Chapter 3026

Thinking about how the disciples from the Deer Pavilion were acting, Rudy felt like they were a complete joke. He raised an eyebrow as he said, "Even the disciples from high-grade clans wouldn't casually challenge other people and talk down to them. Even if they scorned others, most of them wouldn't express it outwardly..."

"After all, most of the disciples from high-grade clans are of noble birth, and they wouldn't do things that stray too far from morality. Yet, those disciples from the Deer Pavilion don't seem to care about that at all, they publicly stamp down on those they feel are beneath them! Don't they feel like their actions reflect on them incredibly badly?"

Rudy could not understand why the disciples of the Deer Pavilion would act that way.

The higher grade a clan was, the less likely their disciples would do something like that. Even if they looked down on wandering warriors, they would not try to interfere with the choices of others like what had happened earlier. They would not have jumped out the moment others bet on the beats, trying to use their statuses to mock others.

Such behaviors were considered bullying, and those of high status would typically deter from that. At the very least, they would not do anything like that unless the other party had offended them first.

Jackie raised an eyebrow, looking up at Lesley who was walking onto the stage. "We could conclude that it's just an individual's moral problems had it just been Lesley, but it seemed as though the other disciples from the Deer Pavilion seemed unperturbed with what Lesley was doing at all—even joining in, I'd say. This proves that it's how the entire Deer Pavilion acts. All of the disciples of the Deer Pavilion will do this."

After hearing what Jackie said, Rudy warily spoke, "The Deer Pavilion isn't a small clan. Why would they ignore their statuses and insist on bullying the weak to make themselves look larger than life?"

Jackie raised an eyebrow as he thought about it, saying in a calm tone, "That's because the Deer Pavilion is in an awkward spot. They want others to think that they're an eighth-grade clan when they've yet to reach the standards. Everyone in the Deer Pavilion shares the same mentality. They feel like their clan is already at the level of an eighth-grade clan. An eighth-grade clan is already considered one of the greatest forces in the whole Middle Province..."

"Other than the ninth-grade clan, the Scarlet Pavilion, being able to stand over them, the other clans won't be able to push them back. Since everyone else doesn't think they're an eighth-grade clan, they're trying their best to prove it... Against warriors from weaker backgrounds, they'll show off the best they can. Those with the least substance are often those who try to show off the most. That's probably how everyone from the Deer Pavilion is..."

After Rudy heard all of that, he thought about it in earnest before nodding solemnly. Jackie was right, the Deer Pavilion's warriors must all have thoughts like that in mind.

It was precisely because the Deer Pavilion is in an awkward spot. They were the greatest among the seventh-grade clans but have not been promoted to an eighth-grade clan, yet they felt like they had achieved that status. Since they were not acknowledged by others, they would not give up any chance they had to show off.

With that in mind, Rudy scoffed and remarked, "If they want to prove themselves that badly and show everyone that the Deer Pavilion is already at the level of an eighth-grade clan, they should be looking for eighth-grade clan disciples instead.

"They shouldn't be causing trouble for weaker warriors. Anyone with any ounce of intelligence would see the Deer Pavilion's actions as petty and dumb."

Jackie nodded. The situation really was like that, but the disciples of the Deer Pavilion did not seem to think so.

At that moment, another howl reverberated across the whole colosseum, attracting everyone's attention.

An icy-blue light shot over as the frostfire wolf descended from the air. The frostfire wolf was about 3 meters in height, and its entire body was covered by icy-blue and scarlet-red fur. It seemed to have heterochromia with one eye being blue, and the other being red.

Chapter 3027

The moment its feet touched the ground, the frostfire wolf howled into the blue skies angrily as it unleashed its full might.

Jackie raised an eyebrow and looked at Lesley, who was in front of the frostfire wolf, with great interest.

At that moment, Lesley's expression was not the greatest. The wolf's power was immense, causing his confidence to be shaken a little. It barely chipped off that gargantuan ego of his, however, as he smirked.

"Stop trying to show off! You're just a beast while I'm a chosen disciple of the Deer Pavilion. I've killed so many beasts that I've lost count, and you'll be one of them!"

From everything that had happened earlier, it was easy to tell that the frostfire wolf was not an actual being. It had been condensed out of energy, but its skills were no different from an actual frostfire wolf!

A real frostfire wolf was incredibly intelligent, capable of understanding human speech. The energy-manifested frostfire wolf did not have that ability, but it did nothing to stop the frostfire wolf's intense animosity toward Lesley.

The crowd that had been quiet started to discuss the battle.

"Do you think this beast is strong? It doesn't look too different from a large wolf beast. Of course, I don't know how strong the beast's skills are."

"Will Lesley be able to deal with it? He has to win. I bet fifty thousand spirit crystals on him. If he wins, I'll be getting two hundred thousand back!"

