Chapter 961 You Shall All Die Here

Kai slashed his sword down mercilessly, and the terrifying aura from the blade enveloped Enoch. At the moment, Enoch was so injured to the point where he could no longer endure Kai's horrifying blow.

Swoosh!

A golden light flashed, and Enoch only felt his body becoming lighter. He turned his gaze toward his arms and realized that both of them had been cleanly cut off.

In the next second, blood began to spurt, followed by a wave of excruciating pain.

"Argh!"

Enoch shrieked, startling the other guardians.

When they saw Enoch was injured, the other guardians became furious and charged toward the clones of Kai that they were facing.

Although they were just shadow clones created by Kai, these clones weren't used to confuse opponents as Ichiro's did. Instead, Kai's shadow clones had the power to fight. Although their strength was not comparable to the main body, they were still on par with Senior Grandmasters.

The guardians dodged the shadow clone's slashes and delivered a ruthless punch to the clones.

The four shadow clones were smashed and disappeared into thin air. Still remaining unscathed, Kai stood in front of Enoch, coldly gazing upon the shrieking man.

"Enoch!"

The other four guardians rushed over to help stop the bleeding.

"Retreat now! This kid's strength is far more deadly than we imagined. We have to report this to Mr. Deragon!"

Enoch urged the others to retreat. He decided to stay to hold back Kai.

“We’re not leaving you behind, Enoch!”

The other guardians picked Enoch up and quickly rose to the sky. They no longer wanted to fight Kai.

“Didn’t I already say that all of you are going to die here today?”

Kai raised the Dragonslayer Sword. “Nine Shadows, River Cutter!”

The terrifying sword energy expanded past the guardians. After a flash of golden light, the sword sliced through the fifth guardian.

The sword energy cut Quito in half, raining his blood and organs down the sky.

“Quito!” the remaining guardians shouted in anguish.

“Take Enoch and leave! I’ll stop him!”

Altan quickly turned around and sent a punch at Kai.

Kai did not avoid Altan’s punch. Instead, the golden glow from his body began to form shimmering scales, similar to the ones that grew out of his skin when he started his solitary training.

Soon, Kai’s body was covered with scales, effectively giving him a layer of armor.

Boom!

Altan landed his punch on Kai’s body, but the overwhelming recoil sent him flying backward. On the other hand, Kai didn’t even move an inch from his position.

“Insolent fool!” Kai snorted coldly.

Then, he leaped high into the air and stomped on Altan’s chest, sending him back to the ground.

Altan crashed heavily to the ground, and the sounds of his bones cracking rang out. Blood and fragments of his organs spewed from his mouth.

He glared at Kai as if he had something to say. However, he couldn’t utter a single word no matter how hard he tried. In the end, he tilted his head and stopped breathing.

“Altan!” Garadin roared and turned around. While Kai was still stepping on Altan, he took the opportunity to smash his fist onto Kai’s back.

Boom!

Garadin's fist made contact with Kai's body, but Kai did not even budge. Instead, the recoil caused Garadin to stagger backward.

Kai slowly turned around and looked at Garadin. His frigid eyes scared Garadin witless, and he quickly retreated.

Now that Kai's ascension to a higher stage had improved both his physical body's endurance and his Golem Body, breaking his flesh was no longer a simple feat.

Chapter 962 Self Destruct

"Kai, we're members of the Deragons. I'm sure that you're aware if you kill us all, the Deragons will not let you off!"

Garadin was terrified by Kai's menacing gaze.

"The Deragons? Hah!" Kai sneered, "I'm not just going to kill you. I will also wipe out the Deragons!"

With that, he brandished his sword and slashed at Garadin until he became a mess of gore, blood, and viscera.

Enoch witnessed the entire scene. Although he was anguished, his fear caused him to lose his courage. He desperately tried to flee with the help of Catur.

Suddenly, Kai's body vanished in a flash and appeared in front of Enoch and Catur, blocking their escape route.

"Kai, we're not here to kill you. Mr. Deragon asked us to take you to the Deragon residence alive. So please don't misunderstand!"

Looking at Kai who was covered in Garadin's blood, Enoch hurriedly explained.

"I know you didn't come to kill me," Kai said indifferently. "But I'm still going to kill you. See those corpses? They were all my men!"

" Kai, you—"

Enoch was about to say something when Kai beheaded Catur with his Dragonslayer Sword. The fourth guardian's head flew into the air, spraying blood all over Enoch.

Everything happened in a flash.

Enoch couldn't believe his eyes. He couldn't imagine the amount of strength Kai had achieved.

What he had achieved might not be the strength of a Martial Arts Grandmaster but a Martial Arts Marquis that could level mountains and split oceans. That being said, isn't Kai still a bit too young to be that powerful?

"It's your turn now!"

Kai pointed the tip of the Dragonslayer Sword at Enoch.

" Kai, you've gone too far!"

Enoch had lost both his arms. With no hope of survival in sight, he took a deep breath and began to expand his body like a ball.

His last ditch of retaliation was to self-destruct.

He would die soon anyway. Hence, he wanted to take Kai down with him.

Enoch's body got bigger and bigger. His eyes popped out, and his face turned red.

" Kai, run!" Rayleigh shouted with a face full of panic.

The self-destruct of a Martial Arts Grandmaster would be as powerful as a bomb.

But Kai wasn't worried at all. He dematerialized the Dragonslayer Sword in his hand and slowly lit a cigarette.

Kai, who never liked smoking, was hoping to calm himself down with a cigarette.

After all, the bodies that lay strewn across the ground were men who died for him. Those men would never return to life even if he killed the five guardians.

When he realized that Kai was calm and wasn't running away, Enoch expanded his body even further.

With the cigarette hanging in his mouth, Kai began to emit golden light from his body. His scales quickly grew out of his body, covering him entirely.

"Go to hell, Kai!"

Enoch had reached his limit.

Boom!

The entire Dragon Bay and even the entire Horington felt the explosion.

A mushroom cloud rose into the sky and could be seen clearly from afar.

Many people looked up at the sky and were confused.

"Kai!" Rayleigh shouted and immediately rushed over.

"Mr. Chance!"

Tommy and Phoenix hurried over as well.

When the smoke dissipated, they found Kai standing still with not a scratch on his body. The cigarette in his mouth was still burning.

Then, the golden glow that enveloped Kai faded, and he let the cigarette drop from his lips. Slowly turning to Rayleigh, he said, "I'm fine, Mr. Deragon."
