a series of prison inspections at the request of the prison guards, and then obtained his serial number in this prison: Prisoner No. 1024.

In the end, at the request of the prison guards, Elaine changed into prison clothes and was led into the prison area by the prison guards.

Elaine, who has entered the palace for the second time, although he is in a foreign country, he is familiar with this series of procedures.

At this moment, what she was thinking about was what kind of inmates she would meet.

The last time she entered the detention center, she met Mrs. willson and Wendy, as well as Zhang Guifen, who was stronger than an ox.

Those few days were like hell for her.

This time, she only hoped that she could meet a few normal people.

Following several prison guards into the cell, the guard took her directly to Cell No. 12.

After arriving at the door, the prison guard yelled at the inside through the thick iron gate: "Everyone stand up and assemble immediately!"

Elaine stepped on his feet and looked in, only to see the No. 12 cell, which was at least hundreds of square meters in size, and the entire cell was symmetrically divided into left and right sides by a low wall about one meter high. The side is a semi-open space constructed by low walls.

Chapter 4972

In this semi-open space, there is a small single bed on the left and right.

At this time, the prisoners inside were resting, some were lying on the bed, and some were sitting at the head of the bed and talking to others.

Hearing a loud roar from the prison guard, the group slowly got up and lined up in the inner part of the middle corridor.

The prison guard did not rush to open the door at this time, but counted the number of people outside and made sure that everyone had lined up. Then he said on the walkie-talkie: "Open door No. 12."

As soon as the voice fell, the heavy iron fence door opened automatically.

The two prison guards walked in first with batons, while the other two guards held Elaine and followed behind.

After entering, Elaine was directly brought to the front of a group of female prisoners by the prison guards.

And this group of female prisoners of different skin colors, ranging in age from 18, 9 to 50 or 60 years old, were looking at Elaine with contempt or provocation.

In their eyes, this yellow-race woman in her fifties or so looks like an unlucky person who is easy to bully.

The prison guard pointed at Elaine at this time and said to the crowd: "She is No. 1024, and she will live in this prison from now on."

Elaine bit the bullet, waved to everyone, and said with a forced smile, "Ha...Hello..."

The female prisoners present did not pay any attention to her. On the contrary, many people looked at her with interest, and there seemed to be some ulterior motives in their eyes, which made Elaine somewhat nervous.

One of the prison guards pointed to an empty bed and said to Elaine: "1024, you will sleep in this bed in the future!"

Malan nodded quickly.

The few prison guards didn't talk too much. After simply settling down Elaine, they turned around and left the cell directly.

As soon as the prison guards left, a red-haired, white woman in her thirties came to Elaine with her shoulders in her arms, and asked contemptuously, "Hey, new here, let me know why you came in. of?"

"Ah?" Elaine was slightly startled, and said hesitantly: "I...I am because...because..."

Seeing that Elaine was murmuring and not talking about the main point, the woman immediately reprimanded: "I tell you, I am the biggest in this cell, what I ask, what you answer; what I say, what you do, otherwise, be careful that I Punch your shit out!"

Elaine shivered in fright, and quickly said, "I... I was carrying contraband..."

The woman frowned and asked her, "Bringing contraband? How much?"

Elaine said quickly: "I brought five kilograms..."

"F*ck!" The woman said in surprise: "Five kilograms?! Are you sure you didn't play with me?"

Elaine hurriedly said: "I don't dare... I'm telling the truth..."

The woman looked Elaine up and down for a while and asked, "Are you a drug dealer?"

Elaine quickly shook his head: "I...I'm not..."

The woman asked again: "Then you work for a drug dealer? Or a gang member?"

Afraid that the other party would misunderstand him, Elaine hurriedly shook his head again: "No, no... I'm innocent... I was tricked into taking the luggage on the plane, and I was caught in a daze..."

When the woman heard this, she breathed a sigh of relief, looked at Elaine with a contemptuous smile, and slapped her in the face, causing Elaine to see gold stars in her eyes.

Elaine screamed, and was about to ask her why she beat her, when she heard the woman say, "I thought you were a great person, but it turned out to be a stupid pig who was tricked into being a mule!"