"Who knows? The beast doesn't look that weak. It seems stronger than any ordinary beast, but there's no need to worry too much. Lesley is still a chosen disciple of the Deer Pavilion."

"If he's nowhere close to excellence, there's no way he could have gotten that position! Even if this beast looks a little strong, Lesley should be able to handle it."

The crowd got a little worried when the frostfire wolf unleashed its power. After all, almost all of them had betted their spirit crystals on Lesley. They naturally hoped that Lesley would be able to win.

Jackie had gone against everyone else's choice, betting his spirit crystals on the frostfire wolf, and Rudy had followed suit. Jackie was seated in quite an obvious spot, and everyone around him knew who Jackie was because of the earlier conflict.

Everyone talked about the match, and those who were around Jackie started to glance at him.

A muscular man with a mustache looked at Jackie with a raised eyebrow, asking, "Hey, why are you so confident that Lesley will lose?"

Jackie turned to look at the man. He could tell that the man was just asking out of curiosity and did not have any ill intentions. After all, Jackie did just bet his crystals on the beast decisively.

Thinking about what Jackie had said earlier, they did not think that Jackie's actions were just to stand out.

Jackie answered in a calm tone, "Lesley will definitely lose. There's no other possibility."

Chapter 3028

Jackie had said that with full conviction as if there was no other outcome of the battle. After those around him heard that, the curiosity in their eyes deepened.

Jackie was that confident?

The man with the mustache frowned and followed up, "Why do you think that Lesley will lose? Is there a reason for that?"

Jackie already knew that they would ask something like that. He looked up at the stage and said calmly, "You'll know why in just a bit."

He had no intention of explaining himself. After all, if he did, it would reveal his secrets to the others, and he had too many secrets on him. The moment he revealed one, it would be easy to figure out his other secrets as well.

To prevent himself from becoming a lab rat, Jackie decided against saying anything. Those around him were no idiots, either, for the moment they saw that Jackie had no plans on explaining, they did not pester him.

Everyone held back on the gossip as they looked toward the stage again. Lesley had already pulled out his weapon, which was a chakram that was the size of two palms.

The green chakram had countless runes engraved on it, releasing a green glow. He placed the chakram in front of his chest as he held the two ends. Lesley narrowed his eyes slightly as he coldly looked at the frostfire wolf in front of him. The frostfire wolf let out another howl as its hindlegs bent slightly. The next second, he shot at Lesley like a cannonball.

Everyone heard a boom as the frostfire wolf left two craters where it had leaped off from. It was obvious how strong the wolf was.

The frostfire wolf was incredibly quick, so much so that it was difficult to track with the naked eye.

Everyone inhaled sharply at this, sweating bullets for Lesley's sake, but Lesley's expression remained calm. Even if the frostfire wolf was terrifyingly quick, he still looked incredibly confident.

Lesley let out a roar as he started to form seals with both his hands. Waves of green runes started to circle around the chakram. The green chakram suddenly glowed in an intense green. Right after that, the whole arena was covered up by the green light.

Everyone started to hear a crackling sound.

They looked in greater detail and noticed that the stage was beginning to crack as if something was frantically trying to burst out of the floor. They took a deep breath in their shock. After a moment, they saw countless vines starting to come out of the ground as though they had been planted on the floor.

Those vines broke out of the ground after hearing the summons. The frostfire wolf was incredibly curious about the sudden occurrence, and it started to slow down in its attacks.

That had been exactly what Lesley had wanted. He then roared again as he formed seal after seal with his hands. Those vines were like tentacles, shooting right at the frostfire wolf. There were too many vines, so much so that they covered up the whole stage. Even if the frostfire wolf was quick, it could not avoid them.

The frostfire wolf leaped into the air in a panic, but the vines were not slow either. After a roar, countless vines wrapped around the frostfire wolf's limbs, restricting its speed.

After wrapping around those limbs, those vines seemed to act like parasites as they climbed upward. The frostfire wolf was not able to struggle out before it was covered up by the vines!

Chapter 3029

All of the vines on the ground were growing in the same direction. The vines that covered the whole stage seemed to have been greatly attracted to the wolf, frantically rushing toward the entangled beast.

After being wrapped up in one layer, even more vines started to pile on. In just a few moments, the vines had already covered up the frostfire wolf like a burrito. There were faint signs that the frostfire wolf was still constantly struggling within. Yet, the vines had covered it up too tightly.

The struggling merely caused the vines to shake a little. It was unable to break free at all.

The scene had quite a few people gaping and commenting on the situation.

“Lesley has this one in the bag for sure! Here I was, worrying that the beast would be too powerful and that this would be a difficult match. Now, it looks like I've underestimated Lesley. I can't believe he dealt with the beast so easily!”

“The beast seems a little weak. It’s much different from what I thought! Isn’t it going to use its natural skills?”

Those warriors who knew Lesley started to explain, “Oh, it’s trying, alright. Sadly, it can’t after being wrapped up like that by those vines.

“I’ve heard before that Lesley uses a middle earth-stage technique, the Sky Swallowing Vines. Those vines won’t just stop movement, but any counterattacks as well! It’s not a hundred-percent reliable and can’t restrict opponents that are too strong, but it’s obvious that the beast’s skills aren’t enough. Now that its movements have been sealed, it can’t use its skills either! It seems like we know the winner already!”

“So it means that we’ve won... It’s a little boring, but at least we got to see something interesting. I can’t believe the Sky Swallowing Vines skill is so strong. It covered up the whole stage. There’s no way to even avoid it...”

“That guy from before insisted on betting on the beast. What a stubborn guy he was. I thought that he knew a thing or two about the beast, but it looks like he was just reaching!”

“Lesley won. Even though it was a little too easy, we got the spirit crystals, so it’s all fine.”

At that moment, a few warriors had stood up from the spectator stands, heading to the betting area. The odds had been one to three. They would get returns of 150000 from their 50000 bets.

Thinking about the spirit crystals they could earn, they were incredibly impatient to get their spirit crystals.

Rudy stopped his frown as he carefully looked at Jackie. He was still incredibly confident in Jackie.

Earlier, Jackie had chosen the beast, so Rudy decisively followed suit, not even asking a single question. However, it seemed like Jackie had been mistaken. That was no big deal, of course-everyone made mistakes.

Rudy lightly touched Jackie’s arm. “It’s just fifty thousand spirit crystals, I’ll take it as a bet of passion.”

Jackie turned to look at Rudy and merely raised an eyebrow, not saying anything.

Right at that moment, the stage suddenly erupted in a red glow. Everyone heard a massive explosion as they looked over with widened eyes. A bomb seemed to have gone off in the area the frostfire wolf had been wrapped up in. It suddenly exploded, causing the vines to be shattered, flying everywhere.

Chapter 3030

Thankfully, the stage had been covered by a barrier, stopping the vines from shooting out to the spectators.

The next second, everyone saw a massive red-and-blue coated wolf walk out of the explosion. The wolf stood firmly on the ground as the vines around it had been blown away. It still had some green liquid on its body, but it did not affect the power it was exuding at all!

The scene made everyone's jaw drop. The frostfire wolf had actually managed to break free of the vines, turning the vines to dust!

The frostfire wolf shot out at Lesley again.

Lesley, at this moment, was too flabbergasted at the abrupt change of events. To show off his skills, he had held nothing back when he used the Sky Swallowing Vines earlier, but he never expected that the results would exceed any of his expectations. Even after all of that, he had failed to kill the beast. Instead, the beast had broken out of the trap.

Everyone held their breath in silence, all eyes wide open as no one was willing to miss out a single second.

Even if he was in a state of shock, Lesley quickly reacted. After all, he was still a chosen disciple of the Deer Pavilion. He had gone through a lot to reach his position. He had fought countless battles, so he was naturally able to react to any surprises.

He started to retreat a few steps, trying to distance himself from the wolf to plan his next action. The frostfire wolf let out an angry howl again as it opened its mouth, condensing energy within.

Everyone saw an icy blue glow and a scarlet red glow condense into two balls in the frostfire-wolf's mouth.

The two balls were incredibly hot, causing the surrounding air to burn. The frostfire wolf's eyes stared right at Lesley in the distance. Everyone watched as it unleashed the balls of fire!

The blue and red balls shot right at Lesley incredibly quickly as they rapidly fused. Even from far away, the power the balls contained could be felt.

Everyone widened their eyes at the sight, and a few of them started to breathe anxiously.

Lesley could obviously tell that he could very well lose if he got hit. Thus, he did his best to retreat, trying to create some distance as his hands constantly formed seal after seal. The vines on the ground rose again, trying to block the attack.

Alas, Lesley underestimated the speed of the attack, as well as how strong the attacks were. Any of the vines that even got close to the attack were turned to ash!

No matter how quickly Lesley was retreating, he could not avoid the attack. In just a few moments, the balls caught up to Lesley, and they hit him right after that. The icy blue ball and the scarlet red ball both had an incredibly explosive power that could not truly fuse. The attack exploded with a loud boom, completely blowing up where Lesley was. The scarlet and blue flames completely enveloped Lesley, and the force covered up the whole stage.

At that moment, the spectators were completely silent. They merely looked on in complete disbelief.

The victor was clear.

Everyone wondered if Lesley had been incapacitated from the explosion. Meanwhile, all of the disciples from the Deer Pavilion shot up as they looked at the stage with concern.
